HIGH SPEED RAIL ERA OPENS NEW FIELD TO STEEL

Chicago Area Plants Will Benefit.

MAKE CHICAGO THE FIRST CITY IN THE WORLD

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

High tensile, rustless alloy steels are expected to open new fields for the iron and steel industry, once the railroads start large scale activities to gear up America's rail carrier plant to the mile a minute or faster age of speed.

Steelmakers are helping solve the railroad problem, which is natural enough, due to the close interrelationship between the basic steel industry and transportation. During the depression the mills and laboratories have been working on high tensile steels for lightweight construction of rolling stock. This is true also of the aluminum alloy industry.

Prediction of a Steelmaker.

In Chicago steel circles yesterday there was much talk about a report just made by I. Lamont Hughes, president of the Carnegie Steel company, Pittsburgh.

"Speed of 100 miles per hour for passengers and 60 miles for freight will be the regular operating schedule for some railroads within a decade," predicted Mr. Hughes.

What large scale replacement of rail rolling stock with lighter cars made of the new alloys, steel, or aluminum would mean to Chicago's industry and employment may be gathered from two facts: In the Chicago area one-fifth of America's steel is produced, while in the Chicago district also lies the world's greatest railroad car building pool.

New Rails Will Be Needed.

Mr. Hughes pointed out that higher speeds will mean a change of tracks in mountainous districts, while rolling stock must be reduced in weight.

Some of the things being done in new designs were recounted in the Hughes paper. The mills, in their laboratories, have been experimenting with new and improved rails and rail fastenings.

Rails have been welded together in stretches of a half mile, both in America and abroad, and the results are being awaited. A process is under development of hardening the top of the rail at the joint to reduce wear and make riding easier. If successful it may take the click out of rail travel.

Besides the streamlined passenger trains, of light alloys, steel or aluminum, much design work is being done in steel alloy freight cars. The alloys offer the railroads a solution of the problem of reducing the nonpaying load.

Saving Weight Adds to Revenue.

One alloy freight car is on the market in which the dead load, or car weight, is down to one-fifth of the carrying load. It is figured that conversion of 5 tons of dead weight into live load capacity in a 50 ton open top freight car adds 8 per cent to its revenue yield.

The new enameled steel tank car for milk, beer, alcohol and other liquids is growing in use. Box cars for powdered materials, as sand, cement, and flour, are being unloaded by suction, avoiding dust.

A flat car designed for light freight is to be equipped with a demountable top of light metal, which converts it into a box car or a container car with removable compartments. This type of car can be unloaded in half the time taken to unload the present type car, and it weighs 10 per cent less.

Ready to Expand Deliveries.

By putting other loaded containers on the new car it is ready for a return trip without delay. This new design car is all in readiness for expansion of door to door delivery by the railroads with the use of trucks, to meet the competition of the highway trucks.

All forms of transportation seem interwoven with the basic industries, of steel and oil.

The high speed automobile and the modern airplane were made possible by the new heat resisting alloys, both steel and aluminum, and by the oil industry in producing higher anti-knock gasoline and better lubricants. In turn, the automobile industry has been the great mainstay of the steel industry in the dull years.

The present upward swing in steel output is ascribed to the automobile industry, which consumes normally about 18 per cent of America's steel.

CROSS-QUIZZING ENDS AFTER 3 DAYS ON STAND

Own Letters Used to Tangle Bruno.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The lengthy cross-examination of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, on trial for the murder of the Lindbergh baby, came to an end late today. The German ex-convict had been forced into admitting a number of additional contradictions, inaccuracies and falsehoods in his various statements regarding his connection with the crime.

For ten and one-half solid hours, since he first began firing questions at the defendant last Friday, Attorney General David T. Wilentz had raked Hauptmann with a verbal cannonading which produced many climaxes and had Hauptmann at a loss for answers on several occasions. But the man in the witness chair seemed to think he had triumphed when it was all over. He was smiling and looking around proudly.

He was still on the stand which he first ascended last Thursday when court adjourned until tomorrow. Defense Attorney Edward J. Reilly plans a detailed redirect examination in an attempt to remove the impression which the cross-examination may have left with the jury of eight men and four women.

Letters to Fisches Read.

An amazing new glimpse of Hauptmann's personality was furnished today when two letters he had written to relatives of Isador Fisch, the dead Jewish furrier with whom he was in partnership, were read to the jury. They were written in German and were translated from the witness stand by Prof. George Preist, head of the Department of German literature at Princeton university.

As he gropes for words in English, with his marked German accent, Hauptmann has given the impression of the uneducated carpenter, who, as he testified, had only a common school education and went to work at the age of 14. But the translations revealed him a man of some learning when he uses the German language, who, when he wrote of his friendship with Fisch, said his mind was "rich in memories" of his dead partner.

The state intends to point out that the notes demanding ransom for the son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh bore the same discrepancy—that crude sentences were mixed in with comparatively well chosen phrases.

Reveal Difference in Dates.

The letters also revealed that Hauptmann declared his business transactions with Fisch did not begin until the spring of 1933. His testimony at this trial has been that he acted as Fisch's broker and financial agent all through 1932, after the payment of the ransom.

Questioned on this point, Hauptmann said "it wasn't necessary" to tell the relatives about the 1932 transactions. He has testified that Fisch gave him $15,000 in cash with which to speculate in 1932, thus accounting for the large cash deposits credited to him in that year.

In the cross-examination today Wil-

SENATE POLL 7 SHORT OF TOTAL NEEDED TO WIN

20 Democrats Join Opponents.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on Back Page.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The world court was decisively beaten in the senate tonight.

By a vote of 52 to 36 the senate rejected a resolution providing for the entry of the United States into the world court, even with the qualifying reservations already adopted.

The pro-court forces were defeated by a margin of 7 votes. There were 88 senators present. To provide the two-thirds vote to approve a treaty 59 votes were required.

Reverse for Roosevelt.

The outcome of this battle which has raged for nearly three weeks constitutes a signal reverse for President Roosevelt, who in a special message to the senate urged the adoption of the world court resolution and strove unceasingly to round up the necessary number of votes for it.

It is the first defeat suffered by the President in the Seventy-fourth congress, despite the fact that the body is overwhelmingly Democratic. The senate alone is more than two-thirds Democratic.

Right up to the eve of the balloting in the senate the President put forth prodigious efforts to line up votes for the court. He summoned to the White House Senators David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.], Vic Donahey [Dem., O.], Peter G. Gerry [Dem., R. I.], and Bronson Cutting [Rad., N. M.], and sought to convert them to support of the court. The only one of these senators who voted for the court was Mr. Cutting.

20 Democrats Against It.

The resolution of adherence was beaten by the President's own party. Twenty Democrats joined 14 Republicans, 1 Farmer-Laborite and 1 Progressive in voting against the resolution. Voting for it were 43 Democrats and 9 Republicans.

The vote today kills the question of the United States joining the world court for the duration of this congress at least.

Realizing when the senate met today that he probably was defeated, the President beat a retreat from the position he took a few days ago and offered an eleventh hour concession to the opposition in the hope of winning over the necessary number of votes.

He agreed to accept the reservation proposed by Senator Hiram Johnson [Rad., Cal.] providing that no dispute between the United States and another nation could be submitted to the world court except "by agreement thereto through general or special treaties concluded between the parties in dispute."

Similar to Norris Rider.

A similar reservation was proposed last week by Senator Norris [Rad., Neb.]. His reservation provided that no dispute involving the United States could be submitted to the court except with the approval of two-thirds of the senate. The President rejected the Norris reservation on the grounds that it would constitute an invasion of the prerogatives of the executive to conduct foreign relations. The senate thereupon defeated the reservation.

In their desperate straits today, however, the administration brought forward the Johnson reservation although the treaties it provides for would require a two-thirds vote of the senate and would invade the executive's prerogatives, according to the President's reasoning, no less than the Norris reservation. Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], the majority leader, said that the Johnson reservation was acceptable to the President.

Hoped to Win Opponents.

By this surrender the administration hoped to win over Senators Norris and Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.] and perhaps several others. But it was no use. Senator Norris made a speech against the Johnson reservation, asserting that the "general treaties" provided furnish a loophole through which it would be possible to bind the United States to submit all disputes to the court.

The defeat of the court was accomplished in the last three or four days. When the resolution was brought before the senate a little more than a fortnight ago the opposition entertained no hope of mustering more than 15 votes against it. The administration forces began to crumble after the

Ufus' Aching Heart Leaves Jurors Cold

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

(Picture on Back Page.)

A verdict was reached last night in the great Ufus vs. Salami Herring breach of promise trial, but the jury quickly sealed it up, and it will not be made public until this morning when Judge Frank H. Hayes of Morris reads it in his Superior courtroom.

ROBT. ISAACSON.

However, the report about the county building is that it looks bad for Ufus, who is Robert Isaacson, 37 years old, a liquor jobber of 1246 Pratt boulevard. He probably won't get any of the $100,000 he asked.

Ufus said that Mrs. Mary Alexander Byrn, a wealthy widow living at the Edgewater Beach hotel whom he knew affectionately as Salami Herring, wooed him with such endearing terms as "Ufus," meaning sweetheart, and "tumblebug," meaning something similar, then jilted him.

Anguished Over "Salami Herring."

He sought a verdict ordering his former "Salami Herring" to pay him $100,000 as a politice for his injured heart. He declared he deserved this much for the "mental anguish" he suffered at being jilted. He asked nothing for the mental anguish of being called "Ufus" in the first place.

Murphy O. Tate, attorney for Ufus, in his final arguments pictured Ufus as a wronged man.

He explained how Mrs. Alexander had won his client's affections to such an extent that he called her "Salami Herring" and submitted without a murmur to being called "tumblebug."

A Dreamer; That's Ufus.

Mr. Kenneth B. Hawkins, the lawyer for Mrs. Alexander, was bitter about Ufus and announced that no red blooded man would have brought such a suit based on those "silly letters." He intimated that maybe even some of the jurors had received such letters.

He did not charge, however, that they had been called "Ufus."

Senate, House Back Airport on Lake Front

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Both houses of the general assembly voted unanimously today in favor of a downtown airport for Chicago, along the lines of an island landing field off the Lake Michigan shore.

Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski in the house and Senator Harold G. Ward in the senate, both Chicago Democrats, handled a joint resolution placing the legislature on record as favoring a lake front airport. It required no urging on their part to convince the members that the present field is inexpeditiously located.

All Members Back Plan.

First the house, then the senate, took approving action. Every member was in thorough accord with the resolution which took cognizance of Chicago's eminence as the air hub of the nation yet recognized the necessity for a landing field near the loop.

Epitomizing this necessity was a section of the preamble which, as it was read by House Clerk Harold J. Taylor, drew especial attention. Adamowski had written "that the present Chicago airport is located 12 miles southwest of the business section, requiring for a round trip automobile ride from the loop to the airport the same time as it takes to fly to St. Louis, Cleveland or Detroit, and the importance of the time lost motoring will be more keenly felt as trafic and speed of commercial airlines increase.

Favors Early Start.

"Chicago," the resolution continued, "if it will keep its place as the air trafic capital of the world, must reap full advantage from the unparalleled opportunity offered for its lake front, which is only a few hundred yards from the heart of the city."

The resolving clause put both houses on record "as strongly favoring construction, as soon as possible," of the downtown island flying field, "only ten minutes automobile ride from the banking and business area, for which the Chicago plan commission, bureau of air commerce experts, and war department engineers already have detailed plans."

There was no debate on the resolution, save the sponsors' explanations.

CHICAGOANS TO SEE PARTIAL ECLIPSE OF SUN SUNDAY MORNING

Weather permitting, Chicagoans will view their first eclipse of the sun this year next Sunday morning. It will be a partial eclipse, only 55 per cent of the sun being obscured at the height of the phenomenon.

Dr. Philip Fox, director of the Adler Planetarium, said yesterday that the eclipse will begin for Chicago at 9:06 a. m., and end at 11:20 a. m. The upper, or northern half of the sun, will be covered. To explain the eclipse, the planetarium has arranged a series of graphic exhibitions for the public which can be viewed Friday at 11 a. m., 3 and 8 p. m.; Saturday at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m., and Sunday at 3 and 4 p. m.

This is the year of the big crop of eclipses, five in all, the largest number in 130 years. Two of the sun, invisible this far north, occurred on Jan. 5 and 19. There will be others on July 30 and Dec. 25, both partial. Of the two lunar eclipses, one, on July 16, will be full. It will be visible throughout all the United States.

Poison Alcohol Is Fatal to 39 in New York

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Federal, state, and city authorities of central New York were investigating today the thirty-two deaths resulting from the drinking of what the victims had supposed to be liquor. These deaths had occurred in the last five days. In Brooklyn seven men died last Wednesday, but their deaths were easier to explain. A bottle had been found. It had contained denatured alcohol and was labeled "poison."

For the deaths outside the Greater New York area the explanation still was sought. Those deaths have reached a total of thirty-two. There were fourteen in Gloversville, sixteen in Utica, one in Rome, and one in another town. The symptoms of the unknowing victims were the same.

Blindness Precedes Death.

All of the victims suffered from convulsions and died in intense pain. They were first dazed, seized with cramps, and then became blind. At Utica, which is being searched by ten United States agents, the alcohol is believed to have been sold at several retail places. In Albany the state alcoholic beverage control board opened an investigation to find out if the "smoke" was sold in licensed stores. An inspector has been sent to Gloversville, the scene of the most deaths.

A police raid on the home of Mrs. Mary Derrico of Gloversville revealed eleven bottles, the contents of which have been turned over to chemists to be analyzed. Shortly after this raid Willard L. Best, assistant district attorney of Fulton county, announced: "We believe we have the flow of poison liquor stopped for the time being. There may be arrests within a short time."

Find Denatured Alcohol.

In Utica John Archdeacon was being held for questioning when police were said to have acted on a dying woman's words. Another was arrested and held in $7,500 bail on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

Police were called by a man who said he had found his wife dead in bed beside him. He mumbled, "I drank some alcohol," and died a few minutes later.

A man arrested as a seller of poison liquor died while he was being questioned by Utica police. Like many of the other victims he was treated at a hospital and thought to be recovering when he collapsed.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

speech of Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], who showed that the court in the Austro-German customs union case had voted the prejudices of the respective European nations involved.

Avalanche of Telegrams.

Then over the last week-end a deluge of radio speeches on both sides was loosed and senators found themselves buried beneath an avalanche of 40,000 telegrams from constituents running 3 to 1 against the court.

In an irascible speech that closed the debate tonight Senator Robinson showed he knew he was beaten.

"There has been a vast amount of unfair, unjust, and unreasonable propaganda carried on against this measure outside of the senate," he said.

"There have been appeals to send telegrams to senators and 40,000 have been received. Most of them were prompted by prejudices and were not founded on facts."

"Do you refer to your own speech last night?" impishly asked Senator Huey Long [Dem., La.].

"Neither to mine nor to your repeated speeches," snapped Robinson. "I doubt mine or yours had any effect. I referred particularly to Father Coughlin, who let his imagination run riot. He impugned the intelligence of senators. He seemed to appeal from ignorant to intelligent senators. I wonder if he wasn't appealing from Philip Drunk to Philip Sober—— "

Cites Mrs. Roosevelt's Speech.

"I wonder if Mrs. Roosevelt's radio speech didn't offset Father Coughlin's," interjected the blind senator, Thomas D. Schall [Rep., Minn.].

"I am not going to yield to the senator to make one of his characteristic attacks on the President," Robinson angrily retorted.

Then Robinson concluded with quotations to demonstrate that the idea of a world court originated with William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. But it was no use.

In addition to the Johnson reservation the only reservation adopted was that by Senator Vandenberg providing that the United States in adhering does not relinquish the Monroe Doctrin or its traditional policy against entanglement in European affairs.

Gore Reservation Defeated.

The last reservation defeated was one by Senator Thomas P. Gore [Dem., Okla.] providing that the adherence of the United States should not be effective so long as member nations of the court are in arrears in payment of their war debts to America. It was beaten 26 to 57.

Senator Thomas made the surprise move on the part of the administration after the senate had rejected without a record vote a resolution introduced by Senator Huey P. Long [Dem., La.] whereby the world court would have to respect all awards made by Presidents of the United States arbitration. This referred to the 1878 award by President Hayes of the presently disputed Chaco territory to Paraguay. Long had delivered a tirade against the Standard Oil company, which he accused of financing Bolivia in a war to wrest control of the land for pipe lines.

When Senator Thomas arose and announced his intention of speaking on the Johnson reservation, Senator Johnson immediately interrupted.

"I do not offer that resolution and I want it to be understood whence it comes," he declared.

"Then I will offer it," Thomas replied.

One of Original Reservations.

Senator Thomas, undertaking to explain his sponsorship of the so-called Johnson reservation in view of his vote last week against the Norris proposal, said he made the point at that time that the senate had already voted adherence [in 1926] with five reservations.

"This is one of the reservations," he added. "Not to present it at this time would be inconsistent with the stand taken by the United States in 1926."

Senator Long wanted to know whether the President hadn't expressed his disapproval of the reservation, apparently having reference to the provisions of the Norris amendment, but Senator Thomas said he didn't know.

"I don't think the President would oppose it," Thomas declared. "It is the same as the reservation we voted in 1926."

"Since the senator is going back to 1926," asked Senator Borah, "I should like to know why he voted against the amendment proposed by the senator from Pennsylvania [Davis]. It changed the phrase 'over an objection by' to 'without the consent of' and would have prohibited the entertainment of advisory opinions affecting the United States without the affirmative consent of the United States. It restored the identical language of 1926, but the senator was opposed to it."

Robinson Accepts Amendment.

Before Senator Borah received an answer Majority Leader Robinson was on the floor expressing his willingness to accept the Thomas reservation and attempting to explain his reason for doing so.

"I have no objection to this reservation," he said. "It is identical with one adopted in 1926. The distinction between it and the Norris reservation is this: The Norris reservation required a two-thirds vote of the senate in every case to be presented to the court, while under this reservation we could enter into general treaties for the reference of all cases of a particular class. Then it won't be necessary to come to the senate on every occasion.

"It is not my understanding that the President is opposed to this reservation. He did oppose the reservation which required every case to come before the senate."

Senator Johnson then asked the majority leader why the reservation in question had not been acceptable in the foreign relations committee.

Argue Committee Stand.

"The vote against it was 12 to 9, and the senator from Arkansas said that under no circumstances could he permit that kind of a reservation to be adopted," Johnson declared.

"No, no, I didn't say that," said Robinson, visibly embarrassed. "I did, however, object to it. About all you can say is that I was against the reservation in the committee and the senator from California is now against it in the senate."

Johnson then arose and spoke with vehemence on his consistent record with respect to the main issue, concluding his remarks with an accusation that the administration had resorted to strategy in an effort to "ensnare some votes and rescue a losing cause.

"I have never altered in any form my attitude on this pernicious instrument from abroad," he declared. "It was asserted on this floor and in the press of the nation that the President considered the Norris reservation an unconstitutional invasion of his executive prerogatives. When the Norris reservation was up those of us who thought we might do something to lessen the peril of the United States voted for it. The fact that this change has been made by the other side—I leave it to you to guess the obvious reason.

Calls It Snare for Votes.

"The reason is for the purpose of persuading some one to change his vote. Last week they gave us reasons why they were opposed to the Norris reservation and today they introduce this reservation of a similar nature. Who's going to be fooled by this sort of strategy? I don't propose that a resolution that was originally written here in good faith shall be used here for such a purpose. It is a trap set for the purpose of ensnaring votes, a desperate stratagem designed to rescue a losing cause."

Senator Borah proposed an amendment to the Thomas reservation whereby American adherence would be "upon the condition and clear understanding" was substituted for "condition." Borah demanded a roll call, and his amendment was voted down 44 to 40.

Senator Norris then proposed an amendment to the phrase "general or special treaties," striking out the words "general or." This would have limited the court's jurisdiction in cases affecting the United States to such questions as the senate, by a two-thirds vote, had approved in confirming special treaties. The effect would have been the same as the original Norris amendment.

Norris Assails Tactics.

"I would have voted for the general resolution of adherence had my reservation been accepted," Senator Norris declared. "But I am opposed to intrusting the power to make such references, without consent of the senate, to future Presidents whom we do not know. Such power is too great to be delegated to any one.

"Senator Robinson would have been opposed to this reservation without any amendments the other day. Now he's for it. It may be that he'll change his mind again and be for my amendment in a day or two."

Robinson objected to the Norris amendment, saying it would put the senate in the same position as if the Norris reservation had been passed. Senator Johnson resumed the floor again and taunted the wavering senators for their lack of independence.

"Senators are human beings with heads upon their shoulders which God put there to be something besides ornaments," he said. "Now we know where we stand, and, knowing, let us stand up like men. Let those who are for it be for it, and those who are against it be against it."

Amendment Voted Down.

Senator Johnson's admonition apparently had little effect, for the Roosevelt-Robinson forces voted down the Norris amendment, 48 to 39.

The Thomas reservation was then ready for a vote, without amendments; Huey Long came forward with another one, which Senator Norris had declined to incorporate in his own.

This amendment, which would have made the provisions of the reservation applicable to advisory opinions of the court, was killed without a record vote. The Thomas reservation was then adopted also without a roll call. Senator Gore [Dem., Okla.] presented his reservation whereby adherence of the United States would not become effective so long as any member of the court was in arrears of six months on obligations to this country.

Senator Gore, declaring that the United States could avail itself of the privileges afforded by the court without joining, recalled Senator Robinson's remark that this was "a sponger argument."

"The senator says we should be enjoying the benefits of the court's justice without paying our share of its expenses," said Senator Gore. "I would be willing to endow the court. I would give it a billion dollars—in the form of an order on the defaulting war debtors across the ocean."

LOUISIANA EYES HUEY, BUT SITS IN SUN UNAROUSED

Only a Few Individuals Fight His Rule.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Soldiers may fall in Louisiana, but New Orleans sits on the bank of her mighty river, taking the warm air from the tropics in queenly indifference. Perhaps its Latin heritage, its history of wars and other flags written into its old streets and forts have made it immune to modern political upheavals.

There is a mild, unexcited sort of speculation as to what Huey Long will do to them next. No one pretends to know. They await his return from Washington this week with a sort of fatalistic attitude. If there is a rebellion it is more likely to come from some of the upcountry parishes, where the old planter type of manhood survives. The labor uprising in Baton Rouge has been tapped on the head and is dying, with the Square Deal leaders in flight to Washington or parts unknown.

May Rewrite Constitution.

The most exciting political speculation today is that Huey Long is going to call his puppet legislature into a constitutional convention and rewrite the state organic law to his own liking, seeing to it that all his remaining political enemies are gerrymandered or otherwise legislated out of office, and that there are several attractive propositions in it for the poor people, shuffling the deck of taxation so that the poor will pay less and the rich more and more.

This may all be true. It probably is. No one has any notion that Senator Long cares a whoop for the constitution when it comes to measures dear to his own heart. No one knows just what will occur to him along this line. That is all that is necessary to start action.

The talk of dictatorship falls rather flat after a year or two of it. The opposition has not been able to muster up a strong leader or a respectable program as an alternative attraction.

Walmsley in Washington.

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, whose office has been made progressively more and more uncomfortable by Senator Long, has gone to Washington to see if he can get some money for the city. Francis Williams, chairman of the Jackson Democrat club, has indited a long letter to President Roosevelt asking him to intercede in Louisiana to restore a republican form of government here. The way things are now one must belong to the Long faction or keep quiet. There are many ways to crack down on troublemakers, particularly lawyers.

"That we cannot solve our problems by ourselves will be clear to you," Mr. Williams writes the President. "We do not want to bring about civil war in this state and we hope it will not be necessary to recreate those secret organizations that had to be created in the old south to free our people from the curse of those other carpetbaggers and scalawags of 60 and 70 years ago.

"But if redress is impossible within legal and orderly lines within Louisiana, as we have shown, and the government at Washington will not help us there will be nothing left for us to do but to follow the example of our fathers and grandfathers and settle our differences with the blood of braver men than the cowardly senator from Louisiana. We sincerely trust that you will receive this appeal of an oppressed people most sympathetically."

Plot Story Given Credence.

James L. Mehaffey, chairman of the speakers' committee of the Square Deal association, who fled to Mississippi after the troops arrived in Baton Rouge, is also on the way to Washington with an appeal to the President.

Some credence is given here to the story of the plot to kill Senator Long. It will suffice to give him a new club against the political leaders who oppose him in the last anti-Long strong-hold in the state. That the legislature will take action driving these people out of office, with no further reference to the courts or criminal prosecution, is considered highly probable.

It is reported that in addition to sweeping the Baton Rouge and adjoining parishes into his bag, the senator has grown impatient with the whole situation and has decided to deal with it in a wholesale manner, making a new constitution which would take over the governments of Alexandria, Shreveport, and other cities, and legislating out of office all officials, from deputy sheriffs to Supreme court justices, who have fallen under the Long displeasure. It is even debated whether Long will take the trouble to submit this to the people for ratification.

Rushed Through Legislature.

In the last special session of the legislature important amendments were put through which the legislators never had a chance to read before they were sent to the governor's desk.

The present constitution was written by a convention called under the late Gov. John M. Parker in 1921. During the regular session of 1930, in Long's second administration as governor, there was a blocked movement to call a new convention in view of the many amendments needed to put through Long's $100,000,000 bond issue program. At that time, however, Long could not get two-thirds of the senate.

Now, however, there is little doubt that he could do this.

BABY BOY WAITS IN ORPHAN HOME FOR HIS MOTHER

A baby boy, 4½ months old, was being cared for in St. Vincent's orphanage yesterday. He was found clad in a worn cotton nightgown and ragged blanket in the vestibule of 1510 North Harding avenue by Paul Grutmacher, a tenant, when he answered his doorbell. A note pinned to the baby's nightie read:

"The baby's name is Jerry Meyers, born Sept. 15, 1934. Please take him to St. Vincent's orphanage and when I find work I will call for him at once. Please take care of him. God bless you."

Miss Bernadine Healy, social service worker for the home, hopes Jerry's mother will reconsider her decision and come to the home. The baby, weighing 13 pounds, evidently has been well cared for.

MESSENGER, 65, IS ABSOLVED IN $1,456,000 THEFT

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Acting Captain Thomas Murray of the Wall street district detectives announced tonight that George Blossfield, 65 year old messenger of the Bank of Manhattan, has been absolved of suspicion in the disappearance of $1,456,000 in bonds yesterday.

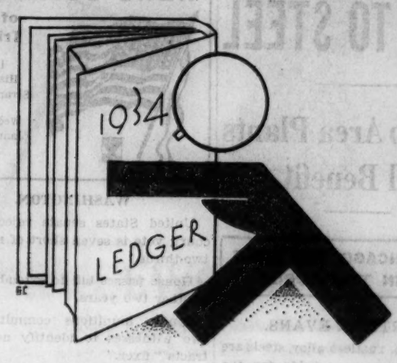

Blossfield was questioned at length today, along with nearly two score messenger boys, runners, and guards employed by the Bank of Manhattan.

"We have absolved Blossfield from any connection with the crime," Murray said.

Use of the word "crime" lent emphasis to the belief the police were pursuing the theory the bonds were stolen by a so-called "specialist" in this kind of theft.

KILL THAT COLD

Give It No Chance to Survive Thru the Use of Half-way Measures!

Treat a cold to kill it, not to coddle it!

Hit a cold "where it lives"—in the system! That means to take an internal treatment.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is the treatment you want.

First of all, it is a cold tablet, made expressly for colds.

Second, it is internal medication and of fourfold effect.

Here's what it does:

First, it opens the bowels, an advisable step in the treatment of a cold.

Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

That's the treatment a cold calls for and anything less may be exposing you to serious complications.

Adopt the course of wisdom. When a cold threatens, waste no time with makeshift remedies, but go at once to your druggist for a package of Bromo Quinine. Begin taking the tablets immediately, two at a time, every four hours.

Used in time, Bromo Quinine tablets will stop a cold in 24 hours and that's the speed of action you want.

Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. Every drug store sells Bromo Quinine at small cost. Be sure you get what you ask for.

HOUSE PASSES NEW BILL ON RFC; EXTENDS WORK

Two More Years Added to Functioning.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The house tonight passed the bill extending the Federal Reconstruction Finance corporation for another two years. With leaders of both parties agreed that the RFC had done some good work, the measure was adopted without a record vote.

Since the bill, passed last week by the senate, differs from the house bill, the difference will be adjusted in conference.

Only Minor Changes Made.

Only minor amendments from the floor were adopted as Representative Henry B. Steagall [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the banking and currency committee, and other Democratic leaders pushed the bill through to passage.

Representative A. J. Sabath [Dem., Ill.] obtained authority for RFC loans to real estate bondholders and Representative James G. Scrugham [Dem., Nev.] succeeded in amending the bill to permit loans to mine owners for the purpose of developing lodes, veins, ledges, or placer deposits.

As the bill was thrown out on the floor today in amended form it was disclosed that the New Deal had had a hand in its writing.

Results of New Deal.

This was seen in a provision that would permit the RFC to make loans up to 300 millions to finance companies and other credit institutions, now or hereafter established, engaged in financing or prepared to finance the sale of electrical, plumbing or air conditioning appliances or equipment.

The new bill also liberalized the requirements for industries that wish to obtain loans from the RFC. This feature was praised by Minority Leader Bertrand Snell.

"For once I am glad to see an American congress unanimous for the RFC and its head, Jesse Jones," said Snell. "I would be in favor of granting loans up to a billion dollars to private industry, for that would go further toward recovery than any other legislation."

RFC Hoover's Idea. Fish Recalls.

Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. [Rep., N. Y.] gained the floor "to remind the Democratic side" that the RFC act was recommended by President Hoover as a means of reviving industry.

"The RFC has accomplished more than all the experiments and panaceas of the 'brain trust' combined to stimulate business," Fish asserted. "That agency saved banks, railroads and insurance companies from failure."

"There was not a word in the original act about loans to industry," retorted Representative Henry B. Stea- [Dem., Ala.].

"If I wanted to talk more along this line," Fish replied, "I would point out that there are a million and a half more unemployed now than a year ago. Incidentally Mr. Jones, a Texas Democrat, was appointed by a Republican to head the RFC."

Chairman Jones, sitting up in the galleries, apparently was unmoved by the praise or the criticism that followed. Representative Arthur P. Lamneck [Dem., Ohio] charged that Jones was not interested in granting loans to private industry and that of the 300 millions authorized for that purpose by the last congress only 6 millions has been utilized

Several congressmen leaped to their feet in Jones' defense to say that congress had made the law too rigid and Jones was not to be blamed.

Talks About Age Pensions.

Before the debate started the house listened amid much laughter and bickering to a speech for the Townsend old age pension revolving fund plan by Representative John H. Hoeppel [Dem., Cal.]. Hoeppel proposed that a government monopoly be created of the liquor business and that banking be socialized in order to provide the 20 billions needed annually for the $200 a month pensions for persons 60 years of age or over.

Automobile Hits Train, 14 Cars Topple Into Creek

Le Mars, Ia., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Fourteen cars of a special Northwestern freight train late today were toppled into a creek off a tresle near Wren, 12 miles south of here, when a truck driven by Henry Wehrkamp and Stanley June crashed into the third car from the engine. Wehrkamp suffered a broken collar bone and scalp wounds, and it was believed both his ankles were broken. June suffered a broken collar bone.

12 'CROWN JEWELS' BOUGHT BY WIDOW ARE MERE GLASS

Mrs. Elizabeth Wolkenstein, 63 years old, 7611 Essex avenue, a widow, purchased twelve "Russian crown jewels" for $500 yesterday morning. In addition, she gave her "partner" in the enterprise two rings, worth $465, as security.

Her skeptical children insisted that Mrs. Wolkenstein open her strong box when they learned of the purchase in the afternoon. Instead of diamonds the vault was found to contain pieces of pop bottle glass. The Wolkensteins reported the swindle to the Grand Crossing police.

Mrs. Wolkenstein said she met a stranger near her home who convinced her that he came from Russia, her native land. He showed her a Russian coin, "worth $5," and a confederate, who posed as a passing casual stranger, immediately purchased it. The Russian "emigre" then offered to sell the twelve crown jewels.

Mrs. Wolkenstein and the second stranger decided to go into partnership and buy the lot for $1,000 if the stones were properly appraised. A second confederate then appeared, posing as an appraiser of diamonds. Each was easily worth $500, he said. Mrs. Wolkenstein withdrew her $500 from the bank and the purchase was made. Her partner allowed her to retain all the stones for "safe keeping," but insisted on her two rings as a pledge of good faith.

DEPUTY SHERIF SHOT BY WOMAN DIES OF WOUND

After the shooting, which occurred early Monday, Miss Schroeder called police. The authorities stated that evidence uncovered indicated the girl had shot Libby with his own gun after he had told her he was "through" and ordered her from the place.

She is in custody in the women's quarters at the Racine avenue police station, and was not to be told of Libby's death until later today.

Farm Equipment Strike Continues in South Bend

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The strike of 1,500 employés of the Oliver Farm Equipment company continued today. In a meeting at union headquarters the strikers voted to "let the company come to us," A. K. McCord, assistant secretary of the plant, said "We have not thought of attempting to break the strike. We have had no communication with the union since the walkout Monday."

CADET AT CULVER SHOT TO DEATH ON INDOOR RIFLE RANGE

Culver, Ind., Jan. 29.—(AP)—John W. Thomas, 16 year old Culver Military academy student, was shot and killed this afternoon on an indoor rifle range at the academy where some thirty boys were engaging in recreational shooting.

How young Thomas, sitting several feet behind the line from which others were firing, happened to be struck had not been determined tonight. Officials of the academy, who opened an investigation immediately, said all usual precautions against accident had been observed, and that testimony obtained was conflicting in certain respects.

One theory under investigation was whether a bullet might have ricocheted from a target.

Other cadets on the range at the time said Thomas had completed a turn on the firing line and was sitting on a bench examining his target for hits when he toppled over.

The shooting being done by the students was not part of their academy course, but an instructor was on duty in the range at the time.

PLUCKY GIRL, 18, BATTLES, HOLDS PURSE SNATCHER

Miss Forence Philbin, 18 years old, of 2116 Bissell street, had only $1.50 in her purse last night when she was stopped by a thief on the street near her home, but she didn't want to lose that.

As he seized the purse she grabbed him, dug her nails into his face, hung on tightly and screamed. The commotion caused a call to police and the squad of Sergt. John O'Malley responded.

The thief was escaping when they approached, but was soon stopped. At the Hudson avenue station he identified himself as Joseph Rennon, 29 years old, of 2023 Sheffield avenue.

Hoover Relative Is Out as West Branch Postmaster

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—(AP)—A relative of former President Herbert Hoover is out as postmaster at West Branch, Ia. The term of Otho Voder, the relative, expired yesterday.

Representative Eicher [Dem., Ia.] recommended the appointment of Lewis R. Kinsey as acting postmaster until the list of eligibles is completed.

HUNGER OF BABY OPENS DOOR FOR MOTHER IN JAIL

Judge Says Infant Should Not Be Punished.

A hunger strike by Baby Howard Robinson, 9 weeks old, won yesterday the release of his mother, Mrs. Mary Robinson, 29 years old, 1035 Diversey parkway, from the county jail.

After she pleaded guilty of stealing two hats from an Evanston milliner, Mrs. Robinson was sentenced on Monday by Judge James Corcoran of the Evanston Municipal court to 30 days in jail and a fine of $100.

Yesterday Dr. Porter W. Summers, 1521 Fullerton avenue, filed an affidavit that the health of both Howard and his mother depended on their immediate reunion. The baby, he said, had eaten nothing after his mother left.

The Sherif Does His Duty.

Dr. Summers pointed out also that Mrs. Robinson was ill in the jail because of the separation.

Sherif Toman ruled that Howard could not come into the jail because there was no mittimus for the baby. Neither could Mrs. Robinson leave, the sherif held, because he had a mittimus for her detention.

At this point Attorney Harold T. Halfpenny appeared before Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Criminal court and sought a writ of habeas corpus to free Mrs. Robinson.

Sense Routs Technicalities.

"I do not know whether any constitutional rights have been violated here," Judge Sullivan said, "but the situation is certainly a violation of common sense. The baby did not commit a larceny and I see no reason to let him die on technical grounds."

The judge continued the hearing on the writ until April 1 and released Mrs. Robinson on her own bond with the admonition to "go home and feed your baby." She thanked him and late yesterday Howard was reported highly satisfied with the arrangement.

KING AND EX-KING MEET FIRST TIME AND GO SLIDING

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Crown Prince Michael of Rumania—who at 13 is already an ex-king—came calling on his royal first cousin, 11 year old King Peter II. of Jugo-Slavia, today. The Jugo-Slav capital being deeply blanketed in snow, the two got out their skis and slid gleefully down the long slopes of the palace grounds.

Later the royal cousins, who met today for the first time, tried out the tools in young Peter's workshop, and tomorrow they plan to try more exciting sliding.

It was the first royal visit King Peter has received since the assassination of his father, King Alexander, at Marseilles last Oct. 9 brought him to the throne.

King Peter's mother, Dowager Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia, is the sister of King Carol, king of Rumania. Their grandmother is Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania.

MRS. AL SMITH IN HOSPITAL; AN ARM BROKEN

Mrs. Smith is suffering from what was ascribed as "a fracture of the surgical neck of the humerus" of the right upper arm.

According to Dr. George M. Dawson, who, with Dr. R. O. Cooley, is attending Mrs. Smith, the fracture is described as "serious."

Report Kerner Gaining Rapidly in Hospital

Attorney General Otto Kerner, who underwent an operation for the removal of kidney stones a week ago at the West Suburban hospital, was reported as "recovering rapidly" at the hospital last night. It is expected he will be able to leave the hospital by the first of next week.

Senate Approves Elimination of March 5 Registration Here

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Before entering into a debate on the world court today, the senate passed five bills. Among them was the measure, sponsored by Mayor Kelly and the city council, eliminating the March 5 intermediate registration, thus saving Chicago taxpayers $422,000. Registrations also were eliminated in four suburbs, saving them a total of $18,918.

The senate also gave its approval to a bill calling for the appointment of a commission consisting of five members of each house and ten laymen appointed by the governor to study Illinois' school problems and to recommend legislation. The bill appropriates $15,000 for the expenses of the commission.

Asks Court Secretary.

Two of the other bills provide for the retention of a secretary to the Chicago Supreme court district, which was necessary due to a vacancy in the justiceship from that district, and authorize public officials who are custodians of public funds to enter into reorganization plans of closed banks in which public funds were deposited. The fifth bill applied to a local matter in Vermilion county.

In a resolution that was adopted, the senate paid tribute to the exploits of Amelia Earhart, who had attended high school in Chicago, extending to her congratulations on her past successes and wishing her future greatness.

Among the new bills introduced in the senate were the following:

John M. Lee [Dem., Chicago.]—Limits issuance of injunctions in labor disputes.

Lee—Provides that no member or officer of any association participating in a labor dispute, or the association itself, shall be held liable for unlawful acts of individual officers, members or agents except on proof of actual participation.

Would Tax "Foreign" Trucks.

Frank J. Huckin [Dem., Chicago.]—Requires motor trucks from other states to pay fees if operating over regular routes and making more than one trip into Illinois during the year.

Martin L. Lehmann [Dem., Pekin]—Permits school boards to compromise claims involved in deposits in closed banks.

Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet.]—Permits special additional levy by sanitary districts, not to exceed one-half of 1 per cent of property valuation, to pay final judgments.

Barr—Required registration of warm air furnace contractors by state department of registration and education.

The senate decided not to consider action on resolution to memorialize the United States senate on the world court after word was received of the federal chamber's vote against American adherence.

WARNED; FIND BOMB AT DOOR OF CONTRACTOR

Ten sticks of dynamite, bound together with adhesive tape and attached to a 10 foot fuse, were found yesterday morning near the front door of James P. Madsen, an excavating contractor, at 1730 79th court, Elmwood Park. Mrs. Madsen was alone in the house. Her 4 year old son, Richard, was playing in the back yard, and her 11 year old son, James Jr., was at school.

An anonymous caller telephoned Mrs. Madsen with the warning not to let her children outside as a "dangerous package" was on the front lawn. Seeing a paper shopping bag near her doorstep, Mrs. Madsen summoned Police Captain Walter Smith, who opened the package and found the bomb. Its fuse had been lighted, but contact with the damp ground extinguished it.

Mrs. Madsen told of noticing a mysterious automobile in front of her home late Monday night and of seeing a man in it light three matches, before the car drove away. Madsen, who left home early in the morning, told Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police that last fall he had severed connections with an excavating company which had labor trouble. In his own business, Madsen said there was no trouble.

DEVINE NAMES ILLINOIS HOUSE STEERING GROUP

Others Are Selected; Downstate Leads.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Speaker Devine announced the chairmen of the 37 house committees tonight. Six additional committees were added to the 31 functioning last session—the additions being in recognition of the strong Democratic majority.

There are 84 Democrats in the house. It would have been impossible to give half—much less all—a committee, but some of the old timers were honored by chairmanships of a group of their own.

Really Steering Committee.

Most important of the additions was the executive committee, over which F. W. Lewis of Robinson will preside. It will consider all Horner administration measures and all resolutions. It will, in fact, be a steering committee, probably exercising considerable influence with its report on bills.

Other New Committees.

Liquor regulation—Matt Franz, Chicago.
Public welfare—Raymond T. O'Keefe, Chicago.
Parks and playgrounds—Charles Cola, Chicago.
Railroads and aviation—P. J. Breen, Paris.

Downstaters packed the chairmanships, Chicagoans being given 16 to 21 for the downstaters. The senatorial apportionment committee, which would consider any bill bearing on a more equal representation for Chicago, is headed by Louie E. Lewis of Christopher.

Other chairmen are:

Agriculture—Frank B. Wilson, Woosung.
Appropriations—James P. Boyle, Chicago.
Banks and banking—Schaefer O'Neill, Alton.
Charities and correction—George J. Bauer, Effingham.
Civil service—William J. Gormley, Chicago.
Congressional apportionment—George Garry Noonan, Chicago.
Contingent expense—Lawrence F. Arnold, Newton.
Education—W. O. Edwards, Danville.
Efficiency and economy—James T. Burns, Kankakee.
Elections—M. F. Hennebry, Wilmington.
Farm drainage—Charles D. Franz, Freeport.
Industrial affairs—Joseph L. Rategan, Chicago.
Insurance—George A. Fitzgerald, Chicago.
Judicial apportionment—Mason S. Sullivan, Chicago.
Judicial department and uniform laws—Benjamin S. Adamowski, Chicago.
Judiciary—Thomas P. Sinnett, Rock Island.
License and miscellany—William W. Powers, Chicago.
Military affairs—Pierce L. Shannon, Chicago.
Municipalities—H. V. Teel, Rushville.
Motor vehicles and trafic regulation—John R. McSweeney, Chicago.
Public utilities and transportation—Frank Ryan, Chicago.
Revenue—Thomas A. Bolger, McHenry.
Roads and bridges—A. B. Lager, Carlyle.
Rules—Arthur Roe.
Educational institutions—Joseph H. Davis, Murphysboro.
Charitable institutions—Frank A. Stewart, Girard.
Penal institutions—John F. Petit, Batavia.
Waterways—Charles H. Weber, Chicago.

One committee functioning last session was split. The banks and banking and building and loan associations committee was divided to make two. The committee on judicial department and practice was combined with that on uniform laws.

LEROY WOODLAND ELECTED AUDITOR OF PARK DISTRICT

LeRoy Woodland was elected auditor for the Chicago park district at the meeting of the park commissioners yesterday. Commissioner Martin H. Kennelly has been acting as auditor. Mr. Woodland was born in Chicago in 1885, and he graduated from the Cornell engineering school in 1906. For ten years he was a partner in William L. Ross & Co., an investment company, and later was an appraiser for the federal reserve bank. He lives at 336 Leicester road, Kenilworth, with his wife, son and daughter.

Jugo-Slavia Allows 1,000 to Return from Hungary

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 29.—(AP)—About 1,000 of the Hungarians expelled last December as a reprisal following the assassination of King Alexander have been permitted to return to Jugo-Slavia, the foreign office revealed today. Preference, it was stated, is given to those who married Jugo-Slav girls, own Jugo-Slav property or served in the army.

350,000 Belgian Idle Plead with Young King to Aid Them

BY ANN SOMERS HOUSE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Jan. 29.—"Your majesty, try to imagine how you would feel if your kids had no food, shoes, or warm clothing."

King Leopold III, 32 year old successor to King Albert of the Belgians, and father of three youngsters, one girl and two boys, confronted with the above problem today by Joe Iruce, an unemployed weaver of Ghent, who is also the father of three children.

Receives Delegation of Idle.

An unprecedented heart to heart talk between the king and five unemployed fathers representing the kingdom's 350,000 unemployed took place in the royal palace here. The monarch waived royal aloofness, traditions and court ceremonial, in letting the delegation personally present him with a petition "addressed by distressed fathers to the royal father."

Drastic reductions in unemployment doles and old age pensions announced for early February by the recently appointed "bankers' government"—which placed the nation's purse strings in the hands of three powerful bankers—brought the laboring masses of the little kingdom into a seething uproar. A general strike looms on the horizon unless the "famine decrees" are withdrawn.

King Takes Charge in Crisis.

Belgium's black country, the coal region about Mons and Charleroi, is close to another outburst such as took place in the summer of 1932, when only armed forces and bloodshed could subdue the growing revolt.

King Leopold is aware that the country is on the verge of tragedy and is expected to take matters in hand. His familiar talk with the unemployed today was only the initial step of the new turn in Belgium's affairs.

The Belgian premier, George Theunis, who attended the king's talk with the unemployed delegates, announced shortly after the audience that he will make an important statement on the unemployment problem to parliament tomorrow. It is predicted that the reduction in doles and pensions will be postponed.

Picture Misery of People.

"You are the father of a family, your majesty," said the spokesman. "Imagine the suffering and sorrow you would feel if those you love suffered hunger and were condemned to permanent misery. Anemia is mowing down workers' families. Tuberculosis is annihilating our ranks.

"Your majesty, our children mean to us what yours mean to you. We respectfully beg you to use all your powers to have the government give up the present policy and fight misery energetically rather than generalize and aggravate it.

Want Work, Not Dole.

"We do not want precarious doles, which are more and more like degrading charity. We want work, majesty, to give us daily bread, dignity, independence, and happy homes."

Simultaneously with the unemployed workers' visit to the king, the Belgian Labor party staged a massmeeting. Police swept through the milling crowd to prevent communist counter-manifestations. One person was seriously injured in the ensuing brawls and one girl communist was arrested.

JOBLESS INSURANCE SCHEME GOES BEFORE CANADIAN COMMONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 29.—Prime Minister Bennett tonight introduced in the house of commons his unemployment insurance scheme, affecting 1,500,000 gainfully employed Canadians, such as mechanics and factory workers, but excluding primary producers, such as farmers, fishermen, and lumbermen, and "white collar" classes, such as bank and insurance clerks.

The scheme is compulsory and provides for payments of 25 cents a week each by employers and employés and a government contribution of 10 cents a week for each employed person. The government also assumes administration costs.

Benefits to be derived are $6 a week for single men and $5.10 a week for single women who have paid into the fund for forty weeks. Ninety cents weekly will be paid for each dependent child. Married men with five children will thus receive $10.50 a week. Workers will be entitled to benefits for 78 days plus 1 day for every week's contribution made in the preceding five years.

The scheme is to be administered by a federal commission of three, which is also to set up an employment service with regional offices throughout Canada.

MEXICO REVEALS $300,000 FUND TO FINANCE REBELS

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Thirteen more persons were arrested today on charges of planning a revolutionary movement which the department of war revealed was backed by a $300,000 fund.

Newly discovered documents showed this amount was to be used to buy arms, ammunition and horses to outfit a rebel army in the United States and march it into Mexico to begin open warfare, the war department said. At the same time, counting on military and political support from the two states, the plotters intended to form two other powerful fighting units and attack federal strongholds, it was stated.

Those arrested today included Alberto M. Gonzalez Vasquez, former director general of customs; José Acuna Pardo, a former army officer, and José Rodriguez Meza, an employé of the controler general's office.

Judge Declares Recess; Jury Leaves; Plaster Falls

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 29.—(AP)—At a trial here today Judge Ben Arnold said, "Gentlemen, I am giving the jury a ten minute recess." As the last juror left the box, all the plaster on the ceiling above crashed down on the vacant chairs.

DEATH SPELL OF STAVISKY FALLS ON PROSECUTOR

Wife of Georges Pressard Asks Autopsy.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 29.—More than a year after the swindler, Serge [Handsome Alex] Stavisky, committed suicide under mysterious conditions in a cabin at Chamonix, the ill omened star under which he exercised his distorted genius continues to cast a spell of death over noted figures who, wrongly or otherwise, were accused of having favored his machinations.

The sudden death today of Georges Pressard, who was removed from the post of prosecuting attorney and made councillor of the supreme court without ever serving because of the violent attacks on him in connection with the Stavisky scandal and the murder of Judge Albert Prince, set tongues wagging. The death announcement was given out by his brother-in-law, Camille Chautemps, who was premier when the scandal was revealed.

Widow Asks for Autopsy.

Despite the fact that three family physicians said Pressard died a natural death—he was nearly 70 years old and had suffered a stroke—Mrs. Pressard asked authorities to make an autopsy.

"They killed my husband by inches," said Mrs. Pressard, referring to attacks by political enemies. "I do not want to permit those who killed him by infamous calumnies to be able to continue to exploit his death."

Pressard dined with friends Monday night and was in a happy mood, because he told his wife that he would probably be called back into service. He was exonerated from direct connection with the Stavisky scandal or with any responsibility in the Judge Prince case by the Stavisky investigating committee after his last appearance before them eighteen days ago. He demanded reinstatement.

Fourth Death in Case.

The death of Pressard is the fourth including that of Stavisky. Last February the body of Judge Prince was found on a railway track near Dijon the day before he was going to give important testimony in the Stavisky affair. The widow and son of Prince said that evidence he had gathered involved Pressard for the immunity Stavisky enjoyed.

Another death was that of Emile Blanchard, high official of the ministry of agriculture, who committed suicide in March. He lost his job after admitting he accepted a cheque from Stavisky for 100,000 francs [$6,556].

GOERING ENDS 2 DAY HUNTING VISIT WITH POLISH PRESIDENT

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

BIALOWITSCH, Poland, Jan. 29.—Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Prussian premier and German air minister, left here tonight after two days of hunting with rather a poor bag, consisting of one wild boar and several hares. His destination was not known, but it is believed he is going to the Carpathian mountains before leaving Poland.

This little town had a hard time during Gen. Goering's stay, for its inhabitants lived as if they were in a beleaguered place and it was impossible to penetrate the public park and the environs of President Moscicki's palace.

During the two days Goering had plenty of time for conversations with other guests of President Moscicki, especially two Polish generals of the highest rank, Gen. Sosenkowski, one of Marshal Pilsudski's closest associates, and Gen. Sadrycy, until recently assistant minister of war. He should therefore be able to report to his government whether Germany can count upon Poland's support or at least her neutrality on the rearmament question.

EQUAL SECURITY NATIONAL RIGHT, ASSERTS DAVIS

Naval Armament Termed No Solution.

Addressing the council on foreign relations, the American ambassador at large said the dominant issue involved in the recent London naval talks was "equality of security" versus "equality of armaments."

"I should like to state with all the emphasis of which I am capable," Davis said, "that I regard—and I know the President regards—equality of security as a fundamental sovereign right of each power. If arms equality were the only means of making that right effective, I would be the first to advocate it.

"Arms Equality Fails."

"It is evident, however, that equality of naval armament not only fails to give equal security but it is, on the contrary, utterly incompatible with equal security. A moment's consideration of the widely-varying defensive needs of individual nations due to such as geographic location, coast lines, distribution of outlying territory, commerce on the seas, et cetera makes this clear . . ."

Discussing the 5-5-3 limitation placed on England, the United States, and Japan by the 1922 Washington naval conference, Davis said:

"It has been erroneously considered by some to mean or to imply a different degree of national prestige or sovereign right, whereas it means nothing of the kind.

"U. S. Prestige Unaffected."

"As a matter of fact, military power consists of a navy, an army, and an air force and the combined strength of Japan in these three branches of arms is greater than that of the United States; yet even so, I do not consider that this affects the national prestige of America."

For the time, Davis said, diplomatic discussions and negotiations on the naval question are being held in abeyance. The issues involved, however, are in a state of intro-governmental consideration.

"I therefore do not feel at liberty," Davis added, "to discuss publicly the present situation in detail."

Terms Deadlock No Worry.

"We should not be unduly disturbed by the present apparent deadlock or engage in loose talk of an impending naval race," Davis declared.

The fleets remain strictly limited until Jan. 1, 1937, he said, and "there is no reason why during the period which remains an accommodation which maintains and even strengthens the sense of security of all cannot become an accomplished fact."

LOESCH ADVISES 'SOLITARY' FOR BOY CRIMINALS

Sentences of thirty days' solitary confinement for boys 16 to 20 years old who have committed crimes, were urged yesterday by Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime commission. Because this penalty forces them to "commune with themselves," it is the most effective punishment for young men who are not hardened criminals, Mr. Loesch declared in an address before the Chicago Rotary club in the Hotel La Salle.

"The more boys we send to the reformatories at St. Charles or Pontiac the more criminals we make," said Mr. Loesch. "What they don't know about crime when they enter they learn by the time they get out."

The problem is crime prevention not prosecution, Mr. Loesch told his 400 listeners, and one of the surest methods of preventing crime would be to lower the compulsory education limits from 16 years to 14 years.

"Let those who wish it quit school at 14 and go to work," he said. "It has been found that many who now continue in schools until they are 16 years old are incapable of learning anything during those last two years. They are restless, without money, and without a chance to earn money. They drift, during the years between 14 and 16, into crime."

Uncle Enoch Collier at 97 Sees First Train and Auto

Whitesburg, Ky., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Uncle Enoch Collier, 97, of Cumberland river opened his eyes today. He walked over the mountains, twelve miles into the town of Hot Spot and there beheld his first railway train, his first automobile, and listened to his first radio program in the home of Jack Sturgill, a relative. There the aged man will visit for a few days before returning to his log cabin home on the Cumberland river, where he was reared. He is an inveterate smoker, a chewer, a virtual slave to tobacco, which he argues is healthful.

TWO SUMMONED TO NAME NAVY CONTRACT 'FIXER'

SenateMunitionsGroup Calls Witnesses.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The senate munitions committee tonight summonded two men to identify a "fixer" who had been described to it as able to pass out millions of dollars worth of naval contracts "for a consideration."

The two men, to appear tomorrow are Alex B. Gravem, Washington attorney, and Lawrence R. Wilder, in 1933 chairman of the board of Gulf Industries, a shipbuilding company, who formerly had been president of the New York Shipbuilding company.

They were named by a witness, William Calvin, secretary-treasurer of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor, at the hearing today as participants in a conference in a Washington hotel in 1933.

"Fixer's" Offer Told.

There, Calvin said, Gravem told of a "fixer" who would take $250,000 as a "consideration" for delivery of 10 million dollars to 150 million dollars of shipbuilding contracts to Wilder, who had been disappointed in efforts to get contracts on regular bids.

Calvin said he was called to the meeting "as a sort of witness."

Meanwhile the house military affairs committee heard demands from a spokesman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for a plan that would take the profits out of war.

Testifying on the McSwain bill, aimed at curbing war profits, George K. Brobeck, national legislative representative of the veterans' organization, declared the "only way to stop spilling blood is to stop the profits of those who inspire war."

Tells "Discontent" at Canal.

The committee was told by W. C. Hushing, national legislative representative of the Federation of Labor, that "judicious expenditure" of money by a foe of America might bring about injury to the Panama canal, where he said there was discontent among colored persons from British and French possessions employed on the big waterway.

The testimony of Calvin was poured rapidly into the senate committee records by the witness, who had been called to support committee charges of collusion among shipbuilders in bidding on naval contracts.

Berlin Stops Anti-Jewish Movement by Streicher

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUNICH, Germany, Jan. 29.—Julius Streicher, Nazi leader in Franconia and leader of the anti-Jewish movement, tried to organize an anti-Jewish boycott today, but failed. His men distributed handbills printed in red ink, showing a big sword dripping blood, announcing a special ritual murder issue of his publication Der Stuermer. Then his sandwichmen picketed some stores, operated by Jews. Business men telephoned the ministry of economics and within an hour the pickets were removed.

Ex-Sec. of State Hits Money Tinkering.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Bainbridge Colby, who was secretary of state in Woodrow Wilson's cabinet, tonight said the New Deal was a challenge not only to recovery, but to the American form of government.

In a speech before the American Coalition of Patriotic Societies, Mr. Colby declared that the fundamental question before the people today was whether the government should continue to be a constitutional democracy, as ordained by the American people, or a personal dictatorship founded on the "mad-cap theories" of "the New Deal playboys."

"It baffles explanation," said Mr. Colby of the 4 billion 880 million dollars relief bill, "that the administration should sponsor such a piece of legislation on the heels of the decision of the Supreme court reminding congress that all the legislative power granted by the constitution is confided to congress and can not be delegated."

He said the government was filled with too many so-called economists, "young men without any experience or observation, extreme idealists who recognize no law but their own wishes." They are playboys and publicity seeking schemers and they represent special interests, which may include the farm groups and organized labor as well as corporations, the speaker declared.

"What is the plan beyond the endless talk of planning?" he continued. "What is our present monetary standard? Why was an already debased gold standard adulterated with silver bullion that has to be buried in the treasury vaults?" he asked.

GERMANY TO TRY U. S. CITIZEN ON TREASON CHARGE

Slated to Go Before Star Chamber Court in March

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Richard Roiderer, naturalized American citizen of Cleveland, is slated to be tried on an espionage charge in the German People's court in March, it was learned today. He was brought to a Berlin prison recently from Munich, where he had been imprisoned since June 22 last year, and he is expected to be indicted this week for "treason to the state."

Nazi authorities assert that notes about the Storm Troopers and the Schutzstaffel [picked troops] were found on Roiderer when he was searched as he tried to go from Germany into Switzerland. American authorities are at a loss to understand why these alleged notes would be the basis for a treason charge since the Nazis claim that the Storm Troopers and Schutzstaffel are not military organizations.

Position Precarious.

Roiderer's position, however, is regarded as extremely precarious, since his alleged crime was committed in June after Nazi "anti-treason legislation" was enforced. These decrees, promulgated on May 2 last year, were studded with penalties providing the death sentence.

Roiderer will be the first American to be tried in the People's court which usually sits in secret and is a sort of star chamber body.

Bavarian border guards first held Roiderer on the charge that his permit to take out $160 in gold was illegal. It was later established that the permit was legal, but the prisoner was kept in jail because of the alleged treasonable notes.

Roiderer was born in the Palatinate in Neustadt-an-Hardt in 1894 and went to America in 1913, becoming naturalized in 1922. He operated a small furniture business in Cleveland with his mother, who was entitled to a German pension as the widow of a minor official.

Returned to Germany in 1932.

When the Germans refused to send the pension abroad and Roiderer's business slumped, he and his mother returned to Germany in 1932. Roiderer talked English, and as a "much traveled bachelor" became popular in Munich. When the Nazis requested that persons who had friends in foreign countries write them telling about the "greatness of Nazism" Roiderer complied. Copies of the letters he wrote were presented to his jailers as evidence of his "good faith," but they remained adamant.

Part of his money was returned to him after a long struggle, and his aged mother sold all their belongings to help out. Friends declared that Roiderer's health was ruined by his poor prison fare, while his mother sought refuge in a charitable institution for the aged.

German authorities told the American consul, Raymond Geist, that consular representatives would probably be allowed to be present at Roiderer's trial. He has no lawyer yet, probably because he lacks funds, and any lawyer he obtains must first be approved by the German officials.

(In previous dispatches Roiderer has been referred to as a former Chicagoan. His identity has never been established here, however.)

3 Children Die in Flames as Mother Visits Neighbor

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPPER CLIFF, Ont., Jan. 29.—Three children, aged 5, 3 and 2, of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Dupuis were burned to death here today when flames destroyed their home while their mother was visiting a neighbor. Townsmen are searching for their bodies in the ruins.

France Occupies Island

PARIS, Jan. 29.—(AP)—France, awarded tiny Clipperton island off the Pacific coast of Mexico, finally has landed sailors to claim it in the name of the republic, the government announced today.

Men from the schoolship Jeanne D'Arc toured the land and speedily reembarked without raising the flag on the reef-bound island. The sailors found the place too stormy to land at all a month ago.

France was awarded the island by King Victor Emmanuel of Italy as arbiter, after thirty-four years of haggling with Mexico. The Mexicans removed all the guano, sole article of value, before retiring.

GUEST LECTURER AT U. OF C. LOSES GERMAN RIGHTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Dr. Melchoir Palyi, now a guest professor at the University of Chicago, and Ernst Lubitsch, talkie director in Hollywood, were among the 207 whose German citizenship was revoked by government order, it was disclosed today. The order said the revocation affected "eastern Jews, persons dangerous to the state and others."

Dr. Melchior Palyi, former Berlin educator and economic adviser to the Deutsche bank and Disconto-Gesellschaft, who is now a member of the University of Chicago staf, declined yesterday to comment on the reported revocation of his German citizenship.

"I can't say anything," Dr. Palyi explained, "until I find out exactly what happened, and how it will affect my property rights. I am a Hungarian, a Jew, and a professor, whose views of economics do not coincide with those of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler. Any of these three might be the reason for depriving me of my German citizenship."

The Nazis expelled Dr. Palyi from Germany a year ago. At the University of Chicago he is a lecturer on economics.

A dispatch from Hollywood today reported that Ernst Lubitsch, motion picture director, is unconcerned about revocation of his German citizenship. He disclosed that in June this year he will receive his second papers of citizenship in the United States.

German Scientists Defy Nazis; Honor Memory of Exiled Jew

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Despite orders from Richard Rust, Nazi minister of culture, forbidding professors and officials to attend memorial services for Fritz Haber, about 300 professors and army officers gathered at Dahlem today to pay tribute to the memory of the scientist, whose discovery how to make nitrogen out of the air enabled Germany to carry on the world war. Haber died in exile a year ago. He was forced to leave Germany because he was partly Jewish.

Karl Friedrich Bonhoeffer, one of the professors who was scheduled to speak at the meeting, was not present because he is an employé of the state and would have lost his position. His speech was read by Prof. Otto Hahn, director of the chemical institute of Germany's most famous scientific association, Kaiser Wilhelm Gesellschaft.

Calls Haber "Great Patriot."

The 76 year old Prof. Max Planck refused to allow himself to be tied down by Nazi orders and paid tribute to Haber as a "great man, a great patriot, a great scientist and a great soldier."

Prof. Planck started his speech by giving the Nazi salute. He spoke of the day, twenty-four years ago, when the former kaiser opened a special chemical research institute for Haber and himself. He told how their researches were crowned with success when they were able to supply nitrogen which the army needed in Germany's desperate shortage of raw materials for ammunition.

Tells Profits from Discovery.

Bonhoeffer's address, as read by Hahn, minced no words.

"If Haber's plan had been accepted in 1915, then Germany need not have lost the world war," the speech read. "His discoveries today still net the German people an income of 600 million dollars annually in the giant Leuna works and other chemical plants in this country."

NIGHT CLUB SINGER CLAIMS AMPHIBIAN MARK FOR ALTITUDE

Miami, Fla., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Harry Richman, Broadway stage and night club entertainer and amateur pilot, today came down from the sky to claim an amphibian altitude record of 22,000 feet.

Richman, in the air for two hours and 38 minutes, said he sent the new plane up until "it was vibrating so much it felt like the bottom was about to fall out."

The musical comedy player said he started use of the oxygen supply carried aboard the plane as the altimeter passed 19,000 feet. The thermometer then registered two degrees above zero.

DOUG AND SYLVIA TO QUIT EUROPE FOR WEST INDIES

ROME, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Douglas Fairbanks and Lady Sylvia Ashley arranged today to take an extended trip to the West Indies. Following their arrival here today from St. Moritz, they asked that reservations be made for them on a liner leaving Marseilles for Trinidad. It was learned that at Trinidad they will embark on a West Indian cruise aboard a yacht Fairbanks has chartered.

A young English couple who came here with the American film actor and Lady Ashley are understood to be planning to accompany them on the cruise.

Both Fairbanks and Lady Ashley steadfastly refused to discuss the possibility of their marriage.

"That is my own business," said Fairbanks.

A lovely lady told a sweeter lady that SHE came to B/G NOT because of the things that melt in your mouth; NOT because of the bottomless cup; NOT because of NO tipping . . . BUT because the dishes and the silver here are ALWAYS as clean as pins.

Minister in Despair With Bad Stomach

A story of despair turned to joy is told by Rev. J. S. Washburn, 4504 Cullen Drive, Cleveland, Ohio. He had suffered severely from a stomach ailment, but after trying a stomach specialist's formula, called Udga, he says he is well and can eat like a normal person. He then recommended the same treatment to a woman parishioner, another stomach sufferer, who reports she is wonderfully improved. Thus another letter is added to over 54,000 letters that praise the results of Udga, a stomach specialist's formula. If acid stomach, indigestion, heartburn, gas pains, belching and other symptoms of excess acidity persist, it's a warning that you need more thorough medication than baking soda or common tablets or powders. Get Udga at your drug store. One trial must prove quicker, more lasting relief or your money is refunded.

THOUSANDS WILL ATTEND BIRTHDAY BALLS TONIGHT

Cake Auctions to Swell Fund for Cripples.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

President Roosevelt will be 53 years old today. Tonight in 5,960 cities and towns thousands of citizens will attend birthday parties in his honor and the gifts they bring will be in the form of money to aid sufferers of infantile paralysis and to advance medical research.

Chicago's birthday celebration will be one of the largest in the country, according to Howard Gillette, chairman of the local committee. More than 35,000 persons will attend the ball in the International amphitheater at the stockyards, the principal event here. The proceeds of this party, as of all the local celebrations, will be turned over to eight Chicago charity hospitals and institutions specializing in infantile paralysis.

Roosevelt Club Luncheon.

Among other large functions will be the luncheon this noon of the Franklin D. Roosevelt club of Chicago in the Hotel La Salle. Mrs. George Bass, United States narcotic agent here, will speak. Robert W. McKinlay is president of the club.

At the Aragon ballroom 5,000 Greek-Americans, members of the Greek-American Regular Democratic organization, will hold a dance, the proceeds going to the fund. At the Medinah club the official ball for the private clubs of the city will be given in the grand ball room. A feature will be the complete revue from the Empire room of the Palmer house.

In the Illinois emergency relief commission's shelter at 1310 South Ashland avenue 1,800 unemployed men will hold a musical and vaudeville entertainment with speeches. Col. Hugh Scott of Edward Hines hospital, Postmaster Ernest Kruetgen and Judge Edgar A. Jonas are among the speakers.

"Queen" Lives Regally.

Yesterday Miss Jane Eiszner, 21 years old, of Oak Park, selected on Monday from 150 typical working girls to rule as queen over the stockyards ball, began a two day vacation from her clerical duties in a loop department store. She lived in a penthouse all her own atop the Hotel Sherman with a limousine and chauffeur at her command. She received a complete new wardrobe.

At 2 p. m. the blue-eyed, golden haired "queen" who is five feet 4½ inches tall and weighs 114 pounds, will start her official duties in the lobby of the city hall and county building by auctioning off slices of a 2,000 pound presidential birthday cake. The cake is to be cut by P. A. Nash, Democratic national committeeman. Another 2,000 pound cake, made of ice cream, will be sold in slices in the amphitheater of the stockyards.

All Boxes Sold.

The 105 boxes for the stockyards ball have been sold and 84 temporatory boxes set up, the local committee disclosed. The revelers will witness continuous performances by 500 Chicago radio and theater stars and motion picture concerns beginning at 8 o'clock and continuing until 2 a. m.

Packing companies have made arrangements for free parking space for 15,000 cars. Provision has been made to feed more than 20,000 persons.

The Chicago institutions to which the money will be donated are the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children, Spaulding School for Crippled Children, Martha Washington Home for Crippled Children, Mercy, Presbyterian, St. Luke's and Michael Reese hospitals, and the Home for Destitute Crippled Children.

MINE BLAST FATAL.

Keokuk, Ia., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Dean Bretz, 38, owner of a coal mine near Farmington in Lee county, thirty miles west of here, died in a Keokuk hospital today as result of burns when a powder keg exploded.

NATION WILL MARK PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY WITH 7,000 DANCES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Twenty-one candles on his birthday cake and 7,000 balls the country over will tell the story of President Roosevelt's 53d birthday tomorrow.

But the celebration won't be finished until some time in February, when the traditional party given him annually by newsmen who traveled with him in the 1920 campaign will top it all off with quip and jest.

Each of the 1935 benefit balls will mean money for children crippled by infantile paralysis. Seventy per cent of the proceeds will be used for child care in the community in which the ball is held and the rest will go for research.

With the White House family planning to attend its elaborate pageantry, the ball at the Shoreham hotel here seemed slated for a super spectacle rating such as might make even moviedom blink.

One hundred soldiers, sailors, and marines will be the guard of honor for Mrs. Roosevelt's party. Twenty White House aids will form an aile into ballrooms made melodious by three orchestras. Child dancers are to trace the figures of minuet and gavotte before Mrs. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt today said only three of the immediate family would go with her to the ball, her recently wed daughter, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt Jr.

MALOY GIVES UP ON U. S. CHARGE OF TAX EVASION

CRIMINAL COURT.

Edward Aldrich, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary; John Rogalski, burglary, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Thomas E. Maloy, business agent of the Moving Picture Operators' union, surrendered yesterday at the United States courthouse on charges of evading income tax payments of $81,000 between 1929 and 1933. He was released a few minutes later in bond of $20,000 on which 15 union members scheduled equities of $155,000 in property valued at $256,000.

Accompanied by some 20 of his followers, Maloy sauntered into the courthouse, posed for photographers, but declined to comment on the charge against him. He was finger printed and taken to the office of the clerk of the United States District court, where operators who had posted the bond crowded around to shake his hand.

TWO WEST SIDE SEWER TUNNELS JOIN AFTER YEAR

Two connecting sections of the Sanitary District's west side intercepting sewers met yesterday at the junction under Jefferson and Fulton streets. Crews that have been working 30 feet underground for nearly a year penetrated the intervening walls and entered the junction vault. One of the concrete tubes, 15 feet in diameter, extends from Taylor street to Fulton street. The other, 12½ feet in diameter, runs from a point near Augusta street, under the Chicago & North Western railroad right of way, along the west bank of the Chicago river, to Fulton street. These tubes will deliver to the west side treatment works much of the sewage that has hitherto been polluting the Chicago river.

UFUS' ANGUISHED HEART LEAVES BALM JURY COLD

mained apparently oblivious to them. He sat at the counsel table, his lips pouting, his mournful dark eyes cast down. He wore a black suit and black tie and a snowy linen handkerchief peeped from his breast pocket.

Widow Shuns Courtroom.

Mrs. Alexander, the widow of Harry O. Alexander, former official of the International Harvester company, did not appear during either of the two days the hearing has been in progress. Mrs. Sylvia Isaacson, the second of Isaacson's two divorced wives and the mother of a 10 year old daughter, was in the front row of spectators, however. He admitted he was $400 in arrears for support of the child.

"Here's a man who tells you his heart is bleeding," said Attorney Hawkins, striding up and down before the jury. "Yet when he was suffering these pangs of anguish because Mrs. Alexander had not married him he wrote this telegram to Miss Virginia Green of Kansas City in January, 1933: 'Dear Miss Green: Here's a real surprise for you. I've been thinking about you ever since last summer. . . . Are you still single and happy? . . .'

"A lawsuit of this kind is not brought by any he-man. It is unthinkable. It is true she called him Popeye and signed herself Salami in foolish letters to him, but do you suppose she had any idea this contemptible cur was going to save them and sue her?

"I venture that every man of you on the jury," he went on, leaning forward confidentially and lowering his voice, "has received silly letters from silly girls. But you never thought they wanted to marry you! I know I never did."

The brick red color in the face of the largest juror in the center front row deepened and his mustache twitched. The single juror compressed his lips and his pale eyes apparently widened, while the Adam's apple in the throat of his nearest neighbor worked visibly.

"If you think he has been damaged," concluded Attorney Hawkins, "your duty is to assess damages. A jury in England once gave a man damages in a breach of promise suit. He was awarded one shilling."

"Three Years of His Life."

Attorney Tate, arguing for Isaacson, who had been his sole witness and whose testimony was all that was presented by either side save one defense witness, declared:

"Can't a man feel as deeply as a woman? He made his prayer and gave three years of his life to this woman, and she then says she's tired of him. He was more serious than she, and not any more aggresive in this thing. There isn't anybody as persistent as a woman. When she wants to pursue a man, how she can hang on the telephone." He ran his hand through his wavy gray hair feelingly.

Again Attorney Tate declared that his client "had trailed around after this woman like a little puppy dog for three years, gentlemen, and then she exercises a woman's prerogative and changes her mind.

"If a man changes his mind he has to open up his pockets," he declared. "What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

Isaacson was on the stand under cross-examination during the morning, after which the defense counsel examined his only witness, J. A. Jones, manager of the Edgewater Beach hotel, where Mrs. Alexander lives. Isaacson was a "gigolo," he declared.

KEHOE TO TAKE STAND IN OWN DEFENSE TODAY

Bus Murder Case May Go to Jury Friday.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Joseph Kehoe, recording secretary of the street car men's union, will take the witness stand in his own defense today in the bus murder conspiracy trial before a jury in the Criminal court of Judge William V. Brothers.

Under the questioning of Defense Attorney Michael Ahern, Kehoe, who is 54 years old, will tell the story of his union activities, and give an explanation of his actions in connection with the strike violence against the Chicago Motor Coach company last August and September.

Kehoe and his co-defendant, William Taber, financial secretary and treasurer of the union, are charged with abetting the murder of James J. Kelly, a dispatcher for the motor coach company. Kelly was slugged and shot to death in a street car at Cicero and Grand avenues on Sept. 26.

Protection Is Defense Motif.

Kehoe's defense is expected to be that the two gangs of vandals which stoned buses and injured passengers on the south and north sides during the strike were not hired by him and Taber for this purpose but were employed to protect the strikers. The union which called the strike is an affiliate of the street car men's union.

Taber, who will follow Kehoe to the stand, will be the last witness for the defense, Attorney Ahern indicated last night. It is not likely that the direct and cross-examinations of the two defendants will be completed until tomorrow. The case will probably be argued and go to the jury on Friday if defense motions for directed verdicts of acquittal are overruled.

Nine Character Witnesses.

Nine character witnesses were called by the defense yesterday. They were Dr. Karl Meyer, superintendent of the Cook county hospital; Judge Kickham Scanlan of the Illinois Appellate court; Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson; Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the board of the Continental Illinois Bank and Turst company; Guy A. Richardson, president of the Chicago Surface lines; County Assessor John S. Clark; Bernard J. Fallon, executive officer for the receivers of the Chicago Rapid Transit company; Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

The witnesses all said they had known Kehoe and Taber for many years and that the reputations of the defendants for "peace and quiet" and "truth and veracity" were good.

Richardson Cross-Examined.

Mr. Richardson was cross-examined by First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley.

Q.—Do you know how many of the street car employés used sling shots against the buses? A.—I don't know if any did.

Q.—Wouldn't it help the revenue of the street car company if the buses were off the street? A.—I suppose more people would ride the street cars.

"Would you justify violence for the sake of a few extra fares?" Defense Attorney Thomas D. Nash asked Richardson on redirect examination. The witness said he would not.

Assessor Clark testified on cross examination that he had received the endorsement of the street car union in his campaign for election last fall.

"But the state's attorney also received the endorsement when he was a candidate," Clark declared on redirect examination and there was a laugh from the courtroom crowd.

A Kehoe-Renner Conversation.

John Gillin, 2208 North Sacramento avenue, a foreman for the street car company in the power house at North and Cicero avenues, told of a conversation between Kehoe and Earl Renner, leader of a north side gang of sluggers and bus window smashers during the strike. The conversation took place in the union headquarters at 328 South Ashland avenue on Sept. 14, Gillin said. He went on:

"I heard Kehoe say to Renner: 'I'm all fed up with you. Those license numbers (presumably on the automobiles of bus company employés) that you gave me, we gave to the police and nothing came of it.' Renner mumbled something I couldn't hear. Then Kehoe became angry and said: 'I'm all washed with you. Keep away from me. You're not helping in the picketing.'

"Renner asked for some money and Kehoe gave him something from his pocket—I didn't see what it was."

Robert J. McKinney, division superintendent of transportation for the street car company, who also heard the talk between Renner and Kehoe, corroborated Gillin's story.

Part of Defense Strategy.

This evidence was part of the defense's plan to show that Kehoe and Taber did not sanction any violence on the part of the hired gangs against bus company employés but were employing the men to protect the strikers. On cross examination by the state Gillin admitted that he had heard Kehoe refer to money he had given Renner a week before the conversation.

Samuel A. Levin, partner in a hardware and auto supply company at 1935 South Wabash avenue, testified that on July 17, a month before the strike was called, he received a telephone order from the assistant purchasing agent of the motor coach company for fifty dozen hammer handles.

"I was told to put a loop in each handle so a man's hand could fit in it," Levin said. "We delivered the handles the next day."

Charge Arming of Bus Men.

The defense contends that these handles were used to arm bus employés against the strikers and pickets.

Christian Evenson, superintendent of transportation for the surface lines, said that the records of the company did not show that Renner had ever been reinstated as a conductor on the recommendation of Kehoe. Renner, who was a state witness, had testified that he was discharged several times from 1919 to 1922 because of discrepancies in his accounts and was put back to work each time at Kehoe's request.

PROSECUTOR CONFERS IN CAPITAL ON TRIALS OF CHASE AND PIQUETT

United States Attorney Dwight H. Green conferred with department of justice officials in Washington yesterday on the trials of John Paul Chase and Louis Piquett.

Chase is to be arraigned Friday on a charge of murder in the slaying of Special Agent Herman E. Hollis and Inspector Samuel P. Cowley of the department of justice. Chase is alleged to have been the companion of Lester Gillis [Baby Face Nelson] in Barrington on Nov. 27 when the hoodlum was fatally wounded and the agents were shot to death.

Attorney Green said that he would seek an early trial if Chase pleads not guilty to the charge. Piquett, a lawyer, is to be tried on a charge of harboring Homer Van Meter, companion of John Dillinger. Piquett was acquitted on a charge of harboring Dillinger.

FIGHTS REMOVAL FOR TRIAL AS AID IN HIDING NELSON

Arraign Jack Perkins on Coast Charge.

Jack Perkins, 25 years old, said to be a minor member of the old Al Capone gang, refused yesterday to waive proceedings for removal to San Francisco for trial on a charge of conspiracy to harbor the late Lester Gillis [Baby Face Nelson], a member of the John Dillinger gang. United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, before whom Perkins was arraigned, continued the hearing a week.

ARTHUR (FISH) JOHNSON.

Perkins is reported to have told his attorney, George R. Bieber, that Arthur [Fish] Johnson, once mentioned as the contact man for the Dillinger gang, is also in custody of federal agents. Johnson, a gambler, is said to have been arrested a few hours after Perkins was seized last Saturday. Agents of the department of justice denied that Johnson is under arrest.

Complains About Questioning.

Perkins is charged with driving Nelson and his wife, Helen, to California. He asserted that he knew Baby Face as Jimmy Burnett and had no idea that he was sought by federal agents. Perkins is said to have charged that federal agents dangled him out of the nineteenth floor office of the department of justice in the Bankers' building in order to draw admissions from him.

The government warant for Perkins charged that he joined with Nelson's wife, Joseph Ray Negri, and John Paul Chase to harbor the Dillinger lieutenant. Baby Face Nelson was fatally wounded by federal agents in a battle on Nov. 27 in Barrington.

Details of Charges.

Between July 26 and Aug. 2, last year, the warant charged Perkins drove Nelson and his wife to California. On July 30, the government alleged, Perkins met Baby Face in El Verano, Cal., and on Aug. 1 he drove Nelson and his wife to Scotia, Cal.

The warant also charges that Perkins drove the couple from Eureka to Sacramento on Aug. 2, and later to a hideout in northern California.

LAST LEGAL SNAG TO PWA CALUMET GRANT REMOVED

The last obstacle standing in the way of approval by the Public Works administration of the $2,814,000 grant for deepening and widening the Calumet-Sag channel in the Great Lakes to the gulf waterway project was cleared away yesterday by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan, when he entered an order for federal condemnation proceedings to take over 43 parcels of land along the Grand Calumet and Little Calumet rivers.

Easements on these parcels, about 100 acres of privately owned property, were needed for the widening. Under the federal condemnation law, the government by the mere entry of the order yesterday acquired immediately the right to use the property. The condemnation proceedings to follow simply will determine fair sums to be paid to the owners.

MASSAGE PARLOR LAW APPLIED FOR 1ST TIME; 4 FINED

City Continues Campaign Against Vice.

The city ordinance passed a year ago to regulate massage parlors was put into action yesterday when three women and a man seized in police raids Monday were each given suspended fines of $200 by Judge Edward S. Scheffler in the Women's court.

All were charged with violation of the provision of the ordinance which forbids an operator to give a massage to a person of the opposite sex. These were the first convictions under the ordinance.

May Lose Licenses.

Those fined were Miss Lee Dale, 31 years old, and Mrs. Emily Cook, 40, arrested at 2056 North Clark street; Miss Mildred Taulk, 32, arrested at 3232 North Clark street, and August Pierrantoni, 47, of 219 Wendell street, charged with owning the place where Miss Taulk was arrested.

Although Judge Scheffler suspended the fines pending good behavior of the defendants, the convictions are deemed sufficient to bring about the suspension of the licenses of the places involved. Police Commissioner James P. Allman indicated he would recommend such suspension.

Policemen Continue Campaign.

Meanwhile four policemen from the commissioner's office continued their campaign to obtain evidence against other massage parlors which are alleged actually to be disorderly houses. Because of the difficulty of obtaining convictions on the state charge of operating a disorderly house, the warants in the future will be brought under the city ordinance, police said. Thus the ordinance will take on the force it was intended to convey.

Last year 244 massage parlors were licensed under the city regulation which requires a $10 license for each place employing two persons or less, with a $2.50 additional fee for each employé. In many cases, police said, these places are dens of vice.

CONFER TODAY ON MATERNITY HOME EVIDENCE

Assistant Attorney General Albert T. Washburne of Michigan will confer today with State's Attorney Courtney on the records seized in the abandoned Beulah Maternity home at 2144 North Clark street.

Mr. Washburne and Detective Sergeant William Watkins of the Michigan state police came here Monday in their investigation of the home's baby farm at Beulah, Mich., where the bodies of twenty-five babies are understood to be buried.

"We learned nothing of material value to our investigation," said Mr. Washburne, "but we found some things which your state's attorney may want to investigate."

Coroner Frank J. Walsh said he, too, planned an inquiry if evidence were discovered of failure to report to his office suspicious deaths in the maternity home.

THREATENS MAYOR WITH TROOP CALL IN TRUCKING DISPUTE

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Characterizing the one day unauthorized strike of truck drivers and teamsters as an "incipient revolution," Percy C. Magnus, president of the New York Board of Trade, called on Mayor La Guardia today to deny his published expression of sympathy for the strikers. Magnus urged that the police be instructed to take action. Otherwise Mr. Magnus said business men may ask Gov. Lehman for troops.

Calling the strike "an open, brazen, and highly publicized effort to intimidate the Supreme court of the state," Magnus said it thrust "at the foundations of American government."

"We fervently hope that it will not be necessary for business men of New York City to appeal to the governor to use the militia to suppress this incipient revolution," the letter said.

The drivers are back at work. Their one day strike concerned movement of freight between steamer piers in nonunion trucks.

Thomas E. Smith, president of the strike committee, said the truckers had "shown their strength" and made it clear that the men would strike again if the injunction were not vacated.

ASSERTS BELIEF POISON KILLED OFFICER'S WIFE

Doctor Testifies Against Maj. Shepard.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The third wife of Maj. Charles A. Shepard, on trial for the poison murder of his second wife, closed her eyes in evident mental pain today, as she listened to testimony against her 63 year old mate.

The third Mrs. Shepard, who formerly was Mrs. Alice J. Watt of Denver, made possible the major's appeal from his first conviction before their marriage in the summer of 1933. On the appeal she helped obtain, the Supreme court granted Shepard a new trial in federal court.

Testimony Distresses Wife.

The testimony that distressed Mrs. Shepard was given by Maj. Paul R. Hawley of the United States army medical corps. He and Maj. Shepard were both stationed at Fort Riley, Kas., at the time the defendant's second wife, Zenana, 37, died there June 15, 1929. Maj. Shepard since has retired from army service and is a tuberculosis specialist.

Maj. Hawley testified that even before the death of the second Mrs. Shepard the defendant had insisted that there be no autopsy.

"A few days before her death," the witness said, "Shepard followed me out to the back porch and asked me how she was getting along. I told him that I didn't think she was going to get any better and that the worst of it was that I didn't know what was the matter.

"Didn't Want Autopsy."

"Shepard said: 'There must not be an autopsy.' I reminded him that Mrs. Shepard wasn't dead yet and that I wouldn't sign a death certificate until I knew more about the case than I did then."

"'You don't have to know what the matter is to sign a death certificate,' Shepard told me."

"What in your judgment caused Mrs. Shepard's death?" he was asked.

"Poisoning," he replied.

Another witness testified he had prepared a prescription of mercury tablets at Maj. Shepard's order. He was Sergt. Winslow A. Rose, the Fort Riley pharmacist at the time of Mrs. Shepard's death.

GEN. ABEL DAVIS RETIRES FROM NATIONAL GUARD

The retirement from the Illinois National Guard of Brig. Gen. Abel Davis, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, was announced in Springfield yesterday by Gov. Horner. The retirement leaves no vacnacy in the ranks of the guard, as Gen. Davis has been without a command since 1930 when he retired as commander of the 65th infantry brigade.

At the offices of the trust company it was said that Gen. Davis was out of the city and would not return for a week. Friends said, however, that the press of business affairs, which he felt he could not alight, was the reason for his leaving what has been a major interest for years. Gen. Davis, known as one of Chicago's foremost citizen soldiers, saw service in the Spanish American and the world wars, his service in the latter earning him decorations from the United States and from France.

CROSS-QUIZZING OF HAUPTMANN COMES TO END

Admissions of Many Lies Forced from Him.

entz jumped about from topic to topic, trying to trip up the defendant on his statements. Hauptmann had to admit that he had lied not only to the police, but in his signed statements to the Bronx district attorney and in his sworn testimony in the Bronx Supreme court at the extradition proceedings when New Jersey sought to bring him from New York to stand trial.

Much time, for example, was spent on the question whether Hauptmann was familiar with Woodlawn cemetery, where Dr. John F. Condon first talked with the ransom negotiator, and St. Raymond cemetery, where the $50,000 ransom was paid.

Used to Pass Woodlawn.

At first, Hauptmann said, he had only known by report of the whereabouts of Woodlawn cemetery and had never even heard of the other cemetery. But Wilentz returned to the subject time after time, and in the end Hauptmann admitted that he used to pass Woodlawn cemetery on his way to work and that he had often been in the vicinity of St. Raymond's cemetery, although he did not know its name.

The battle was interspersed with asides from the witness which were amusing to the crowd. Wilentz was rather deferential to Hauptmann during most of the testimony although he became vitriolic on occasion.

Again, Hauptmann grew impatient as the same question was repeated and relapsed into surliness, remarking: 'I answered that before," or "You've heard the answer."

FIGHT TRANSLATIONS

The translations of the two letters written to Fisch's relatives were offered in evidence and admitted over the objections of the defense lawyers who declared they were not material to the case.

"We will attack the credibility of the witness in these letters," responded Wilentz. "We want to show his theories and statements at a time when he was not under arrest regarding the man whom he now charges with possession of the ransom money."

Prof. Preist read his translation of the letters. The first was dated May 4, 1934. It started off with expressions of grief concerning the news of Fisch's death and referred to Fisch as the writer's "best friend."

"In the spring of 1933," he wrote, "I suggested a small transaction to Isador on which I was certain he would win. And so it happened."

Describes Transactions.

He described how the two of them had conducted other business transactions together until they decided to go into partnership. Each was to put up $17,500, he said, and he wrote: "I gave Isador $5,500 from my private bank account, and $12,000 in stock to make up my $17,500.

He also, he wrote, had lent $2,000 to Fisch to make his trip to Germany because Fisch didn't want to sell any of the furs he held to raise the cash. He advised against the hiring of an attorney to wind up Fisch's affairs and urged the relatives to send him the key to Fisch's safety deposit vault.

"I still have two of Isador's trunks in my apartment," the postscript continued, "but there is nothing of value in them. I plan to go to Germany with my family next year and will bring them along."

The second letter was dated July 8, 1934. Pincus Fisch, brother of the dead man, had written in the meantime authorizing a friend, Henry Uhlig, to act for him, and Hauptmann complained that the authorization is "no good." He again mentioned the fact that the contents of Fisch's trunks had no value and pleaded for the safe deposit box key.

Quizzed on Letters.

"You wrote that you had drawn $5,500 out of your private bank account and given it to Fisch," he remarked. "Will you show us in your accounts where you withdrew $5,500."

"I can't," said Hauptmann. "I didn't withdraw it."

"Then it wasn't true?"

"Well," said the defendant, squirming somewhat, "I just said that to make a long story short. I didn't have to explain all our transactions."

Q.—And there's not a word in the letters that he ever put up a single dollar in 1932? A.—No.

Q.—You wrote that your first transaction for him was in 1933? A.—Yes, but I didn't mention the money he put in before.

Q.—Why? A.—It wasn't necessary.

He explained that the transaction he mentioned in the letter was a market deal in which Fisch put up $2,000 and came out with a profit of $103.

First Paid in August, 1932.

Q.—When was the first time he ever gave you any money? A.—August, 1932.

Q.—But you didn't mention that in the letter. A.—If I put everything in a letter I would have to write a book. It wasn't necessary.

"Where am I trying to mix you up?" demanded Wilentz.

"All over," Hauptmann complained. He leaned forward in his seat, his hands working nervously, and the guard behind the witness chair stepped forward. But there was no demonstration. The defendant took up his letter and started to read it. There was silence while he pored over the writing.

Q.—Was it the truth in that letter? A.—It's the truth, but——

Q.—Was it the truth. A.—It was not necessary——

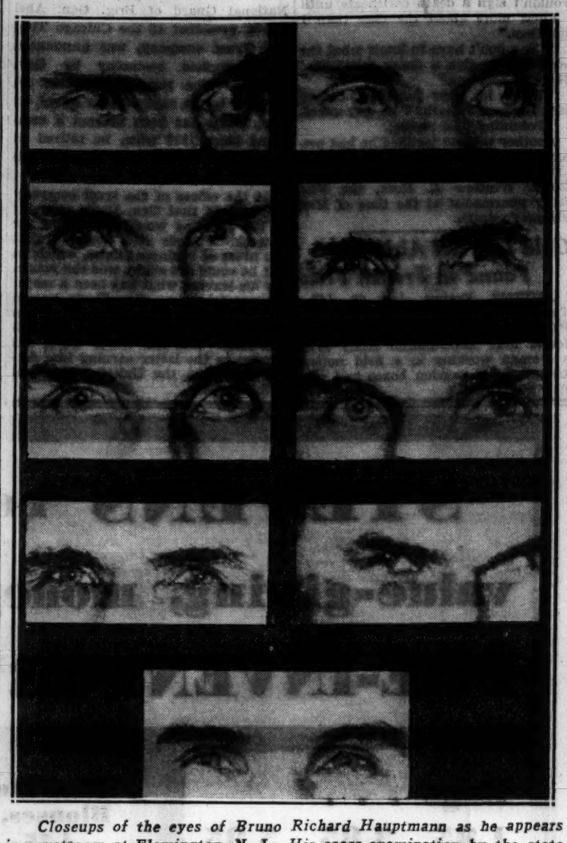

Q.—Did you say in the letter that Fisch gave you $15,000 in 1932? A.—It wasn't necessary.

Q.—You advised against a lawyer? A.—Yes.

Q.—You thought you were good enough to take a lawyer's place? A.—Not that. I meant that when attorneys get through there's nothing left.

Bruno's Eyes Show Varying Moods

Closeups of the eyes of Bruno Richard Hauptmann as he appears in courtroom at Flemington, N. J. His cross-examination by the state was ended yesterday.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

BRUNO EXTORTIONIST BUT NOT KILLER, IS OPINION OF EXPERT

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 29.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann is not guilty of murder of the Lindbergh baby, in the opinion of Austin H. MacCormick, commissioner of correction of New York City, and one of the outstanding penologists of the country.

After watching Hauptmann on the stand and after a study of the case, Commissioner MacCormick said:

"He is not the type to conceive and commit such a crime. He is more the petty criminal type. He may have guilty knowledge of both the kidnaping and the murder, but I do not believe that he actually committed either act.

"I am equally convinced that he is guilty of extortion. Where he got the information, the baby garments, and the other bits of evidence that enabled him to collect the ransom I don't know. That may be where the guilty knowledge came in.

"If he built the kidnap ladder, at least some of the 500 different finger prints found on it by the federal experts would have been Hauptmann's.

"Hauptmann lied on the witness stand," the commissioner said. "He was trying to answer honestly the questions about his banking and brokerage accounts, but he was lying like a trooper on some angles of the Fisch questioning. His every pose revealed it. He was a petty criminal trying to get out of a tough situation. He is not terror stricken because he has convinced himself—or knows—that he is not guilty of the major crime."

HADN'T FOUND RANSOM

Q.—You didn't tell about the ransom money in the letter? A.—I didn't know about it, I hadn't found it at that time.

Q.—But after you did find it, you didn't notify anybody. A.—I was going to.

Q.—Didn't you lie to the police when they found the $20 ransom bill on you and you said it was one of $300 you had collected? A.—The money wasn't stolen. I didn't have to tell the police all about it.

Q.—But you didn't tell the truth. A.—[After a pause]—Correct.

Q.—Regarding Dr. Condon's telephone number on the board in your house, you lied, didn't you? A.—I was so mixed up.

Q.—But you lied? A.—No, No.

Q—Was it the truth? A.—To a certain extent.

"What do you mean by 'a certain extent?'" yelled Wilentz. "Your testimony is always true 'to a certain extent.'"

Hauptmann denied that he had taken his carpenter's tools to the Majestic apartments on the day before the kidnaping and left them there "as an alibi."

Q.—But you did quit work the day the ransom was paid? A.—Yes.

Wilentz stopped to think of another question and Hauptmann volunteered "March 1, 1932 was so long ago. Otherwise I would have fifteen or twenty witnesses to say I worked that day."

Reprimands Hauptmann.

The attorney general asked that this remark be stricken from the records. The judge so ordered and reprimanded Hauptmann.

"Hauptmann, your counsel will give you a chance to talk," he remarked. "You'd better keep quiet."

The cross-examination was over and Attorney Reilly had a few questions to ask on redirect examination before court was over. These concerned allegedly false statements made by Fisch to Hauptmann.

"So he lied, too," remarked the lawyer.

Wilentz objected.

"Were there some letters from Fisch to you in your home?" he asked.

"Yes, and I wish they could be produced here in court," commented Hauptmann.

"Where are they?"

"I don't know, but I suppose the police got them," said the defendant.

Comparative order reigned in the courtroom at the beginning of the morning session. Judge Trenchard's rule against persons standing was not too strictly enforced, but there were several hundreds less present than on the previous day.

Hauptmann was in a gay mood during the first hour. He smiled frequently and even essayed a laugh or two during Wilentz's cross-examination.

The cross-examination opened with queries about Hauptmann's reason for quitting his job on April 2, 1932, the date of the ransom payment. The defendant had insisted that he quit because he discovered that he was to be paid only $80 a month instead of $100. The attorney general forced the witness to admit that his check of $36.67 for the last half of March, 1932, less one day's deduction, indicated that the rate of pay had actually been $100.

Switches to Violet Sharpe.

"You didn't know Violet Sharpe, did you?" asked the prosecutor suddenly.

"No," said Hauptmann, smiling.

"Or anybody that did know her?"

"No, I read about her in the papers," was the answer. [Miss Sharpe was the maid in the Lindbergh home who committed suicide.]

Q.—You bought a radio in 1932 for $400. A.—Yes.

Q.—You already had a Victrola? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you ever put money in there? A.—No.

Q.—In April, or May, or June, or July of 1932 you are sure you didn't have money there? A.—Possibly some rent money.

Q.—Isn't it a fact that during one of those months Fritz Hahn, the restaurant owner, was in your home and you opened the Victrola and there were two envelopes there about fourteen inches long and an inch or so thick and filled with money?

Hauptmann was amused again.

"No, it is not," he answered, smiling.

Q.—You are friends with Hahn. A.—Well——

Q.—There's been no trouble between you? A.—No.

The prosecutor again put the question about the money in the Victrola and Hauptmann again denied that the story was true, laughing as he did so.

Q.—Didn't you tell him he couldn't go into the bedroom? Didn't you say you had given $1,000 to Mrs. Hauptmann for a trip to Germany? A.—No.

Wife Whispers Excitedly.

Mrs. Hauptmann did not think this was as humorous as her husband apparently did. She whispered excitedly to the defense lawyers.

Wilentz repeated more details of the time when Hahn was supposed to have been in the Hauptmann home and the defendant remarked, easily:

"Who told you to say that?" Wilentz barked in return, "one of your advisors?"

"No one."

"Weren't you told by them to signal your wife to holler at a witness when she was on the stand?"

"That's ridiculous," was Hauptmann's answer.

"About the story that you took the dog out for a walk the night of the kidnaping," remarked Wilentz, "were you told to make that story up, too? Weren't you asked by the police what you did that night and made no mention about a dog?"

"There were so many little things to forget," responded Hauptmann with a gesture of his hands.

Never Mentioned Dog Before.

Q.—You never mentioned that dog before, did you? A.—No, but I remembered after about the dog. I guess I know it, but I didn't think it was important.

Q.—Who told you to put the dog in? A.—I found out about it myself.

Q.—And you say now again that you never opened the Victrola and there were two bundles of money there that Hahn saw? A.—I can't even remember he was there.

Q.—Tell us where you got the hundreds of dollars of silver that you deposited after April, 1932. A.—The deposit slips were mistakes. Sometimes I put down $100 after "silver" when I mean bills.

Hauptmann was smiling again. He pointed to one deposit of $186 which, according to the deposit slip, had all been in silver coins.

Shows Teller's Correction.

One deposit slip had shown $139 in currency, deposited, Wilentz pointed out to the witness, but the teller had crossed out the figures and put them after the designation "silver." But Hauptmann insisted that he had never made such a large deposit in coins.

"The banker don't care where you put the figures so long as the amount is correct," he remarked.

Wilentz began questioning the defendant about his deals with Fisch, his partner in the fur business. He asked Hauptmann to look at an account book and identify it as his. Hauptmann studied the book for a good five minutes. When Wilentz tried to take the book back, the witness pushed him away. He finally stated that the book was his and had been made out by him.

Q.—You didn't keep this book to hide anything or fool anybody? A.—No, but it's not all there. [Hauptmann has testified that Fisch gave him $15,000 to put into the stock market but the book shows only $2,000 given him by Fisch.]

Q.—Is it correct or incorrect? A. [after a pause]—Incorrect.

Q.—Why? A.—Some of it was not my business.

Q.—You were Fisch's broker? A.—Yes.

Q.—You handled his money? A.—Yes.

SHIFTS TO FLORIDA TRIP

Another shift by Wilentz followed.

Q.—After April 2, 1932, you bought a canoe? A.—Yes.

Q.—Went on hunting trips? A.—Yes.

Q.—Your wife went to Germany? A.—Yes.

Q.—Neither you nor she were working? A.—I made enough on the market.

Q.—Wasn't she disgusted because you quit your job? A.—No.

Q.—Didn't she say to you, "Richard, you're not working and we have only a few dollars in the bank?" A.—No.

Q.—Didn't she often complain about your not working? A.—No, she didn't holler at me.

"When you were arrested," Wilentz said, "you said you had been circulating ransom notes for the last few weeks. Why had you been doing that? Because you needed the money?"

"O, no," was the answer. "There was no particular reason for putting it in circulation. I didn't want to take money out of the stock account."

Admits Spending Bills.

Q.—How many ransom bills did you spend? A.—About twelve or fifteen.

Q.—Not more than $300 altogether? A.—That's right.

Q.—You didn't spend them just to cash them? A.—No.

Q.—Not to get rid of them and have others? A.—It was handy.

"Why, if you needed money so badly, did you deposit a couple of hundred dollars in August and September, 1934?" he asked.

Hauptmann began a long rambling answer which nobody could understand. The smile was gone and he stumbled over his words.

"Are you confused or something?" Wilentz inquired, softly.

"O, no," was the answer.

Q.—Well, what's your explanation of those deposits.

Separate Account, He Says.

Hauptmann finally declared that he had started a separate account for his contemplated trip to Germany. He admitted that his wife had not known of the existence of this account.

"I wanted to build it up little by little," he said.

"But you had thousands of dollars of those gold certificates," said Wilentz.

"It was never my intention," remarked Hauptmann, "to spend more than I did of money."

Q.—What did you intend to do with it? A.—Give it to Mr. Fisch's brother. I was going to keep $2,000 for my self which he owed me and give him the other $12,000.

He had made a separate package of the $2,000, he testified, in order "to be on the safe side if trouble comes up." He defined "trouble" as the possibility that Fisch's relatives might insist that Fisch left more money.

Q.—Why did you hide that money? A.—Because somebody might take it away.

Q.—Why would some one take it away? A.—Because it was money.

Q.—You had a bank account, a vault, why didn't you put it there, why a garage? [No answer.]

"Waiting for a Letter."

Hauptmann admitted that he had had possession of the $14,000 for at least a month and had made no move to notify the Fisch relatives of finding it.

"I was waiting for Pincus Fisch to answer my last letter," he said.

"Yesterday, you said you were waiting for Fisch to come over," Wilentz reminded him.

"As a matter of fact you were planning to go to Germany, weren't you?" Wilentz asked.

"O, that was planned for a year already," was the reply.

Many along the press benches noted that this was the phraseology used in two of the ransom notes when the writer wrote. "This kidnaping was planned for a year already." Wilentz himself brought up the comparison later. There ensued a long dialog about the cash that Hauptmann said he always kept hidden in a trunk in his home without the knowledge of his wife. On April 2, 1932, the date of the ransom payment, there was $4,300 in cash in the trunk, he asserted.

Brings Up "Year Already."

"Now," said Wilentz, suddenly, "I'm going to read you a quotation from the ransom notes."

He read the sentence about the kidnaping being planned "for a year already."

"Now you used that same expression yourself awhile ago," he reminded Hauptmann. "That's your method, your style of speech, isn't it?"

"How would you say it?" retorted Hauptmann, unabashed.

Attorney Reilly was indignant and objected.

"That's unjust and improper and is meant to leave in the lap of this jury the inference that this defendant is guilty of a crime because he used a certain phrase," he declared.

Q.—When you were arrested, you said, "I'm afraid they will hook me up with this money, didn't you? A.—I can't remember.

Q.—You won't say you didn't? A.—I've answered the question.

Q.—Were you afraid? A.—I was illegally in this country.

Q.—Did you tell the police you didn't turn it in because you didn't know where the federal Reserve bank was? A.—I can't remember. I couldn't think so fast then.

Had Deposited $750 Earlier.

Q.—But you knew you had already deposited $750 of your own gold notes in the Federal Reserve bank? A.—Yes. But I was afraid to take the $14,000 because it was such a large amount and I would be questioned.

Delving into Hauptmann's financial transactions, Wilentz asked Hauptmann how he accounted for the deposits totaling $16,000 in the brokerage account and $9,000 in the bank account which were made after the payment of the ransom.

"Well, for instance, I had $2,000 in the bank," said the defendant. "I would take out $1,000 and put it to work. Then maybe the next week I would put it back. It was the same money. There was no new money."

Hauptmann said he lost all the $15,000 given to him by Fisch in market speculations.

SIDELIGHTS OF THE TRIAL

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—For the first time in the four weeks of the Hauptmann trial bets were being freely offered tonight that the Bronx carpenter would escape a conviction through a "hung" jury.

The basis for these wagers was an incident just before a five minute recess during the afternoon session today. Hauptmann, as he stepped down from the witness chair turned deliberately and faced the jury and smiled. He received several answering smiles, including a cordial grin from one of the women members of the jury.

This apparent presence of sympathy between the defendant and his twelve peers in the box was quickly noted and was the principal topic of comment in the lobby of the Union hotel tonight. Bets were freely offered and as freely taken that the jury would disagree. There was, however, no acquittal money in sight.

Wilentz asked Bruno more than 6,000 questions in the 10 hours and 46 minutes of cross-examination and Hauptmann made more than 5,000 answers, it was estimated today.

These figures are based upon a stopwatch check of questions and answers taken at three different periods today.

Hauptmann was quite well pleased with himself upon the completion of today's session. He stepped down from the stand, saying:

"I could have stayed there for a week."

Shins suffered and hats were knocked askew in an after lunch jam at the side door of the courthouse. A crowd of curious women, barred by new regulations designed to keep better order at the trial, rushed the gate, only to run into a solid wall of state troopers.

A bystander felt the edge of Mrs. Hauptmann's ire. The defendant's wife turned suddenly on one of a crowd around the door and said bitterly:

"Because of you I cannot bring my baby to court."

After hammering at him for two days Attorney General Wilentz thinks Hauptmann is a good witness "considering the position he is in."

Wilentz said he did not want a confession from Bruno, just his testimony; that "if he were the kind of man who showed more nervousness, he wouldn't have committed the crime."

A London visitor was among the spectators at the trial today. She was Mrs. Gerald Maxwell, who came with three New York women, Mrs. Frederick Moseley Jr., wife of a banker, Mrs. Ralph Ingersoll, wife of a magazine editor, and Mrs. Richard Tucker.

"My country admires the police system that brought about the capture of Hauptmann," said Mrs. Maxwell. "There was a tremendous amount of talk about the case when I left London."

Bruno was less tired-appearing than Wilentz today. He was fresh-faced, faced the prosecutor squarely and often smilingly. The spectators were orderly and there was less tittering than previously.

Mrs. Hauptmann turned five times to look at the clock during the last hour of Bruno's questioning. She was vastly relieved when court ended and she still had not been called as a witness. She had her blond hair freshly curled and her nails newly polished for the event, which she obviously would prefer not to have occur.

The state will have another go at Hauptmann sometime tomorrow. It was pointed out that Wilentz will have the privilege of re-cross-examining after the defense finishes with re-direct examination. The reason is that Hauptmann's lawyers have asked for the five letters Isador Fisch wrote Hauptmann from Germany. These the state could not introduce as evidence, but after the defense once brings them to official notice, it is the prerogative of the state to cross-examine on the new evidence brought out.

Maryland Jarboe, blonde show girl, had a seat at the trial today beside Jack Benny. Relatives of Attorney General Wilentz were given a whole row. The youthful Mrs. Edward J. Reilly sat behind her husband, the chief of defense counsel, and watched proceedings in gay mood. Mrs. Hauptmann and Reilly held frequent whispered confabs.

The ladies who had battled through the worst jam of the trial to hear Mrs. Hauptmann's three alibis for her husband were not so well pleased with the adjournment tonight. They'll have the whole war to fight over tomorrow.

U. S. WILL PUSH HOARDING COUNT IF BRUNO WINS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The treasury is prepared to institute proceedings against Richard Bruno Hauptmann for gold hoarding if he is acquitted of the kidnaping and murder charge in New Jersey.

Officials said today that under the amended federal reserve act, a hoarder of gold could be fined twice the amount of the gold so held, and the gold confiscated.

In addition, it was said, Hauptmann would be liable for a criminal penalty of $10,000 and ten years' imprisonment.

YOUTH FREED IN AUTO COURT.

Walter Rice, 18 years old, of Cameron, Mo., arrested a week ago for stealing a truck on which he had begged a ride to Chicago, was freed by Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Automobile court yesterday after Rice's father testified the youth was mentally unbalanced.

PODERJAY LANDS; INSISTS LAWYER WIFE IS LIVING

'Can't Recall' When He's Asked Details.

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Capt. Ivan Ivanovitch Poderjay of Vienna and London came back to New York today on the S. S. President Polk. He arrived, handcuffed to a detective.

He came to answer an indictment charging bigamy in his marriage to Miss Agnes Colonia Tufverson, a New York corporation lawyer, who disappeared mysteriously four days after their wedding in December, 1933. Today when being photographed the captain wanted to pose "so the girls must see I look nice."

Captain Cannot Recall.

Standing like a soldier on the wind blown deck of the President Polk, Capt. Poderjay answered questions with: "I don't remember."

"Where is Miss Tufverson?" asked a reporter.

"I don't re—I mean to say, I can't tell you that," the captain replied. "But do not worry. Not dead. I can tell you that."

She had vanished when supposed to be on her way from their apartment to a steamship line.

"When did you see her last, captain?" was the next question.

"Ah," he said, smiling again, "I don't remember. I don't remember."

"When did you last hear from Miss Tufverson, captain?" he was asked.

"That I cannot say. I don't remember. Indeed, I don't remember," he replied.

Smiles at Compliment.

Somebody in the crowd of interviewers then said: "This man is nobody's fool."

The captain smiled pleasantly at the battery of cameras and said: "Yes. That is right. I am nobody's fool. Make it snappy, boys, what else?"

In answer to a question concerning the charge of bigamy, Capt. Poderjay said: "I have no feelings about it. I cannot have any feelings about it. Not until I know the American law. If I have done wrong I will do the right thing and take my punishment. I did no wrong. My marriages were all right legal."

USE OF CHICAGO POLICE AS RELIEF WORKERS URGED

Cost Cut and Protection of Staf Seen.

A cut in the high cost of relief administration and elimination of the dangers to girl case workers could be accomplished by having city policemen make routine investigations of relief families, according to a plan described yesterday by County Commissioner Peter M. Kelly of the public service committee of the county board.

Policemen and firemen instead of "girl graduate" sociologists make such investigations in Jersey City, N. J., it was said. Commissioner Kelly asserted that under such a system the county board will have to take over the care of 30,000 "unemployed" relief families after July 1.

Certain Cost Cut Seen.

"The use of police would radically reduce the overhead of the relief commission," said Kelly, "even if the city had to hire additional policemen, since there are more than 2,000 senior and junior case workers and case aids in Cook county now.

"The change would virtually eliminate the chance of such tragedies as we saw here last week, when Miss Alice Mae Irwin, a case worker, was shot to death by crazed relief clients in their home. It is a dangerous thing for a young girl to go into some of these relief homes. I understand it is common for them to be threatened or struck by clients."

Executive Secretary Wilfred S. Reynolds of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission refused to comment on any of the points of the Jersey City system.

Dangers of Relief Work.

He said, however, that no changes are contemplated as a result of last week's shooting. In that tragedy two relief clients, Henry Arden and his mother, Mrs. Ruth Arden, killed Miss Irwin in their home, then went to the Lincoln park relief station and wounded three more employés of the commission. Arden then killed his mother and himself. One of the wounded trio, Miss Caroline Wallace, district supervisor, died.

The funeral of Miss Irwin was held yesterday at Lincoln, Ill. The Rev. George Kimball of Chicago, speaking at the rites, said that her death "should remind officials of the constant danger surrounding the social worker's activity in time of stress."

AVOIDABLE

Chicago's 1935 Trafic Toll

Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile accidents are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

Injuries Are Fatal to Victim of Auto Mishap

August Holm, 62 years old, 3345 Hutchinson street, died yesterday at the Martha Washington hospital of injuries suffered a week ago when he was struck by an automobile at Western avenue and Irving Park boulevard. The driver, Alfred F. Withrow, 31 years old, 619 Fifth avenue, Des Plaines, was not held by police. The death of Holm brought the Cook county motor toll to 62 since Jan. 1. Automobile deaths within the city limits totaled 51 at 4 p. m. yesterday and the number of injured 1,148.

7 SAFETY CARS TO BROADCAST TRAFIC ADVICE

Representatives of Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe committee will set out from the La Salle street entrance of the city hall at 11 a. m. tomorrow in seven automobiles equipped with loud speakers so that they may broadcast safe driving suggestions, according to an announcement yesterday by Barnet Hodes, director of the committee's safety campaign.

The cars are to tour the city for five weeks, two machines patroling the loop and one each of the city's five outlying areas. They are to be manned by fourteen expert autoists, each of whom has received for three successive years the safe driving award of the National Safety council in Washington.

A clerk in each safety automobile will record examples of unusual conduct in trafic and the motorists involved will receive from the committee letters of blame or of praise.

M. E. EDUCATOR ASKS CHANGE IN TEACHING PLAN

Church Board to Hear His Report Today.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

When the Methodist Episcopal board of education starts its annual sessions this morning at 740 Rush street it will be confronted with a demand that the whole educational policy of international Methodism be recast.

DR. F. C. EISELEN.

This board, made up of bishops, clergymen and educators, guides policies governing the religious education of 4,229,000 pupils and has a weighty influence on the methods used in 88 institutions, including five great universities. It will be asked to consider the restoration of the lost emphasis on fundamental knowledge and its sources.

Demands Made by Dr. Eiselen.

Making these demands it was learned, last night, is the Rev. Dr. F. C. Eiselen, who heads the board of education under the title of corresponding secretary. The demands are phrased in a report entitled "Re-thinking Christian Education."

Dr. Eiselen's point apparently is that there has been too much emphasis in recent years on the "project" or "functional" method of teaching—the method which requires the pupil to work out problems and gather information for himself. He advocates at least a partway return to the traditional "three R" method of instruction, although he makes clear that the "project" system should not be thrown entirely overboard. A compromise between the two methods will work to the pupil's advantage, his report says.

Questions Pestalozzi Guidance.

It points out that the functional approach to education, with its emphasis on "learning through doing" and "self-education through activity," is already under fire from some noted educators.

Dr. Eiselen dares to question the principles of Pestalozzi, Italian educator who founded the functional school of teaching.

"Are we to achieve the best results by following the advice of Pestalozzi?" Dr. Eiselen asks, quoting the Italian educator as saying: "We ought to read nothing; we ought to discover everything."

"May not educational results be tragically superficial, Dr. Eiselen goes on, "if he [the learner] gives insufficient attention to the experiences and achievement of other individuals or groups or to the experiences and achievements of the race?"

Instead of presenting materials to be studied and mastered under the functionalists' methods, the report continues, "the newer method is concerned with developing the experiences of the learner, and controling those experiences as the learner meets and responds to the situations in the normal activities of life."

The board of education will be in session today and tomorrow.

THREATENS TO KILL RELIEF WORKERS IN 'REVENGE' FOR NEGLECT

Leroy Becker, 35 years old, 2114 Wellington street, phoned police headquarters last night threatening to kill some one in the Welles park relief station at Montrose and Western avenues unless his wife received the measure of relief he demanded.

Becker's threat was referred to Capt. Thomas Duffy of the Shefield avenue station. Fearing he might be armed, Capt. Duffy led three squads to the house, surrounded it, and arrested Becker. When Becker repeated his threats a disorderly conduct charge was lodged against him and he was held overnight at the police station for arraignment this morning in the Town Hall court. Mrs. Becker was not arrested.

117,453 NAMES ADDED TO CITY POLLING LISTS

Yesterday's intermediate registration added the names of 117,453 voters to the Chicago polling lists, making the total registration in the city 1,578,499. That total will be reduced by the revision Saturday night. This process probably will strike off half the increase.

Yesterday's low total was not a surprise to election officials since the intermediate registration last October for the November battle brought out 317,435 registrants and there has been relatively little moving since then.

The figures for the wards showing the revised registration last fall, the number of names put on the books yesterday, and the resultant unrevised totals follow:

FATHER ORDERED HELD TO JURY IN DEATH OF BABY

William Ziegler, 21 years old, 6039 Eberhart avenue, was recommended held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of his daughter, Beverly, 13 months old. The child died in Albert Merritt Billings hospital Jan. 10.

At a previous hearing, Ziegler and his wife, Jean, 20 years old, who sat by his side at the inquest yesterday, testified that the baby died of injuries suffered when she fell from a day bed. Yesterday Miss Dorothy Mae Peters, 14 years old, who has been employed as a nurse girl by the Zieglers, testified that Ziegler had bathed the child in ice water, pulled her legs, stood her on her head, and tossed her onto a day bed to "give the baby a healthy body."

When the verdict of the jurors was announced Mrs. Ziegler threw herself into her husband's arms and sobbed that the "verdict was unfair."

The special election was called to fill the vacancy created when Frederick Landis, Republican, died shortly after the November election.

Halleck, youthful attorney of Rensselaer, will be the only Republican from Indiana in the lower house. Durgan, defeated by Landis in November, recently completed his first term in the house.

The Depression Didn't Stop the Surface Lines

- Five million dollars spent for new extensions.
- Thirty-three million dollars spent in improving track and overhead and in overhauling equipment.
- Not a single operating employe laid off because of the decline in business and more than 1,000 men added to the train force.

That is the record of the Chicago Surface Lines during the past four years—years that have meant stagnation in many industries.

More than 28 miles of rail extensions and 58 miles of trolley bus or gasoline bus extensions have been built. And this despite the fact that the properties are operating on temporary extensions of the 1907 ordinances, making the obtaining of new money impossible.

The largest trolley bus system in the world has been installed on the northwest side, pioneering in the use of this new type of equipment. Since then other cities have followed the lead of Chicago, but this is still the largest system.

Pioneering also in rail equipment, two new street cars of radically new design have been built and placed in service. These cars, which have attracted the attention of the entire country, will provide the pattern for the street car of the future.

To serve the Century of Progress Exposition, expensive rail extensions were built to the gates and 22,000,000 passengers were carried to and from the Fair.

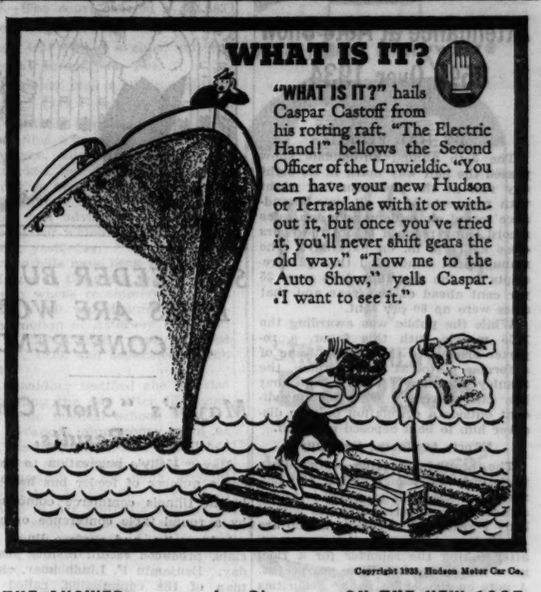

The operating force was maintained intact throughout the depression and more than 1,000 employes were added.

Street car employes contributed $782,000 for relief, caring for the needy in their own ranks and giving more than $250,000 to outside relief. No Surface Lines operating employe became a public charge.

The Chicago Surface Lines has faith in Chicago—faith in its people and in its future. It is one of Chicago's biggest taxpayers. The money it collects in serving the public is spent at home.

It is a Chicago institution.

PIONEER STANLEY STEAMER TRIES FOR COMEBACK

Attendance at Auto Show 35% Over 1934.

BY HAL FOUST.

The 35th annual automobile show passed the half way mark in its eight day run at the Coliseum last night with prospects of an all time attendance record and a depression era sales record being reached before the doors close at 11 p. m. on Saturday. The management announced that gate receipts for the first four days were 35 per cent ahead of last year and that sales were up 60 per cent.

While the public was awarding the 1935 models with this favor, a reporter discovered the current issue of a former autocrat of motordom, the Stanley Steamer. It was somewhat like interviewing a curbstone mendicant outside a coronation only to discover him to be a deposed monarch.

Efforts to Revive Company.

The Stanley Steamer, outstanding performer and leader among the pioneer horseless buggies, today is represented by an experimental bus with a body 7 years old. Promoters who are attempting to revive the company, after taking the reporter for a ride, gave him a stock selling prospectus. A note on the leaflet read "Securities in class 'D' under Illinois law, these are speculative securities."

At the wheel of the bus wearing a cap with a bent visor was John Brause, who was an engineer for the steam automobile manufacturing twins—F. O. and F. E. Stanley—a quarter of a century ago. In a front seat wearing a derby was the well groomed Harry W. Gahagan, formerly prominent in subdivision promotion, who is president of the fairly recently incorporated Stanley Steam Motors corporation.

Has Records to Credit.

The Stanley brothers, organized as the Stanley Motor Carriage company, began production of horseless buggies in 1896, and for the next two decades their products were marvels. One car established a world's speed record of 30 miles an hour. There was a popular belief that no one ever dared to give a full throttle to one of the cars so no one knew the maximum speed.

The self-starter was the first of the advancements in internal combustion engines that set back the steamers. To start a steamer when the water was cold it took 10 minutes to get pressure in a boiler. With other refinements in gas engines the steamers went out of business. The Stanley brothers produced their last in 1927.

Mechanical Advantages Cited.

The use of steam is now being revived for bus and truck service. An integral advantage of this mechanicism for this service is that the engine develops and stores power while the vehicle is stopped for lights or loadings, and uses this reserve power for acceleration at the start when power is most needed. Gas engineers have strived without much progress to obtain such a power storage without using the excessively heavy electric battery.

"When we raise the money," said Mr. Gahagan, "we'll begin production from a Chicago plant. The boiler, under the hood in this experimental model, will be in the rear with the two steam cylinders. We'll make eight miles on a gallon of water and a gallon of kerosene, and with no gears to shift, no clutch, and none of the other complicated parts of a gasoline assembly we'll also sell to railroads, who are familiar with the advantages of steam."

SIX FEEDER BUS LINES ARE WON IN CONFERENCE

Mayor's "Short Cut" Gets Results.

Mayor Kelly's suggestion to shortcut a number of feeder bus hearings in the Illinois commerce commission by a round table conference of commission, city, and surface lines' officials, produced record results yesterday. Benjamin F. Lindheimer, chairman of the commission, called the conference at 11 a. m. and five hours later announced that an agreement had been reached to put in six extensions, adding almost 12 miles of feeder bus service to the street car system.

Gasoline motor coaches are to be put into service for all of the extensions except on Diversey boulevard, from Western avenue to Milwaukee avenue, a route of 1.2 miles on which electric trolley buses will be used.

Five Other Extensions Settled.

The other five extensions agreed on are:

It was estimated by Attorney Harry P. Weber, surface lines' counsel at the conference, that 40 to 50 buses would be needed for the extensions, and that the cost would be about $350,000. Mr. Weber said that Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, in whose court the lines are in receivership, would be petitioned at once for permission to spend the money.

It was said that the buses would probably be put into service in about sixty days. They are to be of the latest type.

These extensions, with eight miles more to be put in operation on the Higgins road and the Northwest highway to the city limits, will make a total of 20 miles of new feeder bus service that will be operating in the spring. The Higgins road and Northwest highway buses will number 30.

Engineers Reach Agreement.

Yesterday's conference opened with a brief statement of the situation by Chairman Lindheimer, who pointed out the time and needless expense of long drawn out proceedings, and the need for service extensions in outlying parts of the city.

Then, on the chairman's suggestion, engineers representing the commission, the city and the car lines were directed to go into executive session to decide which of the routes asked in petitions pending before the commission had real merit. The engineers were E. J. McIlraith for the surface lines, Charles E. De Leuw for the commission, and Maj. R. E. Kelker for the city.

At 4 p. m. they made their report and the agreement was accepted by the surface lines' representatives.

Those petitions on which the engineers were unable to reach agreement will be the subject of hearings before the commission.

REALTY MAN ROBBED OF $575.

As James Calek, 9126 South Winchester avenue, partner in a real estate concern at 5100 South Marshfield avenue, was en route to close a business deal yesterday, three gunmen forced his automobile to the curb at 1037 Blue Island avenue and robbed him of $575.

NOTES OF THE AUTO SHOW

Alfred Reeves, executive vice president of the Automobile Manufacturers' association, departed for New York yesterday after five days in Chicago for the motor show. He congratulated the Chicago Automobile Trade association upon the records in sales and attendance that are being made at the Coliseum this week. The local group is managing the exhibit this year for the first time. Formerly it was managed by the manufacturers.

W. C. Cowling, general sales manager for Ford Motor company, told a luncheon meeting in the Drake hotel yesterday that money for new car purchases was coming from farm areas "and it isn't all government money." He said that families are buying automobiles with funds that had been horded. Arthur Hatch, head of the Lincoln division, pointed out the economic significance of increased sales in high priced vehicles.

W. R. Bellows, general manager of Packard, reported yesterday that a growing bank of orders for the new low priced models has prompted a production schedule of 2,000 units for February, 4,000 for March, and 4,500 monthly thereafter.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of Buick Motor company, yesterday showed telegrams from all parts of the country indicating that the spurt in automobile sales in Chicago is not a purely local pickup.

K. T. Keller, president of Dodge, points out that the boost in automobile sales not only indicates a popular belief that better times are here but actually will promote better times, since the motor car factories are leading consumers of the nation's raw materials.

Roy H. Faulkner, president of Auburn, in addressing a dealer luncheon at the Stevens hotel yesterday, emphasized the importance of salesmanship in maintaining or raising the American standard of living.

BRITAIN READY TO REJECT FRENCH PLEA FOR PACTS

Will Not Pledge Army and Navy in Alliance.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29. — When the French statesmen, Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin and Foreign Minister Pierre Laval arrive in London Thursday night to try to draw Great Britain into the system of pacts with which France is trying to build a ring of steel around Germany, they will find what may be described in English slang as a decidedly "sticky" situation.

The British will be polite and cooperative, but they are not giving any more blank checks. The Locarno treaty [guaranteeing frontiers] is as far as they will go in the way of security pacts, and they are not so sure even that Locarno was not farther than they ought to have gone.

Resent Boss Complex.

Moreover, there is a growing resentment in Britain at what is regarded as the French attitude of dictatorship to Europe. Britain is as anxious as any one for permanent peace and will go a long way to get it, but she does not feel that even for that great end she should pledge her army and navy to France and assume with Germany a position of permanent inferiority.

On the other hand, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon, who will conduct the talks with the French visitors, will do all in their power to bring peace in Europe by a process of what was described today by a British diplomat as "synchronization." What that means is this:

The French at the moment are demanding that the Germans rejoin the league of nations and adhere to the whole basketful of French pacts with Russia, the little entente, central Europe, and almost everywhere else, before they will even consider Germany's demand for recognition of her technical right to equality in armaments.

No Chance for Alliance.

Germany says she will not consider these proposals until her right to equality of arms is recognized, but does say she is willing to disarm as much as any one else if that right is granted. Britain sees that her task is to bring about a realization of both the French and German demands simultaneously — hence synchronization.

One thing the British will not do in any circumstances, that is to enter a definite alliance with France which would compel her to fight France's battles, no matter who is the aggressor. This, if the government inspired French press is any guide, is what the French intend to demand when they come to London.

Any British government which undertook such a commitment, or for that matter any war commitment to a foreign country, would not survive ten minutes after the news got to the house of commons. Therefore it will not be done.

Seeks Stabilization.

The French also are doomed to disappointment in another matter, again if the French press accurately represents government intentions. It is reported that the French statesmen intend to insist on stabilization of international exchange and the return of Britain to the gold standard.

Such a step is impossible until the dollar and pound are stabilized, and Flandin and Laval will be told politely by Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain what he told parliament a month ago, that the time for such stabilization is still a long way off.

The talks will take place at 10 Downing street and are expected to be concluded Saturday when Laval returns to France. Flandin, who has many friends in England and likes English shooting, may stay over the week-end to kill a few pheasants.

ROBBED 3 TIMES, JEWELER SHOOTS FOURTH INVADER

John Berg has been held up three times in recent years, so he keeps guns in handy places throughout his jewelry store at 3405 West North avenue.

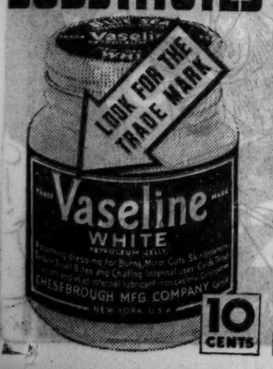

Berg and a friend, Seldon Nelson, 1742 Humboldt boulevard, were in a rear room of the store last evening when a stranger entered and shouted for them to stay where they were. Under cover of a portiere Berg seized a shotgun and fired a blast through the curtain. There were curses and several shots and the sound of a man in flight. After a safe interval Berg investigated and found that the invader had fired shots through the showcases in his flight. Bloodstains showed he had been wounded.

In August, 1933, two robbers bound Berg and his wife and robbed the store of $2,000 in jewelry. Berg wriggled loose and gave chase, capturing Thomas Allen, who is now serving a prison term for the robbery.

BLAME ILLNESS FOR SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide because of ill health was returned yesterday by the coroner's jury investigating the death in the county hospital Monday of Mrs. Mary Carr, 59 years old, 8934 Exchange avenue, who swallowed poison in her home Jan. 25.

URUGUAY REBELS STORM CAPITAL'S ARMY BARRACKS

Revolt Troops Dodge Federals; 5 Killed.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 29.—A dispatch from Colonia, Uruguay, tonight said that a large group of armed civilians attacked the barracks of the 4th Artillery regiment in Montevideo late this afternoon. They had not been dispersed when the message was sent.

This was the first report of a disturbance in the capital since a revolt broke out against President Gabriel Terra early yesterday. Trouble had been expected there as a result of the action of the main wing of the Baltlista party this morning in joining the uprising. It is very strong in Montevideo, while the Indeuendent Nationalist party, which launched the revolt, is stronger in the interior.

Admit Rebels Still at Large.

The strict censorship that was maintained yesterday was still further tightened today. The government's communications, however, admit several large groups of rebels are still at large, while reports reaching Buenos Aires from Argentina and Brazilian points on the Uruguayan frontier paint matters much worse than the government admits.

Loyal troops defeated two large groups of rebels in sharp clashes yesterday but did not succeed in dispersing them, and there has been no official report of a definite government victory at any point. Several prominent revolutionary leaders have been captured, but a government statement this afternoon admitted that the real chiefs had not yet been caught.

Five Killed in Battle.

Government troops regained possession of Soriano on the Uruguay river and captured a rebel leader. Another rebel group, reported to be 300 strong, retreated when its leader, Ovidio Alonso, was seriously wounded in a battle with a battalion of infantry at Rosario, near Colonia. Five men were reported killed in this clash.

These two groups were reported this afternoon to be marching toward Flores, 95 miles north of Montevideo, or Durazno, at either of which cities it is believed the revolutionists are trying to concentrate for action against Montevideo.

The government's two day delay in sending troops into the interior was reported to have resulted from uncertainty as to their loyalty. Several army officers are involved in the revolt and it is reported, although not confirmed, that several federal garrisons in the interior are showing sympathy toward the rebels.

Reports indicate that the revolutionists are about 3,500 strong in all, but are scattered.

CHINESE-RUSSIAN DEAL REPORTED TO BLOCK JAPAN

Nanking's Envoy Rushes Back to Moscow.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Jan. 29.—W. W. Yen, former Chinese minister to Washington and later ambassador to Russia, today announced his decision to return to his post at Moscow immediately. Soviet authorities are providing a special steamer from Shanghai to Vladivostok, obviating the necessity of Yen traveling through the Japanese controled state of Manchukuo.

Other passengers on the same steamer will include Mei Lan-fang, China's famous actor, with a troup of thirty-two, and a group of Chinese professors.

See New Pact Against Japan.

The collapse of the red movement in China, combined with Ambassador Yen's sudden return to Moscow, are responsible for the belief here that China is reëstablishing relations on a new basis of coöperation. Chinese authorities are deeply impressed by the soviet military defense preparations along the Siberian border and also the soviet naval development in Vladivostok harbor.

Chinese newspapers gave prominence to the declaration of Vlacheslav Molotov, president of the union council of people's commissars, at the seventh all union congress of soviets in Moscow, that the U. S. S. R. stands firmly for the integrity of China and complete sovereignty of the Nanking government over all Chinese territories. This statement is regarded here as a bid for Chinese coöperation against Japanese aggression, particularly in inner Mongolia, where it will likely also affect the soviet position in outer Mongolia.

Jap Envoys Reach Nanking.

Ambassador Yen's return to Moscow was announced simultaneously with the arrival in Nanking of the Japanese minister, Akira Ariyoshi, Lieut. Gen. Yoshimichi Suzuki, Japanese military attaché, and Col. Kagesa, representing the Japanese army in Manchukuo. Despite denials from both Tokio and Nanking, reports persist that they are seeking an agreement with the Chinese government for the economic and financial development of China under Japanese auspices.

Reports from Peiping allege that the Japanese are continuing to advance into the Chinese province of Chahar. A Japanese war plane dropped circulars on the town of Kuyuan, stating that Japanese troops are continuing to advance westward into inner Mongolia.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Although not confirmed by diplomatic reports from Tokio, the latest reports of a new Japanese policy on China seem plausible enough in Great Britain to cause alarm in official quarters. As they are in line with what was apprehended would be Japan's next move after it had denounced the Washington naval treaty.

The American and British delegates to the London naval discussions, which ended last month, shared the fear that Japan's throwing off of the treaty restrictions on its naval strength was only a preliminary step to it breaking loose from the whole collective system set up in the Pacific by the nine-power treaty and other agreements of the Washington conference in 1921 and 1922.

According to reports received in London, Foreign Minister Hirota's major effort in 1935 will be devoted to luring China into a separate treaty with Japan.

Finds Miser's Gold Hoarded on Farm in Kentucky

Whitesburg, Ky., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Razing an old barn on his premises Jake Bentley, a farmer of Upper Rockhouse Creek found an old pot containing more than $600 in gold and silver coins, some of them dated more than a hundred years ago. The late Miles Hall, believed a miser in his day, once occupied the premises, the lands being handed down to Bentley, a relative. Hall died about fifty years ago without revealing the hiding place of his money. Hogs years later nosed up a few gold pieces.

U. S. NAVY FLYERS DROP FOOD SUPPLY TO SNOWBOUND FAMILY

Lakehurst, N. J., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Food, the first in days, was dropped by navy flyers today to a marooned family of four, deep in the Ocean county woodland. Bingham Myers, father of the snowbound family, staggered through the drifts in a blinding snowstorm and retrieved the two bales of supplies dropped by a parachute.

Three navy flyers manned the plane. As a passenger it carried Dr. Edward I. Smith, owner of the farm on which the Myers live, who arrived at the naval station today exhausted from a trip out to get aid and food. Dr. Smith said he and three brothers came out together. They had been so weak from a trip in to the stricken family that they were forced to eat the last remaining food before they could recover sufficiently to get out again. That was Saturday night.

The flyers dropped six loaves of bread, six cans of peas, six cans of beans, six cans of evaporated milk, six tins of meat, six cans of tomatoes, three pounds of butter, two of coffee, a dozen candles, a dozen chocolate bars for the two Myers children, two packages of smoking tobacco, and a box of matches.

Meanwhile in Lakewood another rescue was taking place. Six miles from the Myers house Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sennert and their son, Dani, 15, had been snowbound since last Wednesday. Neighbors today carried them coal, food and blankets. They found Dani in danger of death from pneumonia.

JAPAN TO BOOST NAVAL BUDGET TO NEW RECORD HIGH

"No Turning Back!" Is Edict of Government.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 29.—The admission that Japan's naval budget, already the largest in the nation's history, will grow bigger rather than smaller from now on, at least until the end of 1936, was extracted from Minister of Navy Admiral Mineo Osumi in the diet today by Deputy Dr. Gotaro Ogawa. This will be so whether Japan engages in a naval race or not, Osumi said.

"Like an eel going up the river at spawning time, never stopping, never turning backward, Japan's naval expenditures will mount in the next two years," the minister said.

"Not Starting a Race."

"But this does not mean that Japan is starting a naval race or anything of the sort. As a matter of fact, even if the next naval conference fails, we will be the last to engage in unlimited building.

"But if others take the initiative, we must follow. Consequently, I cannot say definitly that from 1937 expenditures are to be decreased, although we will do our utmost to make this possible."

Premier Is Evasive.

All replied to the question as to whether national defense is more important than industries that "there is no difference."

"Then," complained Ogawa, "why is it that actually more funds are given to national defense?"

GREAT BRITAIN PLANS TO MOVE BIG ARSENAL TO FOIL AIR ATTACKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Fear of attack from the air in the event of war has determined the war office committee to recommend to the cabinet removal of part of the Woolwich arsenal near London to a safer place in the interior, such as southern Wales or northwestern England.

Situated only fifty miles from the coast, Woolwich arsenal, the largest in Great Britain, is vulnerable not only to an air raid but to long range guns from the continent, such as the "Big Bertha" used by the Germans to shell Paris in the world war.

Explosion of the arsenal would mean a grave loss of munitions and an enormous delay in making new shells, explosives and cannon. Thousands of lives also would be lost. The arsenal employed 110,000 persons in the war and 7,000 now. Since the war Woolwich has developed a large residential area, the population of which would be in danger in time of conflict.

Lord Milne, British Army Chief, Passes Through City

Lord George Francis Milne, field marshal of the British army, halted briefly in Chicago yesterday en route to England after a visit in Australia. He was accompanied by Lady Milne and their daughter, Joan, 20 years old. They arrived here over the Great Northern railroad and continued east aboard a Pennsylvania train which was held 15 minutes for them. Lord Milne, who is 68 years old, has been a soldier 50 years.

PHYSICIAN LOSES TWO YEAR FIGHT AGAINST DIVORCE

Divorce litigation that began more than two years ago ended yesterday when Superior Judge James J. Kelly signed a decree for Mrs. Dora Roos Spalding, 41 years old, 4708 Schubert avenue. The court entered a $44,663 judgment against Dr. Maurice A. Spalding, 4454 Manor avenue, and set an alimony hearing for Feb. 7.

Dr. Spalding filed a divorce bill in December, 1932, charging his wife poured scalding water on him. Mrs. Spalding filed a cross bill for separate maintenance, alleging the physician had knocked her down and set his police dog on her. Later she amended her bill to one for divorce, alleging that she had advanced her husband the money for which she obtained the judgment yesterday.

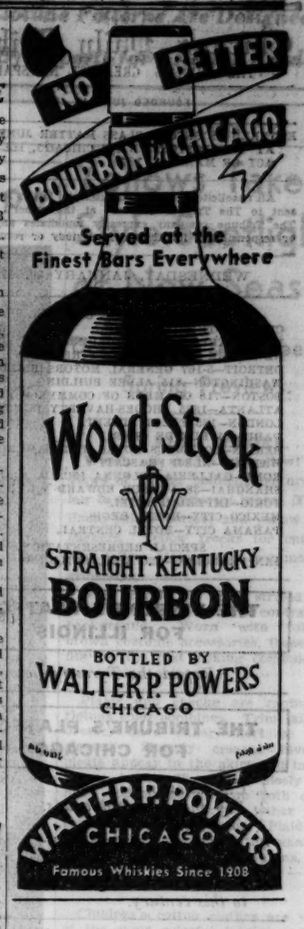

The two bills have been pending before Master in Chancery John F. Bolton, upon whose recommendation the physician's bill was dismissed yesterday, on motion of Attorney Henry F. Antes. The couple were married March 20, 1920, and separated March 18, 1932.

Mrs. Spalding testified she married Dr. Spalding the day after his graduation from medical school.

She advanced him money until he served his interneship and established a practice, she related, and Dec. 20, 1920, deposited in his bank account $32,000 of the $80,000 she received as her share of her mother's estate. In 1922, she said, she bought the physician a $4,000 roadster. She also paid a $3,000 debt he owed before their marriage, she said.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 29.—(AP)—A burglar trap killed its inventor today. Jesse C. Venard, barber shop proprietor, was shot in the abdomen and fatally wounded. He forgot the trap had been set and opened the door of a cabinet in his shop, discharging a pistol concealed therein.

GOV. HORNER'S WARNING.

Gov. Horner has earned the gratitude of the people of Illinois by his opposition to the Canadian seaway treaty. A four-eleven alarm should be sent throughout the state, he said recently, to awaken the people to the dangers which the treaty holds for them. "Dangers" is a strong word, but it does not overstate the case. The dangers are real.

The treaty would reduce the flow in the drainage canal to 1,500 cubic feet a second. This is to be the extent of the diversion after the sewage treatment works are in full operation. These works are designed to remove 85 per cent of the impurities in the sewage. No one knows whether they will actually achieve that goal because no sewage works of anything like comparable size have ever been built anywhere. Certainly, if the works are only adequate to remove 85 per cent of the impurities in dry weather, they cannot be adequate to remove anything like that amount after a heavy rain when the volume of sewage rises rapidly.

In any event, at least 15 per cent of the impurities will remain even under most favorable conditions, equivalent to the raw sewage of a city of 600,000 population. No one knows with any certainty that 1,500 second feet of diversion will be sufficient to render that degree of pollution harmless to communities on the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. Peoria and St. Louis and other river towns are imperiled. The construction of the dams for the Illinois waterway has diminished the current in the river and created great slackwater pools. What will happen in the river, and particularly in the pools, when the current is greatly reduced? No one knows with certainty, but there is much expert opinion which holds that the stench will be nauseating at long distances from the river. That may be taken as an index to its disease-breeding possibilities. Certainly if any such conditions develop the money spent by Chicago, the state and the federal government in building the Illinois waterway for commerce can be regarded as money wasted.

As matters stand the diversion will be reduced to 1,500 second feet in accordance with the order of the court, but if the conditions created by the reduction prove to be as bad as many fear they will be some relief can be obtained either from the court or congress or the war department. If the treaty is ratified in its present form no relief can be expected because the diversion will be forever limited by the treaty. The only hope then would lie in the willingness of Canada to permit an increased diversion, and there is no reason to think that the Canadian government will have much regard for the welfare of the people living in the Illinois valley.

When Gov. Horner spoke of the dangers with which the people of Illinois are confronted he did not exaggerate.

WISCONSIN TAX COLLECTIONS.

Gov. La Follette has set out to increase Wisconsin taxes in the face of an almost universal demand on the part of all classes and groups for a reduction in state expenses.

He tells the public there is a predictable revenue of about 36 million dollars for the next two years and submits a budget of 53 millions, which means the taxpayers will have to find more than 8 million dollars additional taxes for each year of his term.

In addition to this load he must raise five millions this year for public relief. He proposes to raise this by duplicating the rates of the normal income tax, exacting an additional million from the utilities, taxing dividends earned in 1933, and extending the present tax on gifts.

With this done he will take up the problem of raising the additional millions for general expenses.

Well, Gov. La Follette asked for a job when he was campaigning last fall and the financial situation he faces indicates that he has one on his hands.

The extra tax on the utilities may force them to go to the railroad commission with a petition to raise their rates in order to earn the extra burden. It will at least give the Wisconsin Telephone company powerful ammunition to oppose the reduction ordered two years ago during the previous La Follette administration, which has not yet been made effective.

There is a determined lobby to compel the legislature to relieve the burden of property tax, either by enacting a statutory minimum or allowing an exemption to cover the assessment on the average farm or small home. Opponents of the property tax argue that it has grown to be a load that is destroying farm and home ownership. They are organized to fight during the present session. Scarcely less determined are the gasoline and motor industries, backed by unorganized automobile owners, to lighten the burden carried by automobiles. The motor license fee and the gasoline tax contribute just under 25 millions a year to the state treasury. These two taxes, opponents say, are defeating their own purposes by keeping cars off the roads and are hamstringing the automobile and oil industry.

The tax problem, Gov. La Follette says, is nothing to the problems the administration will have to face after it is disposed of. If the problem is a secondary one to the governor it is a major one to the people, who still are managing to carry their own weight, pay their bills, and avoid the tax collector.

The governor submitted his relief plan without indicating how he proposes to raise the additional millions for operation. If he knows where this money is coming from it would have been more forthright to submit it simultaneously with his relief plan. Then a coördinated tax program could be studied by the people and the legislature.

TREATMENT OF CRIMINALS.

The Illinois legislature has been invited to adopt a new philosophy in framing our system of dealing with criminals. It is asked to banish the theory that criminals should be subjected to penalties and adopt a conception of "treatment." Judge Harry Fisher informs us that judges and prosecutors have concluded that justification for the inflicting of penalties "lies not in revenge or for punishment, or even for correction." Judge Fisher prefers the term "application of treatment."

When the public adopts Judge Fisher's philosophy it will be time to make laws in accordance with it. The public, we think, has no inclination that way. Laws imposed by ardent minorities of theorists are futile or mischievous, and when they coddle criminals they are dangerous. The criminal laws should express the conscience of the community, and that conscience does not look upon crime as a disease or upon the criminal as the guiltless victim of heredity or environment, to be sent to an institution for therapeutic treatment. The public is not ready to give up its doctrine of free will and responsibility or its belief that wrongdoing deserves punishment or that individuals will in some substantial degree be restrained by it and by the fear of it.

That our present system of criminal restraint is in urgent need of correction and improvement goes without saying, but what we don't need at this stage is more laws for the benefit of criminals or the adoption of a philosophy which encourages half baked experiment in criminology and sentimental leniency toward crime. Our probation system needs thorough overhauling, but for the purpose of eliminating abuses, not enlarging the opportunity for abuse. Our administration of justice needs amendment and perhaps our substantive law, but not in favor of the criminal.

LOUISIANA GOES CARIBBEAN.

The citizens of Louisiana have not made much of a Bunker Hill as yet of their insurrection and no doubt will give more mature thought to the springing of armed men. Long apparently is not remarkable for physical courage. He likes the mental comfort offered by a regiment of the National Guard or his own private army. A pop in the nose tames him and he makes all he can of the immunities of the senate chamber. No dictator ever was made of nosier stuff, but Huey is no lion tamer.

If Gov. Allen will call out the troops, throw out a cloud of skirmishers in advance of the senator, support him with artillery and prepare a position in the rear for a safe retreat Huey will dominate the state. It must be confessed that the picture would frame better in parts of Europe or parts of Central or South America. Cuba and Louisiana locking step seem to be headed in the same direction, but Huey is not a man of mettle. He is the Emperor Jones.

ANOTHER NEWSPAPER SHOWS THE WAY.

The Atlanta Constitution has lately celebrated the passing of its circulation above the one hundred thousand mark, the largest circulation any Atlanta newspaper has ever had. THE TRIBUNE offers its congratulations, not only to the able president and editor of the Constitution, Mr. Clark Howell, and its circulation manager, Mr. John Thomas Toler, but to the community which the Constitution has served so well. The march of the Constitution from a circulation of 3,725 in January of 1911 to a circulation of 101,294 in January, 1935, is a practical tribute to the high character of its editorship and the energy and ability of its management. The Constitution has won through its excellence and its enterprise not only a steadily increasing support in its own important community, but the respect of the newspaper fraternity throughout the country, and of the public interested in newspaper policies and opinions.

The success of the Constitution is an example of what private enterprise can accomplish in leading the country out of the depression. During the difficulties and discouragements of the recent years the Constitution has continued faithfully to increase its means of serving its community, and the community has responded. This is the way to defeat the depression and renew the prosperity and progress of this nation.

Editorial of the Day

BAD TEAM WORK.

[Danville Commercial-News.]

The long list of alphabetical agencies created at Washington since the Roosevelt administration came into power might be supposed to cover every possible form of activity. Evidence has come to light recently indicating that one more is badly needed, an agency that will save some of the others from making stupid blunders.

For example, there has been some lifting of eyebrows at Potsdam, in the heart of the northern New York dairy district, over the receipt there of half a ton of cheese to be distributed among those on relief. The origin of the shipment has not been stated, but Potsdam cheesemakers strongly suspect that it came from Wisconsin, northern New York's chief rival in the cheese making industry.

Only a short time ago the good citizens of Gloucester, Mass., were struck with amazement on receiving news that a huge shipment of fish had been received there from the government, also to be distributed among those who were on relief. Gloucester is a fishing center, as even Washington might be supposed to know, and the people there wonder why the fish were not shipped to some inland point where they would be more of a rarity.

These incidents, of course, illustrate the weakness of burocracy and explain why many citizens question the wisdom of permitting the government to go too far, even with the best of intentions, in undertaking to regulate private affairs.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hrw to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THIS CHANGING WORLD! In the old days the party in power at Washington remained in power by a skillful distribution of the postoffices at Corntassel Crossroads and Higby's Siding and the "deepening and widening of Hogwaller creek, which is a navigable stream." But today such miserable trifles seem like canceled postage stamps compared to five billions of dollars to be distributed without any strings on it. Five billion dollars! And people used to love the great white father at Washington if they got a job as rural mail carrier or the peanut concession in the postoffice. What pikers the old time congressmen were to be sure! Go into any old graveyard today where a congressman of the long ago is buried and you'll think some of them have been struck by an earthquake. Not at all; that's a congressman of long ago turning over and over.

MAYBE BRUNO DID and it might possibly be that he didn't; I wouldn't presume to say. But I do know this, that if he keeps on the stand much longer and I have to read about what he says and how he looks and his ashy pallor and his outbursts and all the rest of it I am going to salvage what I can out of my personal belongings and go out to San Francisco and take passage on some sort of trading ship in the Pacific and have 'em put me off on a desert island. Or a cannibal island. I'd rather have cannibals than Bruno. Cannibals simply eat you and it's all over with, but Bruno just bores me to tears. And it is really much better to be eaten, if properly cooked and served with wine sauce, than to be bored to tears.

THE KINGDOM OF MOVIEDOM.

When I attend the movies, oft my fancy
Indulges in a sort of necromancy,
Particularly when upon the screen
Historic characters, so-called, are seen.
I conjure forth those shades that have been painted
So bad, and also those that have been sainted,
And wish that I could, somehow, congregate them
To view the actors who impersonate them.

I'd like to see them step right out of history,
Those men of legendary lore and mystery,
And walk straight thro' the theater's broad door
With all the aplomb and pomp they had of yore.
And when the unctuous ushers said to them
superiorly,
As they remark to me, and make me feel inferiorly,
"Seats in the balcony, please, only the last three rows,"
How I should like to see those ancient hardy heroes,
High-hat and haughty, marching down the aisles,
Dolled up in diadems, with Cheshire smiles
To sit where they darned pleased (none but a king,
Of course, would dare do such a reckless thing),
And when previews appeared to hear them shout,
In royal disapproval, "Cut them out!"

Louis XV.—there's been a heap of hooey
(Or spell it Huey) told about this Louis;—
Napoleon and the Empress Josephine,
Fate's helpless puppets pinioned on the screen,
Like butterflies impaled upon a card
By entomologist with heart so hard;
Rothschild, the banker, crafty, sinister;
The Barrett Family of Wimpole Street,—
Were they so infantile in that retreat,
Those grown-up babes, so craven and neurotic?
And was their sire so dreadful and despotic?
(Elizabeth's pet dog and Robert Browning—
Oh, how I feared they both were in for drowning!)
All victims of the cinematograph:
I wonder if they'd rage, or if they'd laugh
To see their private lives so magnified
In vice and virtue? Would their spleen or pride
Be roused by this new art that so adorns
Their heads with tinsel halos and with horns?

Well, anyhow, I'd love to be the host
Some opening night to each historic ghost.

EOLUS.

AND, ANYHOW, if we do go into the World Court it ought to come over here two or three months every year and go on tour in the movie palaces. If we have to help pay for it we ought to be able to enjoy it now and then just as well as Europe.

MR. BUCHANAN, M. P., jumps right up in the House of Commons and says that Prime Minister MacDonald would "double cross his own aunt. He is a mountebank! He is worse! He is a swine! He is a low, dirty cur who ought to be flung from public life and horsewhipped out of it!" And I always thought that the worst thing an Englishman could say about anybody else was that he was "a silly blighter!" or a "horrid bounder, no less!" But perhaps if Mr. Buchanan had kept on talking he would have quite forgotten himself and used those terrible expressions. Whereupon the British nation would have been horrified and grieved and the king would have had to mobilize the Mediterranean fleet and call out the Sussex Borderers.

AND AS FOR THAT EGG down in the Ozarks that has got all the region in a frenzy of awe and excitement because it bears the cryptic writing on it, "Here my word 35"; well it isn't so uncanny if you study it over. The hen that laid the egg didn't know how to punctuate. The message should read: "Here! my word! 35!" It was an ejaculation made on her thirty-fifth birthday and she was just a little bit excited because she knew she was getting on in years and that some day she was going to be a chicken stew. Maybe she is by this time. I think I ate her yesterday. Or tried to.

A STREAMLINED new fangled railroad train did better at times than one hundred and two miles an hour between Washington and Philadelphia. Which means that our speed demons have got to go at least a hundred and three miles an hour, or how the heck are they going to beat that train to the crossing?

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

THE HEALING POWER OF FEVER.

"AIN'T nature wonderful!" said the city waif on his first visit to a fresh air home in the country. Nature is wonderful and the protective functions of the body are legion.

In spite of a tremendous amount of investigation we do not know all about fever. For centuries fever was interpreted as a disease. Before we knew about bacteria, scores of ponderous medical volumes appeared entitled "Fever" or "Fevers," and we still have the term coupled with a descriptive word to indicate the kind or sort of fever, such as typhoid, scarlet, puerperal, typhus, yellow, etc.

It is generally conceded that fever is the body's reaction to the insult of infection. It means that tissues are being burned at an increased rate, the heartbeat is more rapid, and the breathing is usually accelerated. Perhaps under these conditions the body is manufacturing neutralising substances that destroy infection. We know, however, that a very high fever is in itself a menace if continued for any appreciable length of time. It changes the structure of certain body cells and may render them useless, hence an effort is made in the presence of infection to keep the fever within reasonable bounds. Sponging with tepid or even cold water will drop the temperature a degree or so and leave the patient more comfortable. This is a rational therapeutic measure, but the use of powerful drugs to reduce temperature, except in the higher ranges, is now frowned upon.

In certain chronic types of infection the body does not seem to be able to neutralize the toxin or destroy the infecting agent because temperature does not develop. Chronic arthritis and syphilis of the nervous system are examples and both usually improve under fever therapy.

In 1917 Wagner-Jauregg threw a veritable bombshell into the medical ranks by demonstrating that artificially produced fever exerted a beneficial effect on syphilis of the nervous system. In order to produce this fever for the treatment of cases of dementia paralytica—a type of insanity due to syphilis—he used malaria organisms. His was pioneer work and was followed in some instances by spectacular results.

Although his work proved the value of a high temperature, the inconvenience of combating the resulting malaria led investigators to seek some other method of inducing fever. Typhoid vaccine was employed with good results in certain conditions, notably arthritis.

Within the last few years the high frequency current (superdiathermy or radiothermy) has been employed and has the advantage of convenience and of careful control. In other words, the temperature may be raised to any desired point for as long as required.

Caution must be observed in any form of fever therapy, as the temperature of the body must not be raised artificially (1) without good reason, (2) unless a careful physical examination shows that the patient can withstand the temperature, (3) without the certainty that the apparatus employed is accurate, reliable, and under complete control. Equipment is now available by means of which the temperature may be raised to 105 degrees F. or even higher and maintained for a few hours at that level with safety. This treatment must not be attempted by unskilled or untrained persons.

In a recent report Walter M. Simpson states categorically that the value of artificially induced fever is now firmly established. He calls attention to the excessive perspiration induced by artificial fever and notes that many of the unpleasant symptoms that become manifest during the treatment, such as fatigue, exhaustion, nausea, vomiting, and cramps, may be relieved by supplying large quantities of chloride-containing fluids. His patients were placed in an air conditioned cabinet. This author concludes that, from the experienced gained in treating 100 cases, artificially induced fever is as effective as fever resulting from malaria, and no after treatment is required.

SANDBLASTER.

F. W. writes: Since I started to work as a sandblaster so many friends have told me of the danger to health that I am worried. The insurance company requires me to submit to a physical examination every three months. Could silicosis develop from this occupation? They have a system where I work in which only the hands are exposed to dust and sand. I am stationed in a chamber. The tank holds about 25 shovels of sand, and I spray or blast the material with a hose attached to this tank. For protection I wear a mask with a little wet sponge inside, furnished with a hose which blows fresh air to the mask. Over the mask I slip a helmet. I always blow the mask out before beginning work, and I wait about a minute before removing the mask to give the fan a chance to clear the chamber of flying dust.

REPLY.

Sandblasters will not become afflicted with silicosis if adequate protection is used. The sponge must be kept moist, and it should be renewed at intervals.

MAY BE INFECTION.

Mrs. L. D. writes: What is the cause of burning urine?

REPLY.

It may mean an infection of the bladder, and this should be carefully investigated. Sometimes the condition is due to a strongly alkaline urine that can be corrected by your physician with a simple form of medication.

CLOSING ESTATE.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Estate consists of one two-apartment building and is to be divided share for share among five children. It has been in probate since July, 1933. An attorney was employed. No problems exist regarding estate, therefore [1] should this not be out of probate at end of year's time? 2. Executor wishes to keep in probate, as he is one of heirs appointed in will. 3. Have not the other heirs a voice in this matter? 4. What procedure should be followed relative to getting estate out of probate? 5. Is there additional expense when estate remains in probate over year's time? 6. Executor, who has not been appointed by other heirs and not mentioned in will, [7] is collecting rent from apartments and handling expenses. I have a bill which has not been paid. This bill is for something purchased last February by executor and for which he has not paid. He has ample money to take care of it. 8. Is there any procedure whereby one of the other heirs may take charge? 9. What rights has executor after estate is out of probate? Is each of the other heirs entitled to as much voice [10] in the matter as executor? M. F.

1. We see no reason why the probate was not closed shortly after the expiration of a year.
2. We could advise to better advantage if you had stated his motive.
3. Yes, they can ask the clerk of the court to bring pressure to bear on the executor to close the estate.
4. See 3.
5. If there is a surety company on the official bond of the personal representative, an additional year's premium might be necessary.
6. The word "executor" means that the person is named in a will. The proper word to apply to a person who is appointed by the court without being named in the will is "administrator."
7. An administrator would in general have no right to collect the rent, merely by virtue of being the administrator.
8. Where owners of undivided interests in real estate cannot agree, any one of them is entitled to force a division or a public sale by partition proceedings. The cost of such proceedings, including the complainant's solicitor's fees, are chargeable against the proceeds of sale.
9. If by "out of probate" you mean that the estate has been closed and the executor or administrator has been discharged, this is another way of saying that his rights and powers have terminated.
10. In what matter? The administrator would have control of the probate proceedings until discharged. The heirs would have equal rights in the real estate.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATE.

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Kindly state if heir must sign his name in proceedings of probate of will before final settlement can be made to all. A small legacy is left this heir. 2. Can a poor person secure an attorney if he applies to court for protection due to an apparent fraud in a will? 3. Can well-to-do brother and children be made to divide with needy parent temporarily on relief? A senile sister, paralyzed for two years past, and who was taken by another brother, made a fair will some few years ago, its contents known, even a copy having been read by needy brother and his wife. 4. This other brother, by power of attorney, changed matters to benefit himself. The children getting legacy are my own. I want to investigate. M. M.

1. Yes, in the sense that the executor or administrator could refuse to deliver the share in question unless the heir signed a receipt.
2. There is no statutory provision for such representation in civil cases, as distinguished from criminal cases, but if a substantial amount is involved you might be able to get an attorney to undertake the case on a contingent fee.
3. Depends on the facts and on the relationship of the parties to the deceased. Children of the deceased would take to the exclusion of a brother of the deceased, if that is what you mean to ask.
4. We advise you to go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THIS CONCLUDES THE CORRESPONDENCE.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—I have no desire to inject myself into the differences of opinion now being expressed concerning the picture of the Lincoln log cabin. The recent letter of Frederic E. Benedict does, however, raise a very fine point.

It was formerly supposed that on his return from the second trip to New Orleans Mr. Lincoln returned to the home of his parents, who had moved from Macon county to Coles county—Goose Neck Prairie, in eastern Illinois. Eleanor Gridley, who spent considerable time there among Lincoln's relatives, supports such a theory. However, in his recent book, "Lincoln's New Salem," Benjamin P. Thomas, the executive secretary of the Abraham Lincoln association of Springfield, Ill., propounds the theory that Lincoln went directly to New Salem from St. Louis and that he did not go to his parents' home in Coles county. His evidence is the best. He follows John Locke Scripp's biography which was corrected by Lincoln himself and we now have that copy with the pencil notations which gives us the only real autobiography by Lincoln.

The student may, of course, make his own choice. Apparently Lincoln's relatives thought that they remembered his return to Coles county, and perhaps that he assisted in the building of a cabin, although it should have been erected at that time. It is likewise apparent that when he corrected Scripp's account Lincoln had no recollection of the event and let the statement go that he went from St. Louis to New Salem.

PROTECTION FOR RELIEF WORKERS.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—The frightful tragedy reported in today's TRIBUNE of the merciless killing of two emergency relief workers indicates an immediate need for protection of all workers in welfare stations. These people work daily to the point of exhaustion to administer help to their fellow men. Justice in the distribution of material comforts is their first consideration. They deserve all the protection available to secure them from embittered ingrates and communistic madmen and their destructive outbursts.

The doormen at each relief station should search all clients who enter, and remove the knife or gun that may spell death to some young man or woman at an office within. How many more relief workers will be sacrificed, martyrs to a great cause, before this is done?

MARJORIE NOBLE LEE.

HIGH SCHOOL LUNCHEONS.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—I was surprised to read in THE TRIBUNE that I, a Chicago high school student, can get "substantial meals" at 20c each in our school lunchroom. I was unaware that the young people of Chicago have such poor appetites. Mr. Washam, director of lunchrooms for the board of education, stated that "the centralization of buying and the standardizing of menus effected important savings" for the school lunchrooms. Why, then, is it possible for the school stores outside of the school building to charge less for a substantial meal without "centralization" or "standardizing"?

SENN HIGH STUDENT.

PROHIBITIVE BUILDING COSTS.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Building permits in Chicago from 1923 to 1929 were over $345,000,000 per year, or close to $1,000,000 per day. Last year, notwithstanding the easy money offered by our government for home repairs and new construction, they totaled only $7,898,423. This represents just about 1-43 of the amount of building we formerly did in this city or a little over 2 per cent of the rate maintained from 1923 to 1929.

If we are to avoid governmental bankruptcy the private building industry must be revived, for it is the only industry that can offer productive employment to the millions of unemployed. Yet building cannot be revived, as the figures now prove, by sales promotion, billboard advertising, NRA codes, and radio broadcasting.

The individual builder will not start operations at present peak construction prices because he knows that his investment would be economically unsound. He will start only when he is assured of a return on his investment. The two things necessary to open private building are not easy money and the printing of tons of literature, as the modern hall room boys, Moffet and Ickes, believe, but a reduction in the cost of construction, both materials and labor, to the 1916 level and the legalization of a maximum 1 per cent property tax throughout the nation.

GEN. CALLES AND THE SISTERS OF CHARITY.

Corpus Christi, Tex., Jan. 25.—Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles is going back to Mexico cured of the affliction that caused him terrific pain and threatened his life. He has gone back cured by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul of St. Vincent's hospital in Los Angeles; cured by such sisters as Calles not only caused to be refused permission to conduct a hospital in that benighted country, but would put into prison if they dared to appear on its streets dressed in the garb of their holy calling.

With his millions to back him, Calles could fly to the sisters in Los Angeles for treatment, but the poor peons [whom he has long claimed to serve] must stay at home and die in the event of serious illness because this unprincipled man would not allow sisters to conduct hospitals in the land he dominates.

HAVE YOU CONSIDERED THE OVERHEAD!

Chicago, Jan. 24.—The price of half pints of milk has been raised to 5 cents in our school lunchroom in the Tuley High school. This is plain robbery.

A quart of milk costs 11 cents, therefore a half pint should cost a little more than 2½ cents. With the price at 5 cents, I am paying almost 200 per cent of what the real price should be. Somebody is making some easy money.

Sponsor Play Given Night of Lincoln Tragedy

Historical Society to See "American Cousin."

BY JUDITH CASS.

IN planning its interesting and informative celebration of Lincoln's birthday the presentation of "Our American Cousin," Tom Taylor's eccentric comedy that was given the night Lincoln was assassinated in Ford's theater, Washington, the Chicago Historical society has missed on only one count.

To be in exact keeping with the original performance, the society should have made the celebration a benefit. History records that the production President and Mrs. Lincoln attended the night of April 14, 1865, when John Wilkes Booth committed his dreadful crime, was given for the sake of charity.

There is widespread interest in the revival of the play, proved by the fact that every seat in the Historical society assembly hall has already been spoken for. In fact, the demand has been so great that the society has just announced that there will be a second performance the following evening on Wednesday, Feb. 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson have taken a large block of seats for the night of Feb. 12 and so have Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Pike. John J. Glessner, who just celebrated his 92d birthday and is a well known student of history, has spoken for several places. Others who are anticipating entertaining at the play the evening of the 12th include Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan, Mrs. David S. Cook, Dr. Otto Schmidt, and Dr. Eisen Schiml, who is in large part responsible for the idea.

Follow Details of 1860 Production.

Produced by the Goodman Memorial Players, the play will be done in every detail in the manner of the 1860's. Even the curtain will rise promptly at 7:45 o'clock. In announcement the Historical society has issued handbills that are set as the programs were by the Ford theater. The evenings of the 12th and 13th the Historical society will have on exhibit newspaper comments of the play written in 1865.

It is impossible to write of Lincoln's birthday without a feeling of distinct loss in the recent death of Miss Cornelia Gray Lunt. As the daughter of Orrington Lunt, Miss Lunt visited the White House several times during Lincoln's presidency. Last Feb. 12 she told delightfully of these experiences before the University guild of Evanston, of which she was the founder president.

The guild, with Mrs. Herbert Shaw Philbrick as its president, is thinking now of some memorial for Miss Lunt. In the meantime it has issued invitations for its annual acquaintance teas next Monday. For the parties four of the loveliest homes in Evanston are being opened and it is expected that the guild members will call at each one in the later afternoon Monday.

Mrs. John H. S. Lee will be hostess at her home at 1225 Sheridan road. The other three hostesses will be Mrs. Irwin Rew, whose home is at 217 Dempster street; Mrs. E. Crane Wilson, whose address is 1331 Forest avenue, and Mrs. Robert L. Scott, whose residence is at 144 Greenwood boulevard.

Frances Buck Will Be Bride Saturday.

Miss Frances Lillian Buck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson L. Buck of Evanston and John W. Taylor Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Taylor, told yesterday that they would be married at 8:30 Saturday evening in a quiet ceremony at the Buck home at 235 Greenwood boulevard, Evanston.

Miss Betty Buck, who was graduated from Vassar last June, will attend her sister as maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be another sister, Carolina Buck, who is now a Vassar freshman, Miss Charlotte McCall of Greenwich, Conn., and Mrs. Robert C. Stockton of Evanston.

George Kelly is to serve Mr. Taylor as best man and ushering will be Ralph Peck and George Fuget, Lucius Andrew of Kenilworth, and Harry Hunsberger of Evanston.

Because of the recent death of her grandfather, Miss Josephine Hanchett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hanchett of Evanston and John E. McFadden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Barr McFadden, also of Evanston are to be married quietly at

Many Answer Call of Greatest of Inland Seas

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

The Mediterranean. Bluest of all blues. Largest of all enclosed seas in the world.

With more than dilettante interest two dozen Chicagoans are studying these facts and figures this week as they are setting sail or preparing to set sail for Mediterranean ports. Going with them is the envy of all their ice and slush bound neighbors here at home.

Along with packing trunks, Mrs. Eunice Essig Brach is closing her large Winnetka home, arranging for her son, Frank V. Brach Jr., to finish the winter at school in Tucson, Ariz., and her daughter, Joyce, at a Lake Forest convent. Mrs. Brach is sailing on the Holland-American liner Statendam on Feb. 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Forgan and their daughter, Betty, also Mrs. Hugh Johnston McBirney, have booked passage on the Italian liner Conte de Savoia scheduled to leave New York on Feb. 13. On another Italian boat, the Roma, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Murphy, already world travelers, embarked last Saturday for the Mediterranean. Before returning they will visit Mrs. Murphy's cousin, the duchess of Melito, in Florence, Italy.

When the Aquitania moves out of New York harbor tomorrow bound for Madeira, Barcelona, the Holy Land, and Egypt, it will have aboard the Ralph F. Potters and Mr. and Mrs. William P. White of Glencoe.

Some time between now and summer Mr. and Mrs. George Rasmussen will have been to the Mediterranean and back again.

There's something fundamental about a Mediterranean cruise. Perhaps it's because our civilization in all its phases traces back to Rome and Greece and the Holy Land.

Golden eras have glittered and tarnished along Mediterranean shores. Mainland and islands are dripping with legend and the history of Alexander the Great, yet many of the cities like Istanbul [Constantinople to most of us], Cairo, Naples, and Algiers are throbbing with the present.

Funchal in Madeira is the first port in most Mediterranean cruises originating in New York, and it is there that sightseeing is done via sled. Not on ice, for the temperature never varies more than ten degrees from 70, but on roads of small, smooth stones.

Of course, Madeira is known for its wines, dark Tinta and light Verdelho. Less publicized is the fact that Columbus won his bride there and that her father gave him his first advanced training in navigation.

For more panoramas there's the impregnable Rock of Gibraltar that is now enduring its most persistent siege, that of the many travelers who visit it; also Europe's most famous shore drive, the Grand Corniche. Napoleon, pressed for time in getting troops into Italy, used this Corniche road to cross the Alps and so turned what was formerly a pathway into a mighty thoroughfare.

Last but not least is Taormina topping an abrupt hill 700 feet above the Sicilian shore. There on the site of the Greek theater where the citizens of old saw the plays of Sophocles and Æschylus, travelers have judged the view the loveliest along the whole Mediterranean, one of the most famous in the world.

For years Port Said, which is included in all of these Mediterranean itineraries, shared with Colon at the Atlantic end of the Panama canal the reputation of being the wickedest place in the world. This reputation has now faded, but both towns still retain their color and interest.

Passing by Colon the next month will be Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Newcomet and their laughter, Marion, who are now enjoying California sunshine. They will sail from San Francisco Saturday on the S. S. Pennsylvania of the Panama Pacific line and complete 5,500 miles before reaching New York Feb. 18. Completing their party will be their son and daughter-in-law, the Walborn Newcomets, and four of their Sheboygan friends.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

SELDOM, it seems, do I write about things that really interest me. Mary Garden at the Casino the other evening, for example, and her impetuous sketch of Debussy. The composer lived for her hearers under her dramatic touch, and so did both his wives, although one was hardly more than mentioned. And drama and tragedy took shape in a passionately uttered sentence or two. . . . And there was Garden herself—classic profile, auburn hair, restless gestures . . . "a line of Pater's prose, the glance of one of Da Vinci's strange ladies: a chord by Debussy; honey, tiger's blood, and absinthe," wrote James Huneker. I would dismiss all his metaphors and content myself by saying, "And there was Garden herself." . . . It was a historic moment—Garden talking of Debussy and singing his music in an intimate place, and I think most of her audience recognized it as such.

RELEASING the terriers on the deserted Oak street beach to rush about in wild delight on the icy snow covered terrain. The gray green lake and the green gray sky and the stretch of deserted beach I'd like painted by Winslow Homer, and framed in dull silver to look at and rest one's gaze with emptiness.

Then, Sunday, the freshness of Elizabeth Merrill Hubbard's voice, also singing Debussy, raised for the first time in a concert hall. Her red gold hair and her black gown and her childlike simplicity as she stood, hands clasped, the notes pouring from her throat. And watching breathlessly from a box her small daughters with their red braids down their backs.

LATER that evening, reading the absurdities in Ronald Firbank's "The Artificial Princess" . . . "The queen had a passion for motoring. She would motor for hours and hours with her crown on; it was quite impossible to mistake her . . ." And farther on, "'Should I,' she inquired, 'wear the little gown I wore at poor Eulalie's funeral or dare I wear a heavenly thing—scenes from the Decameron painted upon chiffon, and an enormous sombrero with silver strings?'"

IN the morning mail. "I went to a tumble-down mill at Vina, Ala., and told the miller that what I wanted was some good plain corn meal ground Alabama way. The miller, one of those never old, sturdy fellows and with one arm gone at the shoulder, says, 'Sure, I'll just turn on the old mill so you can watch some good hard Alabam' corn turn into some good corn meal.' When it was ground I watched him tie it up in a sack. I wanted to help, but was interested in seeing what he could do with one arm and one tooth.

"I asked him to put it into an extra sack for travel, which he did with a smile, so I watched him again. A farmer drove up, looking 200 pounds of health, and asked for his corn. With one arm the miller tossed up a dozen sacks weighing 70 pounds each, and the two armed farmer never had to touch them. We had a pleasant chat about this and that and got to talking relief.

"'Well, that farmer who called for his corn is on relief, and so are his two sons, husky, able bodied men . . . and I'm grinding a lot of corn for a lot of men just like them on relief.'

"How about you getting some relief?" I asked.

"'No, I never asked for any. I'm only half a man. I don't need much. I have a funny stomach. It would never digest any corn but earned corn. It's been without any corn at times and it's just old fashioned, I suppose.'

"E. FRANKLIN."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

You may think we're frivolous, but one of our major complaints against life in general up to now was our inability to wear a certain lipstick—a honey of a color in a texture we think superb. It was too dark and dangerous for one of our far-from-dashing coloring and character.

But everything is now under control and the world is in more tidy order. That ruby red charmer now has a running mate in a lighter shade—called carnation, by the way—that suits more faces than we ever thought one lipstick could. It's just a love for most blondes and brunettes.

We think these lipsticks are exceptional in texture. They're delectably creamy without being greasy. We abhor lipsticks that are sloppy—the kind that smear all over, ruin the lip outline, and make you look as though you'd made up your face in the course of a hasty exit from a burning building. This has just creamy substance enough to lend itself perfectly to the delicate business of reddening your lips.

This richness of texture makes it a specially good lipstick choice for cold weather, but it would get our vote for all the year round. It stays on like everything, too, and the color is as true as color could be.

The shade of this new one is a cross between a deep, rich red that vivid women can wear so well, and the range of tones that have a bit of orange in them. It's a real red carnation color, with all the red brightness of that flower itself. It's a youthful shade and we like it tremendously on people of somewhat indeterminate coloring; it seems to give those faces just the "lift" they need to keep them from being uninteresting.

Two Thousand Buyers Attend Spring Exhibit

Brilliant Show Given at Merchandise Mart.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Moving with the snap and dash of a vast stage review, the promenade of spring styles at the Merchandise Mart last night was received with enthusiasm by 2,200 buyers from every part of the country. It was among the most effective presentations in the history of the seasonal showings at this great market center.

An ensemble of ninety-five mannequins—sixty-five girls and thirty children—trooped down the wide entrance stairway in quartets, circled the long peninsular runway which had been decorated to resemble a tree shaded arbor, and disappeared down a short flight of stairs at one side. Entertainment was interspersed between the runs.

A spectacular episode conceived and staged by Miss Mari Floto, who supervised the entire showing, was titled "Fashion Trends." It presented a group of mannequins on the darkened runway, each wearing a costume incorporating one of the style features of the coming season, in luminous cloth and in various colors.

Special makeup on the models made them all but invisible in the dim light, the effect being that of costumes moving about the stage with their wearers unseen.

Garments shown by eighty-five concerns having display rooms in the building represented the lower price ranges of apparel. Colors were gay and varied, materials ranging through the popular seersuckers, piqués, percales, hanky lawns, tissue ginghams, cottons and organdies. Peasant influences and the tailored shirtwaist type were notable, with plaids and stripes well out in front.

A ready-to-wear revue is to take place tomorrow, and last night's production will be repeated on Feb. 4.

In another fashion revue last night, a throng that taxed the capacity of the French Casino watched a presentation of costumes for spring, representing original and adapted ideas by members of the Style Creators committee of the Chicago Dress and Coat Manufacturers association.

Costly fabrics and the smartest of accessories were utilized, including a few "show pieces" as well as the gowns and wraps selected from the regular lines of the companies participating.

Yellows Take Style Spotlight of New Season

Dozen Tones Are Seen in Spring Previews.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Watch all shades of yellow! Previews of spring fashions feature yellow in a dozen different tones. Yellow linen, yellow cotton, and yellow seersuckers. Yellow frocks for children and yellow dresses and costumes for grownups.

Next come the gay striped tub dresses with yellow as a contrasting background. Worn with tobacco brown costume accessories, these outfits are the best looking combines of the coming season.

Plaids and checks are raging in riotous color combines. Trim tailored dresses have either short or long sleeves. Sharply creased inverted pleats appear in the skirt and in the blouse back. There are nicely tailored pockets patched on both chest and hip sectors. Bright lether belts furnish dramatic contrast. Plaid and checked seersuckers are the smartest fabrics in these new collections, and they come in three weaves—soft, stiff, and sheer.

Children's cotton clothes are made of the same colorful fabrics and designs that fashion the grownup clothes, with the only difference being the size of the printed motif. Checks and plaids, dots, and stripes are all reduced in scale to fit short streamlines. Play suits and decorative street dresses for both little sister and brother some in all the bright cheerful looking cottons, the same delightfully planned printed materials that make the grownup models.

Naughtiest Styles in Years Startle Paris Sophisticates

PARIS, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A sophisticated audience O'd and ah'd today as the nudest, naughtiest fashions Paris has seen in years were shown on the 1935 style stage.

Gowns for spring and evening displayed by Robert Piguet had, above the waist, no top, no back, nothing but a little piece of cloth in front held up by three whalebones which the gaping buyers and newspaper people thought might slip any minute.

The gowns, fashioned of silver satin, navy taffeta, and yellow organdy were designed with immensely wide skirts, with all the fullness in the back, and were finished off with a cluster of bright roses precariously perched on a little bit of a bodice.

Other evening gowns were made of the new flowered cotton cire, with a very low drop shoulder line, puff sleeves, and skirts very full below the knees.

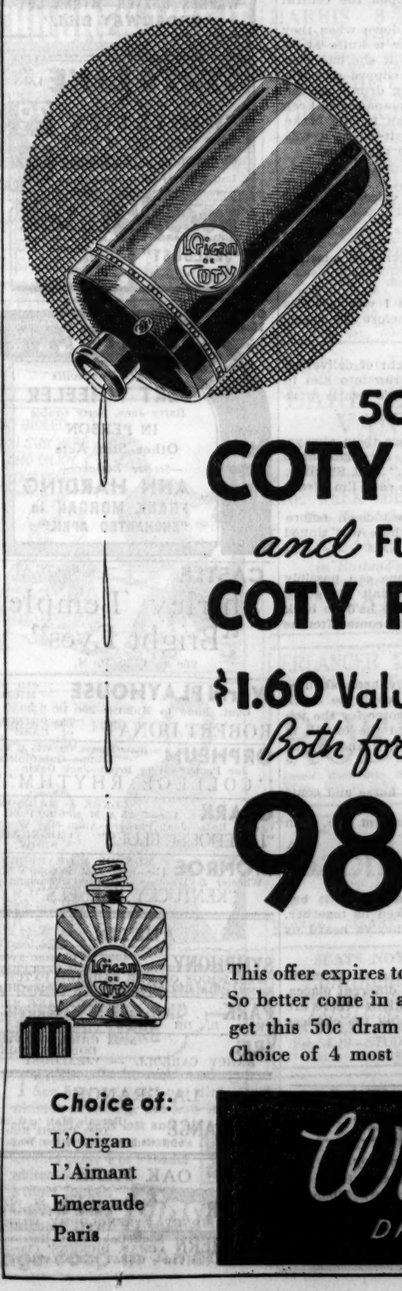

Chanel, too, followed the bareback vogue, showing country suits in plain or dotted wool jersey with the skirts attached to silk blouses slit very low in the back which he called "sun bath suits."

RED STEFAN

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH.

SYNOPSIS.

Stephen Enderby, an Englishman, had lived as a boy on the Russian estate of his stepfather, Paul Darensky, and grew up with the large brood of children of a peasant family. When his mother died he went to live with his guardian in England. After the revolution in Russia, as Stefan Ivanovitch, he became a "secret observer," for England, adopting various peasant roles to hide his identity. Now Stephen has inherited the fortune of his guardian and wants to quit his hazardous work. He is escaping out of Tronsk when he meets and rescues Elizabeth Radin, widow of an executed engineer. Though English her husband was half Russian. She is flying from the advances of Commissar Petroff, who is also after a secret formula of her husband's. Stephen takes her with him and tells her his history. Though he has fallen in love with her he refrains from letting her know. They are overtaken by Petroff and Irina, a beautiful communist, who wanted Stephen herself and resents Elizabeth. Stephen plans to outwit them by denouncing Elizabeth, claiming he never suspected her identity until she began to talk in her sleep. Petroff believes his story, as does Irina. Elizabeth thinks Stephen has turned against her. But he is waiting his chance, which comes, to knock Petroff out. Then Stephen disguises himself and Elizabeth and they slip away. Stephen secures a horse and sledge, in which they continue toward the Polish border. The suspicion of a schoolmaster in a village where they stop is aroused because of a broadcast he has heard about two people wanted by the police as enemies of the state. They make a hurried get away and are pursued by wolves. Stephen stops at a hut in the forest on land once owned by his stepfather. Next day they go to the old Darensky house.

INSTALMENT XXXIX.

MISSING PEARLS.

Stephen came across the hall and called her name from the doorway.

"Elizabeth—are you there? I've been as quick as I could. I hope you're not frightfully cold. I've got some wood and we'll soon have a fire."

She could hear him dragging the wood in—branches. And then a clatter of falling logs. She felt her way to the bench and sat down again.

There was a crackling of paper from the harth. Paper. How had he come by it? A match spurted, and a little creeping edge of flame ate flickering into the darkness. She could hear Stephen blowing at it. The paper must be very damp. It smoldered, died, and revived again. A sudden flare showed her the shape of his head and shoulders, and the black arch of the open fireplace. Then, with a rush, the flame sprang up.

Stephen dragged the bench over to the harth for Elizabeth. He continued to feed the fire, whilst she sat forward with her chin in her hands watching him. After the strain, the fear, the rush of joy, everything seemed to have come to a standstill. She was tired and content. The future concerned her as little as the past. She had been cold, and she was warm. She had been alone, and Stephen was here. She had been afraid, and the fear was gone.

She watched Stephen make up the fire. It filled the room with a warm glow. In this rosy firelight the painted panels recaptured some of their old grace and beauty. She said,

"Was this your mother's room, Stephen?"

"Yes. It used to be pretty. A bit gim-cracky, you know—all gilding, and little tables, and fluffy cushions. But it suited her. It's bare enough now—isn't it?" He straightened himself up by the fire and touched Elizabeth on the arm. "Come back here a little and I'll show you something."

When they were in the middle of the room, he pointed to the chimney breast. There was the open harth with its blazing fire framed in carved alabaster, and above a narrow shelf, in the midst of the white paneling, a picture. Elizabeth could see no more than it was a portrait. Then the ray of Stephen's torch touched it, and she saw that it was a portrait of Fay Darenska. She looked very young. She had a girl's slim body and a girl's unshadowed eyes. They were as blue as Stephen's. But her hair wasn't red, it was gold. She stood smiling out of the picture with rosy childish lips. There was a row of pearls about her throat. A second row touched her breast, and a third hung almost to her knee. A white fur wrap was slipping from her shoulders. The ray passed to and fro, bringing out the pale rose of the dress, the delicate flesh tints, the shimmer of the pearls, the whole aspect of smiling youth.

"How young!" said Elizabeth.

Stephen nodded beside her.

"She really looked like that. But she was 30 when that was painted, and I was 10 years old."

There was no frame. The portrait had been painted upon the central panel above the harth.

"If it had been an ordinary picture, they'd have torn it down when they murdered Paul and wrecked the house. Someone did throw a knife at it. There—you can see the mark, just at her knee. It looks as if she had torn her dress—doesn't it? Well, the man who threw the knife slipped and fell. They'd been down into the cellars, and they were all roaring drunk, so the wonder was not that one of them fell, but that any of them managed to keep his feet—only it just happened that when this particular man fell he broke his leg. After that no one would touch the picture, so there it is. If it was a canvas, I'd have got it away long ago, but I can't manage that panel."

"What happened to the pearls?"

"Funny: you should ask that."

"Did you mind?" There was a quick compunction in her voice. "They're so lovely—and I just wondered—what happened to them."

"I should like to know," said Stephen soberly.

"Don't you know?"

They were suddenly so intimate that there was no longer any question of his minding what she asked.

He shook his head.

"I thought they'd been looted. But the other day when I was in Paris I ran across a man who was staying here with Paul just before the crash. He said Paul knew it was coming, but he wouldn't get out.

"Well?"

"Well, Paul gave him a message. By the time he thought of delivering it I was off the map, and he'd forgotten all about it till I ran into him in Paris. He swears Paul told him to tell me that my mother's pearls were where she had always kept them."

"Don't you know where she kept them?"

"That's just it—she didn't keep them anywhere. She wore them always, day and night. It sounded as if he'd buried them with her. He might have done it—I never saw them after she died. Well, that's that," said Stephen. "Now come along and warm yourself and have something to eat. I'm afraid it'll have to be bully beef again."

"Is it safe here?" said Elizabeth when they had camped down before the fire for their meal. It was quite a good meal, because there was tinned soup as well as the beef.

He laughed a little at the question.

"It depends on what you call safe. I don't think anyone can possibly get here after us until well on into tomorrow. Glinka wouldn't get going until daylight. I've thought about it a lot, and I'm pretty sure he'd go back to Orli. Of course he could follow the track of our sledge and come after us here, but I'm pretty sure he wouldn't."

"Why?"

Stephen ticked the reasons off on his fingers.

"One. It's not a run anyone in that village is specially keen about—the wolves got two men last winter. I don't think Glinka would be much of a hand with a rifle, and I don't see any one lending him a horse for the job or being keen on going with him. That's three reasons. And the fourth is that he hasn't got any authority. No—I think he'll go into Orli and say he suspects us of being the two people who are wanted.

Elizabeth said in a low voice,

"Suppose Glinka didn't go to Orli. Suppose he did get a horse and come after us."

"Well, he'd be here by now, or else the wolves would have got him. I'm not worrying about Glinka."

After a minute or two Elizabeth said,

"What about the people in this village?"

He laughed again.

"They think we're smugglers, Nikolai and me. I'm quite sure it has never occurred to anyone in the village that they've never seen us together. They'd probably be quite ready to swear that they had. They've heard us talking in the dark.

"Heard you talk?"

"Nokolai and me—or let's say Nikolai and Mikhail. I can do different voices, you know, and make them sound as if they came from different places. So there it is, we come and go and they don't ask any questions—there are pickings, you know. If Glinka did manage to get here, I think the chances are that he might be quite roughly handled."

Hard Working Mate Deserves Meals on Time

BY DORIS BLAKE.

We were talking yesterday of meals, their irregularity and poor preparation, as a contributory cause of domestic unhappiness. The fact was volunteered by married people themselves in a recent investigation.

The woman not yet home from the bridge club, and no dinner in sight when her husband arrives from work, is cited as a trouble maker. And why shouldn't the good man rise up on his heels and growl under the circumstances?

That's a trying hour for any of us workers. It's been a long time since the luncheon hour and few of us have time or the habit of the afternoon tea bolsterer. I speak as a woman who has put in a hard day. I know that depressed and tired feeling that comes at the end of a strenuous day.

Arriving home to a deserted apartment, without a cheering word or an appetizing aroma, your worker knows a moment of deep and slightly bitter gloom. He's been working all day for the maintenance of this home and the woman who decorates it. He has something coming to him in return, a homecoming greeting, and the aroma of a promising meal. Bridge games can be put forward an hour earlier.

BY MARY MEADE.

Cod liver oil may be all well and good, but at best it can be but one of the dazzling stars in the crown of the deserving codfish when he splashes to his finny heaven. Sadly, that's an almost forgotten fact. In the flurry of vitamin talk the sterling virtues of that long suffering fish as an enjoyable food have been completely overshadowed by the virtues of the potent, vitamin crammed oil.

In an attempt to restore the former glory of this distinguished family of deep sea we've been staging a kitchen revival of all of the favorite old codfish recipes. They may be snoozing in the back of your memory or your cook book, but just to jog them from their resting place we've collected them in this column.

A necessary note before we get to the actual recipes, however. You may now buy your codfish either canned or in the dried and salted, wooden boxed variety. The latter, unless it's marked "absolutely boneless," may require a little looking over for stray bits of fishbone and a couple of hours' soaking in two changes of fresh lukewarm water to soften it and to take out part of the salt.

Now to get down to the oft sung brass tacks, beginning with that fine old New England favorite, codfish balls:

CODFISH BALLS.

1 cup salt codfish
2 heaping cups diced raw potatoes
1 egg
1 tablespoon butter
¼ teaspoon pepper

Cook the soaked, shredded fish and diced potatoes in boiling water until the potatoes are nearly soft. Drain thoroughly in a strainer and then return to the kettle and shake over low heat until quite dry. Mash them vigorously, add the butter, pepper, and well beaten egg. Drop by spoonsful into deep fat at 385 degrees F. and fry for one minute or until delicately browned. Drain on absorbent paper.

Then by all means let's not omit that other old timer, creamed codfish with baked potatoes.

CREAMED CODFISH.

Bring one cup of the shredded, soaked fish to a boil in fresh water, drain, and repeat. Drain again and add to it a cup and a half of your favorite white sauce. When this mixture is piping hot stir in one well beaten egg, continue heating for a few seconds, and serve with big, mealy, buttery baked potatoes.

Whereupon the jolly codfish flips a fin and hies himself from New England to the shores of Spain. His reception there is something like this:

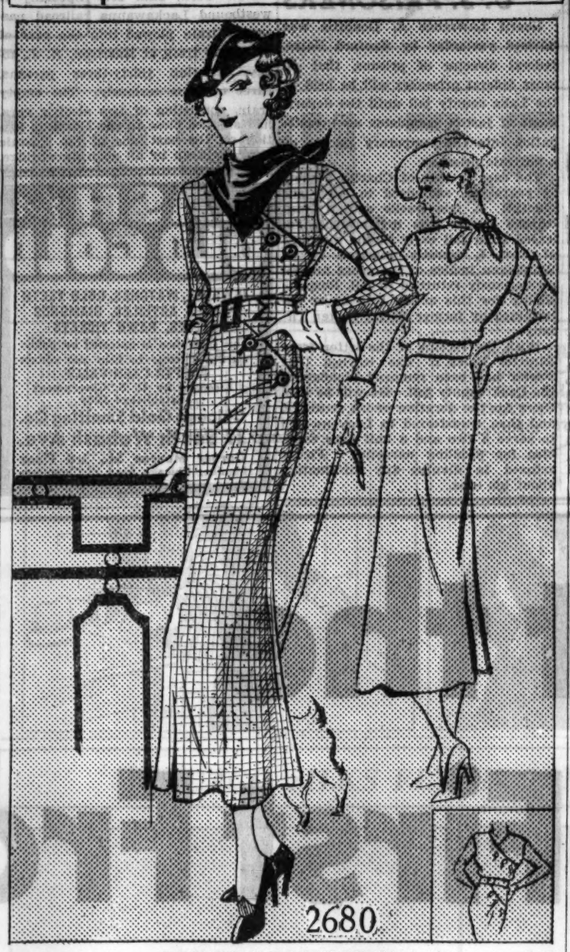

SPANISH CODFISH.

2-3 cup salt codfish
4 cold boiled potatoes, sliced
3 pimientos
1 cup well seasoned tomato sauce
½ cup buttered cracker crums
¼ teaspoon pepper

Shred and soak the fish for several hours. Drain and arrange in alternate layers with the sliced potatoes in a buttered baking dish, sprinkling on each layer a whiff of pepper and cheerful strips of the red pimiento. Pour the tomato sauce over the top, along with the buttered crums, and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., until the crums are nicely browned.

Simple, Practical and Smart

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This practical and smart dress is easy to make, in spite of the fact that it looks so tailored. The detachable scarf collar is a youthful detail, and becoming to many women. An almond green mixture, with brown accents in bone buttons, and a taffeta collar, made the original dress. Black crinkly crêpe, with white crêpe, is another suggestion.

The pattern, No. 2680, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The second chapter in the copious repertory of the Abbey Theater company of Dublin, revealed last night in the Harris theater, was the heartwarming comedy called "The Far-Off Hills," everybody's favorite, it seems, because of its mellow and quiet humor, untouched by satire. This piece is a pleasant document of the home life of the middle classes, dealing with minor domestic problems in a snug household where the only worries are how to get rid of the strait laced régime of the elder sister who tries to make her family a model of propriety. It represents the writing of Lennox Robinson, leading playwright of the Abbey for many years and now its managing director, in his happiest vein.

The work is rich in closely studied characterizations of small town folk in the vicinity of Dublin—a class that is closely akin to the average Americans of British ancestry. It is the type of play that is usually labeled as bourgeois comedy, but unlike the specimens of this form of dramatic authorship that clutter the American stage, its story runs in a natural vein; its situations are not based on artificial plot devices, and its humor is not farcical.

"The Far-Off Hills" is, in particular, a play for the ingénues of the company. A pair of bouncing adolescents, wearing flapper dresses in the first act and nightgowns in the second, form the core of the tale, and their impish intrigues to further their own ends by getting Sister Marion off to the convent in a hurry motivate the scenes. On the tour of two years ago these parts, "Ducky" and "Pet," were acted by Kate Curling and Ria Mooney; this year they fall to two young women new to American devotees of the Abbey—Frolie Mulhern and Aideen O'Connor.

These recruits are competent actresses and pleasant personalities, completely at home in the Abbey tradition. If comparisons are to be made they may take the point of view that the Misses Curling and Mooney were more practiced in comic pointing of the dialog and more spirited in the bedroom antics of the second act. But the Misses Mulhern and O'Connor are probably more faithful to the spirit of realism upon which the Irish drama is founded.

The other stalwarts are the same admirable artists—Carolan as the gentle, half-blind father; McCormick as the lugubrious bachelor; Miss Crowe as the prim sister who thinks she has a religious vocation; Miss Delaney as the widow ready for a second wooing; Shields as the aggressive young man with modern ideas; Dolan and the inimitable Fitzgerald as the jolly old sportsmen.

Tonight the company will stage Sean O'Casey's drama, "The Plough and the Stars."

"NATURALLY SKINNY FOLKS"
2 WAYS IN 1 TO ADD WEIGHT. Quick!
5 lbs. in 1 Week or No Cost!

Hosts of thin, pale, rundown folks—and even "Naturally Skinny" men and women—are amazed at this—new easy way to put on healthy needed pounds quickly. Gains of 15 to 20 lbs.—in one month—5 lbs. in a week—are reported regularly.

Kelpamalt, the new mineral concentrate from the sea—gets right down to the cause of thin, underweight conditions and adds weight, through a "2 ways in 1" natural process.

First, its rich supply of easily assimilable minerals stimulate the digestive glands which produce the juices that alone enable you to digest the fats and starches—the weight-making elements in your daily diet. Second, Kelpamalt's NATURAL IODINE is a mineral needed by the vital organ which regulates metabolism—the process through which the body is constantly building firm, solid flesh, new strength and energy. Three Kelpamalt tablets contain more iron and copper than a pound of spinach or 7½ pounds of fresh tomatoes; more calcium than 6 eggs; more phosphorus than 1½ lbs. carrots; more NATURAL IODINE than 1000 lbs. of beef.

Try Kelpamalt for a single week and notice the difference—how much better you feel. If you don't gain at least 5 lbs. of good, firm flesh in 1 week the trial is free.

Kelpamalt costs but little at all Walgreen Drug Stores

As the result of Kelpamalt's tremendous popularity, many inferior imitations—sold as kelp and malt preparations—are being advertised. Don't be fooled. Ask for the original, genuine Kelpamalt Tablets. Hear Gabrilowitsch Concert Plans.

A half dozen of last season's debutantes sipped tea yesterday afternoon in the apartment of Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr., at 210 East Pearson street and learned their duties for Sunday afternoon when they are to distribute souvenir programs at the Ossip Gabrilowitsch concert in Orchestra hall. According to Mrs. Harvey's instructions they will not have to demonstrate their salesmanship for they will have nothing to sell.

Nevertheless the committee sponsoring the concert expects to add a very sizeable sum to the treasury of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene through the ticket and box sale.

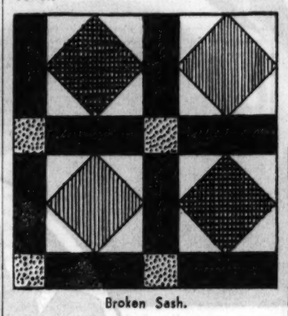

Vacation Trips Topic at Tea.

The several debutantes who were among the tea guests of Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence and Mrs. John Andrews King yesterday at the Arts club were discussing their prospective winter vacations as much as their duties next Monday night when they will usher at the opening of "The Continental Varieties" at the Studebaker theater. The opening night will benefit the Chicago Maternity Center.

Miss Nancy Doering, chairman of the ushers, whose grandfather, Dr. Edmund J. Doering, was one of the founders along with Dr. Joseph B. De Lee of the institution that became the Chicago Maternity Center and the Chicago Lying-In hospital, was talking of a visit in the east where she will go on Feb. 11. She may go to Bermuda later to visit the Francis P. Butlers.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

OVERCALLS AND DOUBLES.

Most of my readers played auction for years before taking up contract. Many of you are more or less unconsciously—or certainly unquestioningly—attempting to use auction defensive tactics in the new game. I myself did this for a while, and with calamitous results. I realized that there was an ailment in my game. Painfully, I arrived at a diagnosis and evolved a treatment. That treatment for the defensive situation is highly effective for me and for the group of players associated with me. I believe it will prove effective also for you, provided you are willing to delve with me into the theory which underlies it, and that you realize that it must be applied by a partnership of two players playing twenty-six cards against twenty-six. If you apply my methods but your partner does not know them, the results will be disastrous; you will be pitting thirteen cards against thirty-nine. Remember, therefore, that your defensive bidding no less than your constructive bidding must be based on partnership understanding and cooperation.

Three Weapons Instead of Only Two.

In contract you have three weapons of defensive bidding—the double, the overcall, and the pass. In auction you have only the two first named. To pass in auction was to give up hope on the hand. Except in the rarest cases, when you had what we called a "minimum auction double," you gave up all hope of getting a plus on the hand if you passed an opening bid made by an opponent. They would play the hand in that contract of one, especially one in a major suit, or perhaps in one no trump; and would score what the hand would yield. I am not thinking so much of game hands against you as of part score hands yielding two or three odd. Give them two such hands before your side was dealt a game going hand and they would make their game in two instalments without risk or stress. Therefore, in auction, TO PASS WAS TO SURRENDER, as only when your partner could unexpectedly make a defensive move—which was not likely in view of the opening bid and the high cards we are assuming you to hold—was there any hope of your getting a plus score on the hand. For these reasons, LIGHT NEGATIVE DOUBLES WERE NECESSARY at auction. Seldom had your opponents overbid their hands when they were contracting to take seven or possibly eight tricks; yet if they could make 30 points, they could score game. In contract, however, it is different. One must bid for game in order to score it. Consequently YOUR OPPONENTS MAY NOW OVERBID FOR YOUR BENEFIT and that, not in spite of your silence, but because of it. With the typical material for even a good auction double it is best to pass in contract because in the new game A PASS HAS BECOME A WEAPON OF DEFENSE more often than not. It may be a trap. There is little reason to interfere with the free bidding of your opponents when you feel that your hand will defeat a game contract if they get to it. If you want your opponents to bid to game because you think you can beat them, pass; if you are afraid that they will make game if they bid it, make some defensive move if you can find the justification for it in your hand. As to the nature of such move, that depends on the type of your hand and cannot be safely or intelligently predicated solely on some count of primary tricks. You must, as I will explain in the articles to follow, be able to see at least one move ahead.

Parents Need Not Hope for a Robot Nurse

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Perhaps, some day, a robot will wash our dishes and clean our rooms and launder our clothes for us. But there's one thing no robot ever will be able to do, and that is take care of our children for us, even in the most routine matters.

There was a time when such an impersonal and efficient approach to child training was being recommended by experts that the old fashioned mother often wondered if they weren't going to reach the point of suggesting first a robot-nurse, and then a robot-mother.

Happily the pendulum is swinging back again, and the value of the human touch is fully recognized.

Unfortunately though, it isn't always made clear by writers on the subject, because their printed words are often so concerned with techniques. The result is that there are still young mothers, trying to be modern, who get to be actually businesslike and impersonal with their children, and lose the warm, loving human touch which makes life worth living to a person of any age.

Meals and baths and toilet routines and going to bed then become dull and lifeless acts. These parents would think it "spoiling a baby" to ease an access of night fears by holding a chubby little fist in theirs, to make that play-interrupting old trip to the bathroom a friendly or jolly affair, to tuck him in and talk cozily before turning out lights and opening windows or to pull off a tight sweater with a laughing "Let's skin the rabbit!" or to help a tired child through the [to him stupid] face washing by some diverting little remark like, "Shave the monkey!"

Don't let your handling of your children get to be too mechanical or too businesslike or too impersonally efficient. Warm humanness is what children need. It won't offset your intelligent approach to child training—it will, rather, help you to achieve really better results.

Splendid Tone Marks Recital by Bela Martay

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Bela Martay, young Chicago violinist, gave his second recital of the season since returning from Europe at Kimball hall last night, and did much to confirm the favorable opinion of his abilities formed when he played the first time.

He has an excellent tone and considerable technical development upon which to base it, though he would seem to care little about technical display for its own sake. In fact, one of the first impressions gained from his performances is that he is likely to play for his own sake and for the pleasure to be found in his music rather than with the idea of impressing himself as a forceful artist upon his hearers. Incidentally, that is no bad state of mind for a performance of Brahms.

Mr. Martay and Prudence Neff at the piano gave an extremely able and resourceful rendition of the Brahms Sonata in D minor, opus 108, and it thereby became one of the leading items on the program.

Elsewhere Mr. Martay played the Vivaldi-Franko Concerto in G minor, Dohnanyi's "Ruralia Hungarica," and a long group of shorter works which included not only Schubert and Bach, but Hubay, Paganini, and Sarasate among the composers.

FARMERS WANT BETTER ROADS TO HAUL PRODUCE

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The streets of Quincy were filled today with thousands of farmers from every one of Illinois' 102 counties to attend the opening session of the twentieth annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural association.

Convention Is Celebration.

With their share of the state's increased cash farm income totaling 119 million dollars, or 42 per cent more than the low period of 1932, the farmers are turning the convention into a celebration. Gossip in the hotel lobbies would indicate that none of this money is to be doled out to the unemployed through the state's present unemployment relief system. The chief "irritating question" coming up in the meeting tomorrow and Thursday deals with unemployment relief.

Many farmers here are laying plans to adopt a vigorous resolution asking for a complete change in the present administration of the unemployment relief work in Illinois.

They object to the dole system and want it changed to a work relief program. Delegates point out that more than 70 per cent of the farmers in this state are living on dirt roads and do not have all weather connections with the hard surfaced highways. Many favor using the unemployed army in building roads and streets rather than to continue to spend money for direct relief.

Review Last Year's Work.

Today has been spent by the farmers in reviewing last year's activities of various subsidiaries of the Illinois Agricultural association with 62,000 members. The business of eight associated companies and organizations totaled $1,182,952 in 1934, according to figures given at meetings of the subsidiaries held in different parts of the city today.

Officials at the Illinois Farm Supply company conference reported the organization's 58 companies, serving 75,000 farmers in 90 counties, handled more than 7 million dollars' worth of such products as gasoline, oil, grease, paints, and tires last year, paying its members $650,000 in patronage dividends.

Holders of policies in the Country Life Insurance company paid a gross premium of $1,320,000, effecting a saving of $396,000, officials reported.

The 38,000 farmers who insured their automobiles through the Illinois Agricultural Mutual Insurance company last year paid $450,000 in premiums and saved themselves $300,000.

96 Millions in Policies.

The Farmers Mutual Reinsurance company's statement of last year's business showed that organization has 96 million dollars' worth of insurance in force, with policy holders paying a premium of $258,252, bringing in savings to farmers of $125,000.

Another one of the Illinois Agricultural association's subsidiaries, the Illinois Producers Creameries, Inc., which is only a year and a half old, handled an aggregate business of $800,000 in 1934 at its five plants located at Bloomington, Moline, Peoria, Champaign and Olney. That concern added $193,000 more to the dairy farmer members' bank accounts. Two more creameries are to be established soon at Galesburg and Carbondale.

The Illinois Farm Bureau Serum association handled $175,000 worth of serum and virus, used in preventing hog cholera, last year. Through this cooperative agency farmers save $31,198.

Hearing at Marked Tree, Ark.

Marked Tree, Ark., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The sharecroppers—described by Norman Thomas, Socialist party leader, as "forgotten men," living in conditions "worse than peonage"—carried their grievances to the government today.

Workers from the east Arkansas farms took their complaint and affidavits to the temporary office in which Mrs. Mary Conner Myers of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, is conducting an investigation at the direction of Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

Keeps Details Secret.

In conformity with her announced policy, Mrs. Myers revealed nothing concerning what she heard. Her report will go to Washington shortly.

The Southern Tenant Farmers union and sharecroppers not identified with the union have complained to Washington that sharecroppers have been evicted by the Arkansas landlords, some because of their membership in the union, others because of their insistence on sharing government parity payments under the acreage reduction contracts with the government.

Teacher Would Return.

Meantime Ward H. Rodgers, who lost his job as a federal emergency relief administration worker following his arrest and conviction of a charge of anarchy, remained here awaiting efforts by friends to obtain his reinstatement. His appeal from a six months jail sentence and $500 fine imposed by a magistrate's court jury here last week will be heard in March. He is under bond.

The state charged that Rodgers tried to incite farm workers to riot in an address to a meeting of white and Negro sharecroppers.

FREIGHTER RUNS ON LEDGE NEAR HALIFAX HARBOR

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 29.—(AP)—After a trip around the world the British freighter Silveryew went aground outside Halifax harbor tonight on Meagher's rock, but despite two holes in her hull was expected to be refloated at high tide tomorrow with her heavy oriental cargo.

The 6,873 ton motor vessel struck in a blinding snowstorm, but the sea was calm and the crew remained aboard, there being no immediate danger.

BRITAIN FACES RIOTS OVER NEW DOLE PLAN, M. P. WARNS COMMONS

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—John Allen Parkinson, Lancashire Laborite, told the house of commons today demonstrations against the dole and reorganization program have been arranged throughout the country. He said the disorders in the commons gallery last night were only the forerunner.

"The disorders," he said, "may not be so bad as the demonstrations we shall see ere long."

The members fighting the program of the government said the reorganization of the dole system on a national basis reduces the amounts the unemployed receive in many instances.

Detectives were seated in every gallery row tonight to prevent a repetition of spectators' outbursts. George Buchanan, Glasgow Laborite, who described Prime Minister MacDonald as a "mountebank, cur, and swine" last night, expressed regret today that he had spoken so emphatically. He said he would not withdraw his remarks, however, because "I believe what I said was true."

LAKE COUNTY'S JAIL DEPRIVED OF U. S. PRISONERS

Sherif Lawrence A. Doolittle was advised yesterday by Sanford Bates, federal director of prisons, that no more federal prisoners will be held at the Lake county jail until the department of justice completes an investigation into the temporary release of a narcotic prisoner.

The case is that of Charles Foster, 34 years old, sentenced to serve six months. A few weeks ago it was learned Foster was mysteriously released from jail early in the morning of Nov. 8, secretly married by a Waukegan justice of the peace and as mysteriously returned to jail. Responsibility for this action was never determined by former Sherif Lester Tiffany.

With the receipt of the letter from Director Bates it was learned that Foster had been removed Monday to the Cook county jail. He will be held there for the duration of his sentence, and then transferred to Leavenworth to serve a two and a half year term, also for peddling narcotics. Foster refused to divulge any information about his case.

HYDRAULIC BRAKES . .
STEEL BODIES . .
FLOATING POWER . .
REDISTRIBUTION OF WEIGHT
Were all Introduced by Chrysler Engineers

New De Soto and Chrysler Airstream cars are now on display at dealers everywhere. (Left) Every Chrysler Motors car has Hydraulic Brakes, the finest made.

"I'M GOING TO BUY a new car this year." Thousands of motorists have come to that decision.

"But what kind shall I buy?" Many people are confused. So many new models. So many conflicting claims. So many desirable features to choose from.

But if you examine the models carefully . . . if you sift the claims . . . you will come to this simple conclusion: There are THREE outstanding car features that you must have in 1935.

They are . . . Hydraulic Brakes . . . All-Steel Bodies . . . and the scientific Redistribution of Weight for Riding Comfort. Auto-editors throughout the country pick them as the "big three" of the year.

Now check over the list of 1935 cars. See which ones offer you all three of these major engineering features. You'll be amazed. Only the four Chrysler Motors cars . . . Chrysler, De Soto, Dodge and Plymouth . . . meet your requirements, completely.

Isn't it reassuring to know that, since 1924, Chrysler Motors has built over 3,000,000 cars with Hydraulic Brakes . . . the safest and most economical kind of brakes in the world?

Isn't it a comfort to know that you are riding in an All-Steel Body . . . one that will protect you in case of a sudden emergency? These bodies are the result of years of development.

As for Redistribution of Weight, everybody who keeps abreast of automotive developments knows this was first presented in the famous Chrysler and De Soto Airflow cars. And the men who conceived it have made it basic in every Chrysler Motors car.

And don't forget Floating Power Engine Mountings . . . the only known way to banish engine vibration. It's a patented feature. It can't be imitated. It has no substitute.

See these History-Making Cars

Is it any wonder that more and more buyers are choosing Chrysler-built cars . . . expecting the good things first from Chrysler Motors . . . and getting them?

We urge you to see the new 1935 models, now on display. In addition to being safer and more comfortable . . . amazing new mechanical features have been added that make them most economical to run.

RANGERS WIN, 7-5; 10TH GAME WITHOUT DEFEAT

EXPECT 14,000 TO SEE RODAK BOX CANZONERI

Gate Receipts May Reach $30,000.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Great happiness prevailed in the counting room of the Chicago Stadium last night when Matchmakers Jim Mullen and Nate Lewis dropped in to see how the battle they had arranged for tomorrow night between Tony Canzoneri of New York and Leo Rodak has caught on with the Chicago public.

Well, they were pleasantly surprised at the way things have turned out. The seat sale up to and including the early hours of last evening indicated that about 14,000 will gather at the Stadium ringside to see the lightweight scrap.

If this sort of a crowd does appear on the Stadium scene the gate will total in the neighborhood of $30,000. Those are tremendous figures in this day and age.

Both Fighters Popular.

Down in Miami the other night Barney Ross and Frankie Klick met with a world's championship at stake and business wasn't much better.

The matchmakers couldn't come to a conclusion as to just what it is that has created all the interest. Still Rodak is one of the most popular of all TRIBUNE Golden Gloves graduates and Canzoneri has rolled up the good record of never having performed in dull fashion before a Chicago crowd. He has appeared here a dozen times against the best that could be mustered against him. His early scraps with Bud Taylor are almost a legend in the minds of many boxing followers.

While the matchmakers were keeping themselves busy watching the money roll in at the box offices Canzoneri and Rodak were winding up their drills, Rodak at the Catholic Youth gymnasium and Canzoneri at Trafton's.

Both Can Make Weight.

The problem of making weight, which at the time the match was being made appeared to be a serious issue, had disappeared from both camps after yesterday's final stiff rehersals. Rodak weighed in at 131½. Pat Keneally, Rodak's handler, will endeavor to build the Chicago boy up to exactly 133½ pounds between now and the time the official weighing ceremonies take place.

Canzoneri did not weigh in public yesterday. "I can make 131 if necessary," he said. "But I'll try to weigh 133 when we visit the commissioners on the afternoon of the scrap."

Betting was quite brisk in some quarters yesterday with Canzoneri still ranging as the 8 to 5 favorite. There isn't likely to be much change in these quotations until bell time, many persons anxious to wager thought yesterday.

Risko Mauls Partners.

Solly Dukelsky of Chicago, who meets Babe Risko of Syracuse in another bout on the card, didn't receive any encouraging reports from the scouts he sent over to Risko's training camp yesterday.

The tidings that reached Dukelsky's camp were to the effect that Risko had knocked Tom Jones down for a long count during his speedy hard hitting training session.

To the boys who frequent the gymnasiums that was quite a startling bit of news. They recalled that Jones had been a sparmate of both Primo Carnera and King Levinsky while they trained in Chicago.

Braves May Get 11 Year Lease on Park

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Braves field in Boston has been saved for baseball, Ford Frick, president of the National league, announced today, discussing a rumor that the National league has signed an eleven year lease with the Gaffney estate holder of the property.

"The league has not signed any lease," Frick said. "The facts in the case are that as soon as the reports of the attempt of the dog racing interests to obtain a lease came out, league officials got together with the representatives of the estate and made a proposition that would keep the park as a baseball property.

Dogs Are Out.

"We found the dog racing syndicate had not actually signed any papers, and therefore the holders of the plant were ready to listen to our plea. Matters have progressed to such a stage that we are sure Judge Emil Fuchs will be able to obtain a lease for a period of years before the time he has agreed to report back to the league at its meeting on Feb. 5. But it can be said very explicity that there will be no dog racing at the park."

Realty Men Act.

League officials made it plain to the Gaffney estate representatives, Frick said, that if the dog racing syndicate was allowed a lease, baseball still would stay in Boston. The fact that an opposition plant would be built had its effect, for the real estate men then agreed the racing firm would have to seek a field somewhere else.

"We are sure that Judge Fuchs will get a lease of at least 11 years, perhaps longer," Frick added. "At any rate it will be long enough so that the racing problem will not worry us again."

M'LARNIN SEEKS ROSS FIGHT IN MADISON SQUARE

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Two bouts are in prospect for Jimmy McLarnin, welterweight champion, and until negotiations have been concluded he is not interested in other matches, Pop Foster, McLarnin's manager, announced tonight when informed that a Los Angeles bout with Bep Van Klavern, Holland welterweight, had been proposed.

"We are negotiating with New York pomoters for a title fight with Barney Ross in May and we have also received an offer for a bout with Jack Hood, British welter," he said. "Both matches would be held in Madison Square Garden. After that we will take on Bep Van Klavern, or anyone else—for $80,000."

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 29.—Dear Wake: Back in the old days, on the east side of Evanston avenue, now Broadway, near corner of School street, now Aldine, was a frame building known as "The Chapel." There was held a Sunday school to which people of all denominations sent their children.

This school was established and conducted by a devout family named Baird. The father was a charming man with short full beard, known to us children affectionately as "Old Man Baird"—although he was not 50—to distinguish him from his son, who was superintendent of the Sunday school. This son, Lyman Baird, played bass viol in the orchestra. We sang the good old Moody and Sankey hymns, "Throw Out the Life Line," "Work, For the Night Is Coming," and others.

Mrs. Baird was a dear woman who wore little bonnets tied under her chin, and taught a Bible class, giving us lesson leaflets with a golden text to be learned.

Climax of the season was the Christmas entertainment held in the evening when prizes were given for perfect attendance, and that meant 52 Sundays, rain or shine, and no excuses. A family by the name of Stone had a large family of boys who took prizes each Christmas. Our teacher was Miss Clara Peters, whose memory is ever green.—One of the Sunday School Kids.

In 1867 I was office boy for Miner T. Ames, who had coal yards at Green and Kinzie on the north branch of the river and at the Randolph street bridge, west. He told me that he started as a pack peddler and expected to make money in the merchandising business, but soon got into coal activities.

I went for his lunch every noon to Randolph near Peoria. His wife [they boarded then] often took me up to their room and played the piano for me, which was a great treat. They had no children, so she took interest in me, a mere office boy, and wished to see me get along, which is well remembered although now I am in the late '70s.—H. M. S.

Missed Opportunity.

As constant readers, if any, will recall, The Wake appeared only as a left ear and gray fedora of a crowd scene in the currently filmed "Dante's Inferno" because our shoes did not guide us well down the slippery passage to hell in the picture. In recognition of the ability shown by our left ear and gray fedora, however, we were given the lines, "I object" for a speaking part in the courtroom scene.

We practiced those intricate lines—O, how we practiced them—for ten days in the seclusion of our den until we were letter perfect. Then what happened? On one of those days when we felt it incumbent to improve the breed of thoroughbreds at Santa Anita they were ready to shoot this particular scene. We were not there. It nearly stopped the picture, but our stand-in finally took the rôle and delay was avoided.

We protested to Director Lachman. He looked rather stern as he replied, "Our leads are supposed to stay on the set when we're ready to shoot." We've asked for another crack at a speaking part and will inform Wakers if it takes place. At present, we're just a left ear and gray fedora.

Avon Place.

When December comes at the end of the year
And shopping and gifts take much grace,
I wish we could all be together again
As we were on old Avon place.

But Time, the old rascal, is busy, you know,
With wrinkles he marks up each face;
Some loved ones are gone, so we never could be
As we were on old Avon place.

New faces have come and our line has spread out,
And our families take up more space;
So we never again will have the fun we had then
As we were on old Avon place.

C. Y. O. BOXERS TAKE GOLDEN GLOVES TESTS

Report for Examinations Tonight.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Amateur boxers of the Catholic Youth organization, other than the eight 1935 champions who already have won the right to compete in the Tournament of Champions, will appear tonight at the C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street, for their Golden Gloves medical examinations. Passing this test and presenting parental consent cards qualify the C. Y. O. boys for first round matches in the Chicago sectionals, both Open and Novice divisions.

Jack Elder, director of athletics, has sent out notifications to C. Y. O. boxers to report tonight. The hours are from 6:30 until 8 o'clock.

600 Take Examinations.

On Friday night at Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street, more than 600 boxers will report for examination. This group includes some of the strongest teams in the city.

Entries for the eighth annual Golden Gloves tournament sponsored by THE TRIBUNE will close at midnight Friday. All entries received from today on until Saturday will be notified to appear for examination next Wednesday, Feb. 6, at Trafton's gym. This will be the last examination. The last day for entries is this Friday. The deadline is necessary in order to complete the clerical work, which involves handling nearly 3,000 entries and mailing instructions and tickets to all those who pass the examinations before the first sectional tournament opens at White City on Feb. 11.

The south side tournament will run five days, but not consecutively. Two rings will be in use at White City. The north side tournament at Loyola university also will require two rings and three days, Feb. 19, 20, and 21.

West Side Crowded.

On the west side there will be five days of boxing in one ring at the Community Recreation center, 4711 Madison street. The days are Feb. 13, 14, 15, 20, and 21. The number of boxers that can be accommodated on the west side is limited and when this number is reached, others must compete in either the north or south side tournaments.

One of the latest team entries received came from Dick Mastro, who competed in the 1931 Tournament of Champions. He is a younger brother of Earl Mastro, former Chicago featherweight contender. Dick has named six boys to represent the Mastro Boxing club, chief among them being Jerry Mathieu, 1934 Central A. A. U. flyweight champion. Another who may be a strong contender is Joe De Pasquale. He will fight at 118 pounds and Mathieu will compete at 112.

The Savoy Athletic club leads in team entries other than those representing the C. Y. O. Yesterday the names of 67 boxers were submitted, including a list of 45 who will compete in the Open division. All weights are represented, with twelve Open division fighters registering in the lightweight class. These boys will be examined Friday night at Trafton's gymnasium. Other individual entries from this club have been received previously.

P. Y. O. Enters 24.

Ted Bogan, president of the Polish Youth organization, 4633 South Ashland avenue, has registered 24 from his gymnasium. Most of them are experienced fighters.

The North Side Area project, which has participated in Golden Gloves for the last two years, again has submitted the names of 32 boxers. Most of them probably will be assigned to the North section tournament and they are Novice boxers in the main. The entries were submitted by J. D. Lohman.

James Toman of the Opal A. A., who was an alternate on the 1931 Golden Gloves intercity team, has sent in an entry list of nine. Toman coaches the Opal fighters, among them Mike De Kovic, a veteran middleweight. This was the same weight in which Toman competed four years ago.

Allerton Has Team.

Eddie Ballatin of the Allerton hotel gymnasium has entered a squad of six boxers. The Southeast News team, which is coached by Harold Jones, expects to win qualifying positions in the south side tournament. Among its foremost representatives is Owen Woods, welterweight, who has lost only eight decisions in forty bouts.

GLENN WRIGHT SIGNS TO PLAY WITH WHITE SOX

Glenn Wright, for several years a great shortstop with the Pittsburgh Pirates and later captain and shortstop for the Brooklyn Dodgers, yesterday was signed by the White Sox as a utility infielder.

Wright was given his unconditional release by the Dodgers at the close of the 1933 season. Last spring Lew Fonseca, then manager of the White Sox, sought to get him to sign with the Chicago outfit. Wright replied that he had made arrangements to return to the scene of his rookie triumphs, Kansas City.

Last year Wright staged a brisk comeback in the early months of the season, but faded badly later on. It was said at the close of the season that Wright had been bounced outright by the Blues, but announcement of the Sox transaction yesterday said he had been obtained by purchase from the Kansas City club.

WHIP TORONTO TO TAKE THIRD FROM DETROIT

Veteran Line Scores 1,000th Point.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The New York Rangers sped past the idle Detroit Red Wings into third place in the American division of the National Hocky league tonight by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs, 7 to 5, before a crowd of 15,000. It was their tenth consecutive game without a defeat.

In addition to breaking the tie with Detroit, the Rangers attained another objective when their veteran forward line of Bill and Bunny Cook and Frank Boucher made 9 points to bring their total to an even thousand since they joined the New York club in 1926. Bill Cook scored two goals, the others each one, and a total of five assists were given the trio, although some of the passes were not visible from the press box.

After rolling up a 3 to 0 lead in the first period the Rangers nearly lost their margin in a wild third period, which saw six goals scored. Dave Kerr, little goalie, played the major part in saving the New Yorkers. He made 58 saves, 45 of them in the last two periods. Lineup:

Late in the second period, when Bert McInenly was in the penalty box, the Americans threw five men into the attack for two minutes. Just as McInenly's time expired, Babe Siebert had the visitors trapped and was carrying the puck past the penalty box.

McInenly jumped out, shouldered Siebert out of the way and took the puck away from him to score the third goal. Nels Stewart got the fourth goal early in the third period. Lineup:

POLO TEAMS TO MEET TOMORROW IN CHARITY GAME

122d Artillery to Play Black Horse Troop.

The Black Horse troop and the 122d Field Artillery will meet in the feature polo game in conjunction with the military exhibition to be given by the Black Horse troop at the Chicago Riding club, 333 East Erie street, tomorrow evening for the benefit of the Little Wanderer Day nursery.

In the opener the 106th Cavalry will play a picked Riding club trio.

Between the halves of the first game members of the troop will compete for the jumping championship. Several preliminary contests have already been run off, eliminating all but eight high scoring contestants.

Troop to Drill.

During the intermission between the games the Black Horse troop will give an exhibition drill. Lieut. Roy D. Keehn Jr. will have a double duty to perform, first as the troop commander and then as the No. 2 player of the troopers' polo team.

The 122d Field Artillery's lineup will include Cliff Harrison, Art Zimmerman, and Carl Johnson. In addition to Keehn the Black Horse team will consist of Lieuts. William F. Kirby and Jack Armstrong.

Proceeds to Go to Charity.

The Black Horse troop mounted band, under the direction of Warrant Officer A. Boyd Pixley, will provide a band concert between the halves of the second battle. A burro novelty will furnish comedy relief.

The proceeds of the show will be contributed to the Little Wanderer Day nursery. The nursery is nonsectarian and has provided daytime care for the children of working mothers since 1905.

RAMBLERS VS. RIDING CLUB

Defeated in their first meeting, the Ramblers polo team will be out to reverse the verdict Saturday night in its game with the Chicago Riding club high goal trio at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The first game of the evening will bring together the Chicago Shamrocks and the Chicago Cardinals, in the junior division.

With Herb Lorber out of play because of two broken ribs, Maj. Richard G. Hunter of the Ramblers will revise his lineup. Lieut. Steve Hammond will be the second member of the team, but the third has not been named.

Capt. Maxwell Corpening and Jim Hannah will play for the Riding club. Prentice Porter or Dave Silberman will complete the team.

SCHROEDER WILL GIVE EXHIBITION AT ICE CARNIVAL

Spectators at the Medinah Country club's winter carnival Sunday will be introduced to the European style of competition by Eddie Schroeder, captain of the U. S. Olympic team.

In the Olympic games of 1932 at Lake Placid, in which Schroeder competed, the Americans had little trouble in defeating foreign entrants inasmuch as they were decided by the American system in which contestants race against each other in one race. But, although the Americans won, their times were far inferior to those by Europeans a week later in the world's championships. In these events the skaters raced against time, only two men, at opposite sides of the track, competing at one time.

After those races, Schroeder decided to change his form. He has now reached a point where he is considered superior to the Europeans in their own style of skating.

The difference between the American and European styles is fundamental. The American effect a choppy, running stroke, leaning far forward on their toes. This is effective in shorter races, but requires too much effort for record-breaking in the longer events. The Europeans skate off the back of their skates, and use a long, powerful, gliding stroke.

Delaware Pari-Mutuel Bill Goes to Governor

Dover, Del., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The Delaware house of representatives by a vote of 23 yeas to 11 nays today passed Senator Carl Vansant's bill to amend the racing commission law to provide for the use of pari-mutuel machines or totalizators at race tracks in Delaware. The signature of Gov. Buck is all that is required to make the bill a law.

COALS PLAY SUNDAY.

MOSTLY about DOGS
By Bob Becker

THE COLLIE.

If the dog fancier will take time to delve into the history of all the "dogs of the flocks" as the Bible speaks of sheep and cattle dogs of early days, he will find much fascinating reading surrounding the origin and history of the collies. There isn't any doubt that our present day collies have come from some of the cleverest dogs that ever lived and in our rough coated collie today we find that rich inheritance of quick thinking, eagerness to work and unquestioned loyalty which featured those marvelous early dogs in the highlands of Scotland.

The early collies had to work. And it was exacting work they had to do in the capacity of shepherd's assistant. Unusual intelligence was required in the breeding stock of those early dogs in order to get a race of sheep dogs that could do their job satisfactorily.

Therefore, today, when we see a rough coated collie in action on a farm, or watch the intriguing work of an old border collie handling a flock of sheep with speed and dispatch, we can thank those early Scotch shepherds for the fine job they did in developing one of the most intelligent, handsome and good looking dogs that man has ever brought into the home for a companion and working partner.

It is almost superfluous to enlarge upon the collie's sense of loyalty, his quick brain and the affection that he gives to "his family." As one breeder has pointed out, the collie considers that the family with whom he lives "belongs" to him, whereas many breeds feel that they belong to the master or mistress. This description isn't very far from the strict truth because the collie, because of his inheritance, likes to "ride herd" on those whom he loves. Sometimes he may carry this trait too far. If he is out in the yard watching over a baby the devoted collie with a well developed instinct of watching over his charge may not let any one come near the child except the mother.

The collie is a fairly large dog. He is an active dog, too. He likes lots of exercise and a chance to run. That is to be expected considering his origin among the unbounded open hills of Scotland. The estate owner, farmer or suburbanite with plenty of room for a dog to exercise could pick no finer breed than the collie for a companion, for children or for a watchdog to sort of "ride herd" on the whole place. Considering the fine qualities of this breed and its adherent desire to work, it is to be hoped that collie organizations will put plenty of emphasis on the collie as a field dog in coming years.

The average dog owner who is not familiar with the collie may look at the cunning expression of this breed and feel that the collie is not to be trusted. This is nothing less than libel against a sagacious, loyal dog. The collie has a sharp, intelligent expression. There is no doubt about that, but it is the reflection of a keen brain and a stanch heart. He is not a deceitful dog by any means. On the contrary once the collie attaches himself to master, mistress or family, nothing can make him swerve in his devotion and fidelity.

DRIVER INJURED IN ACCIDENT AT ARMORY TRACK

SPORT WRITERS VIEW FONSECA'S BASEBALL MOVIE

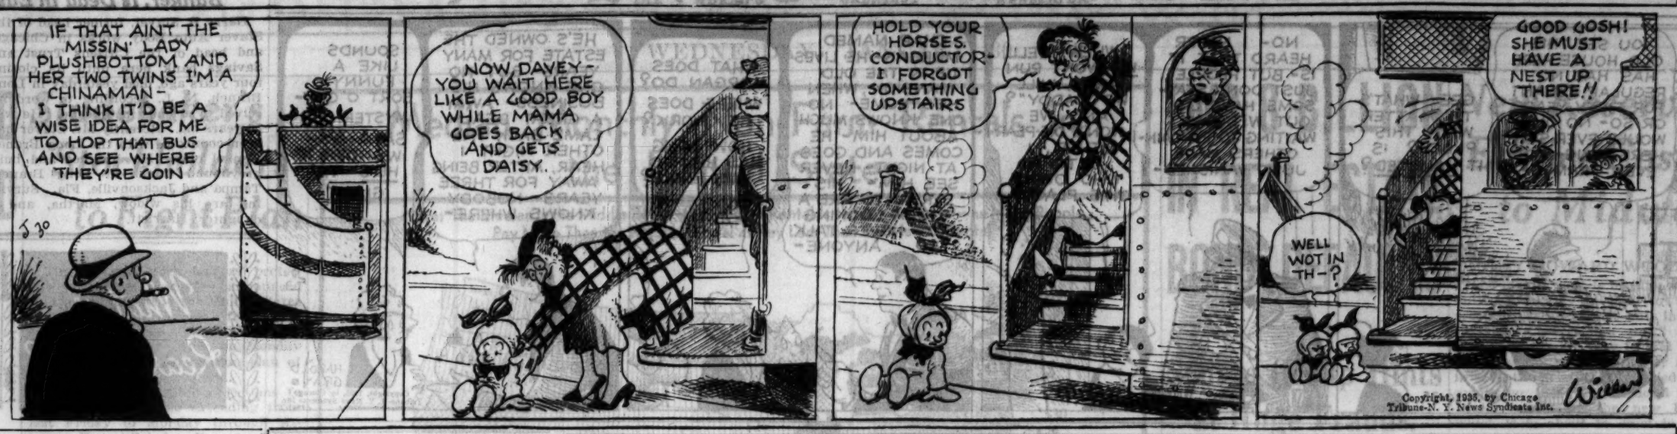

Play Ball, the film prepared and supervised by Lew Fonseca with the sanction of the American league, was presented to Chicago sports writers yesterday at a luncheon given by President William Harridge in the Straus building.

The purpose of the picture is to teach baseball fundamentals to young players. Closeups and slow motion of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foxx, Schoolboy Rowe, Mickey Cochrane, Al Simmons, Lefty Grove and other American league stars, demonstrating the right and wrong way to field, bat, pitch and catch, are highlights of the film. Rogers Hornsby, for example, explains the correct stance at the plate, wrist action, proper timing and the follow through swing. Mickey Cochrane demonstrates how signals are flashed.

The picture not only is helpful in showing youngsters the proper way to play, but it also gives spectators a better understanding of inside plays of the game. Ted Husing does the announcing.

The picture is now being shown before high schools, colleges, fraternal organizations, boys' clubs, etc., with the compliments of the American league. Applications for showings must be made to Lew Fonseca, 2410 Straus building, Chicago.

HAARLOW, BARKO IN SCORING DUEL

Chicago Star to Defend Lead Saturday.

Bill Haarlow, lanky sharpshooter of the University of Chicago quintet, and Johnny Barko of Iowa's Hawkeyes, will continue their fight for the Big Ten conference individual scoring championship this week-end, when their teams play in the only two western conference games scheduled.

Haarlow, who took the lead from Barko, 64 points to 55, when he dazzled Ohio State Monday night while the Maroons were losing to the Buckeyes, will attempt to maintain his average of 12 4-5 points per game against Purdue Saturday at the Maroon fieldhouse. The same night Barko and the Hawkeyes oppose Minnesota at Iowa City. Other conference quintets will be idle until Monday night.

300 Miles Per Is Goal of Sir Campbell

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell came back to America today with a hope of 300 miles an hour over Daytona Beach sands resting in his crated seven ton juggernaut Bluebird and the feeling that this perhaps was his last gamble with roaring death.

"Theoretically, she's faster than my old record of 272.108," he said. "I can't say more. But I will be satisfied with 300 miles an hour."

Rebuilds Speed Monster.

The slim Englishman, in his 50th year, knighted after he set a record at Daytona Beach in 1931, has every confidence that his entirely rebuilt monster will eclipse any speed man ever before has accomplished on land. The great Bluebird, retaining only the old 2,500 horse power motor, has been streamlined to perfection, equipped with double wheels in the rear to increase traction, and big flanges jutting out in back to act as air brakes in the five miles it takes him to come to a stop.

Tentatively, the time for Sir Malcolm's attempt has been set for between Feb. 14 and 20, when the beach at Daytona should be at its firmest and smoothest with a combination of east winds and full moon. He will leave for Daytona tomorrow with Lady Campbell and his 11 year old daughter, Jean, who arrived with him today on the Aquitania.

"She has many advantages over the car I drove in 1933," Campbell said, speaking of his car. "By seven months study in the wind tunnels we have reduced her windage to a point where we really need the air flanges to slow her down to reach the end of the 10½ miles run at Daytona in safety.

"Any kind of a lifting surface on her now," he chuckled, "and I'm sure she would take right off the ground."

Best Track in Sahara.

Success or failure in his attempt will depend entirely on beach conditions, he says. His tires are tested to withstand strains of better than 300 miles an hour. He has never driven the rebuilt car because there is no track in the world outside of Florida where a test can be made. But there is no questioning his optimism.

"I feel that there is no theoretical limit to automobile speed," he said, "provided that the perfect track, about 15 miles of hard, level sand, could be found. I saw the perfect spot in the depths of the Sahara dessert last year while I was hunting for gold south of Beggan, the last oasis out of Oran. It was 30 miles long and might have gone on for another 300 miles. But we could never have gotten Bluebird in there."

SMITH MEETS WEST.

McFadyen and Romnes Join Hawks Again

Doc Romnes and Donnie McFadyen, Blackhawk forwards who have been out of four hocky games as a result of injuries, yesterday had improved to the extent that they were able to skate about a bit during the Hawks' regular practice at the Stadium.

It was said that a week or so will have to pass before Doc and Donnie again will be able to go against the rigors of body checking and other rough feature of actual competition, but they will continue their skating maneuvers until such time as the club physician permits them to get back in the lineup.

The Hawks have won three and tied one of the four games played since the lads were hurt, due in a measure to the bolstering of the defense line through the purchase of Alex Levinsky. As a result no panic currently is being felt over the absence of the forwards, despite their high rating in Manager Clem Loughlin's assignment book.

Bob Morrison, right winger of the Port Colborne team of the Ontario Hocky association, worked out with the Hawks yesterday. He was the first of a list of amateurs to be looked over on the recommendation of Hawk scouts.

The tryout program will be carried out with the sanction of the Ontario Hocky association, the governing body insofar as amateurs are concerned.

Art Shires Plans to Try Comeback as Prizefighter

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Art Shires—the same boisterous "Whataman" who fought his way out of the American league and American association and ended up as a first baseman for the Fort Worth Texas league club last year—will try a comeback in the boxing ring. He has been matched to fight 190 pound Sid Hunter of Comanche, Tex., here Thursday night.

Several years ago, while playing with the Chicago White Sox, Art went on a fistic rampage to the extent that during the off-season he was signed for several heavyweight fights. He didn't go far in the ring, however. Now Shires needs money and a new athletic reputation.

He is 27 years old, powerfuly built, and has the word of Dandy Dick Griffin, local promoter, that if he will bear down in training he may still become a first class heavyweight.

"I figure I'm the Texas heavyweight champ now, but I guess I will have to go through the formality of winning it," Shires said.

AMATEUR HOCKY TEAMS TO PLAY FOR FIRST PLACE

The C. Y. O. All-Stars will be matched against the Baby Ruths and the Boston Store against Post. The first game starting at 8 o'clock will be refereed by Art Coulter and Marty Burke of the Blackhawks. Howie Morenz will officiate in the second game.

This evening's games will have an important bearing on the league standing, as all four clubs are bunched near the top and should the Baby Ruths lose their match with the C. Y. O. they will drop from the lead into second place. The two teams have met twice before, the Ruths winning both times.

DEMPSEY CAN'T REFEREE LASKY, BRADDOCK BOUT

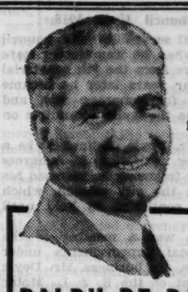

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The New York state athletic commission, of which Brig. Gen. John J. Phelan is chairman, today ruled that Jack Dempsey cannot referee Friday's fight between Art Lasky and James J. Braddock, as the Madison Square Garden management requested.

The commission also proclaimed that it has no fear of the threatened legislative investigation of its conduct—the legislature being predominantly Democratic—and attempted to explain the reversal of the decision in last week's Vince Dundee-Babe Risko battle at Madison Square Garden, summarily ordered by Gen. Phelan, twenty minutes after the fight.

The commission said the mixup was due to [a] the failure of Sidney Scharlin, one of the judges, to write in full on his score card the reasons for giving the decision to Risko, and [b] the failure of Chairman Phelan to inquire whether Scharlin had any reasons other than the brief inscription on the card which declared Risko the winner.

These failings, Phelan explained, were unfortunate, but there they were.

Phelan settled the proposal to install Dempsey as a referee by explaining that Dempsey was more fitted to function as president of Madison Square Garden than Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, the incumbent, and the one who proposed Dempsey as the third man in the ring Friday night.

ALD. THOMAS DOYLE.

Ald. Doyle had been in ill health for nearly a year and his condition had been serious for six weeks following a pneumonia attack. Two weeks ago he announced that he would not seek reelection as alderman for the 11th ward because of ill health.

Alderman Doyle was 49 years old. In 1914, when he was 28, he entered politics for the first time, defeating Ald. Charles Martin for his old Fifth ward seat.

In Council Until 1918.

Mr. Doyle served in the council until 1918, when he was elected state representative from the 9th senatorial district. Four years later he became a candidate for congress, won and was named to the house committee on agriculture.

In 1930 Mr. Doyle declined to be a candidate for reëlection to congress and the year following he resumed his old place in the city council, which position he continued to hold until his death.

Mr. Doyle was a member of the board of local improvements under Mayor Dever. In business, Mr. Doyle was president of the S. & L. Motor company. He was born in Chicago and before entering politics was for seven years employed in the office of the city controler.

Officials to Join in Rites.

Surviving Mr. Doyle are his widow, Emily; a brother, James, and four sisters, Julia, Della and Catherine Doyle and Mrs. Mae Abernathy, all of Chicago.

A special meeting of the city council was called for 11 o'clock tomorrow morning to make arrangements for department heads and aldermen to take part in the funeral services.

Preliminary plans call for a detail of police and firemen to attend the funeral, which has been set for Friday morning.

C. W. FERGUSON'S WIDOW SUED BY KIN FOR $100,000

Alleging that the late Charles W. Ferguson, wealthy Rogers Park real estate operator, was prevented by his widow from executing a will on the day previous to his death, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hess, a sister of Ferguson, filed suit yesterday in Superior court against Mrs. Lucinda Ferguson Chetlain, the widow. The suit seeks $100,000 which the bill alleges Mr. Ferguson intended to provide in his will as a trust fund for his sister.

Ferguson died intestate on July 7, 1930, leaving an estate valued at about $2,000,000. Heirs to the estate are the widow, since remarried to Attorney Frederick Chetlain, two sons, and a daughter.

Mrs. Hess who resides in Orange county, Fla., alleges that on the day before Ferguson's death, her brother and Attorney Chetlain, who was attorney for the estate, drafted a will containing the trust provision but that the widow seized the will from her husband "by force" and prevented him from signing it.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

As chairman of the President's Ball for Little America, Admiral Byrd decided that some sort of dance ought to be arranged for members of his expedition tonight while 5,000 communities in America are holding birthday celebrations. Since there are no women with the party in Little America this represented a knotty problem.

The following radiograms between CBS and Charles J. V. Murphy, communications officer for the Byrd crew, explain how the problem was solved:

To Little America: Miss Ford will be in studios during regular two way broadcast and will dance before mike while orchestra plays. She will carry on typical ballroom conversation as though dancing with explorers. Hope you didn't think we were sending her down there.

To New York: Men down here still don't get the idea of how they'll dance with Miss Ford. Are they supposed to talk back to her as though stepping on her feet? And what does she look like?

To Little America: Miss Ford will talk as though actually dancing with the men. For example, she will probably say, "It's cold tonight, isn't it?" or perhaps, "Let's sit the next one out for six months."

To New York: Again, what does Miss Ford look like? Men are asking.

To Little America: Miss Ford is one of the most beautiful models in America. Modeled for birthday ball poster painted by Howard Chandler Christy. Very stunning, eyes of the Andes, dark brown hair, light complexion and 19. She wants to know what the men look like.

To New York: Never mind what we look like. Tell her she'll be given a rush the like of which has not been seen since the opening of the Cherokee strip. Your description sounds grand even at twenty cents a word.

Thus tonight from 9 to 9:30 over WBBM-CBS Miss Ford will be the absentee dancing partner for the Byrd men.

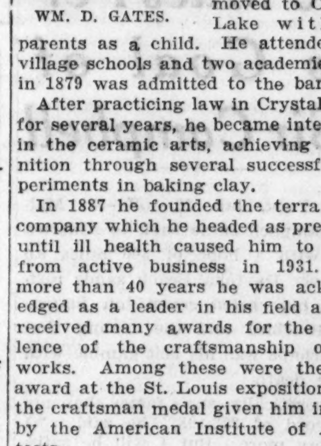

Members of Delta Tau Delta fraternity may also be looking to Miss Ford as a dancing partner. Col. Fredrick Palmer, world war correspondent, and a member of the fraternity will talk tonight to Frank Wade, a Delt, with Admiral Byrd. More than 150 collegiate and alumni chapters will be listening in throughout the nation.

Ireene Wicker, the Singing Lady, will present a story about President Roosevelt's boyhood on W-G-N at 5:30 p. m. today. The incidents she will relate she obtained many months ago in a letter from the President's mother. And she has been saving them for this birthday broadcast.

WM. D. GATES, NOTED POTTERY MAKER, IS DEAD

Pioneer Resident of Crystal Lake.

Funeral services for William D. Gates, a pioneer resident of Crystal Lake, founder of the American Terra Cotta and Ceramic company, one of the earliest pottery manufacturers in Illinois, will be held at his home near Crystal Lake at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Gates died in his home on Monday after a three year illness. He was 82 years old.

WM. D. GATES.

Born in Ashland, O., Mr. Gates moved to Crystal Lake with his parents as a child. He attended the village schools and two academies and in 1879 was admitted to the bar.

After practicing law in Crystal Lake for several years, he became interested in the ceramic arts, achieving recognition through several successful experiments in baking clay.

In 1887 he founded the terra cotta company which he headed as president until ill health caused him to retire from active business in 1931. For more than 40 years he was acknowledged as a leader in his field and he received many awards for the excellence of the craftsmanship of his works. Among these were the first award at the St. Louis exposition, and the craftsman medal given him in 1928 by the American Institute of Architects.

Mr. Gates aided in organizing the National Brick Manufacturers' association and later helped found the American Ceramic society. He served as president of both of these groups, and was a frequent contributor to various clay working magazines.

Mr. Gates is survived by his widow, Katherine; two sons, Neil and Major Gates; two daughters, Mrs. R. T. Evans and Mrs. Price Williams, and a sister Mrs. Walter Oakley. He was a member of the Cliff Dwellers, Architects' club, Builders' club, and the Chicago Athletic association.

San José, Cal., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Buford Otis Brown, 51, associate professor of journalism at Stanford university since 1923, was found dead, apparently a suicide, police said, in his motor car near Saratoga, Cal., today.

Deputy sherifs, who sought him at his wife's request, said a tube had been connected to the exhaust to bring fumes inside the car.

Brown had an attack of influenza in Chicago last Christmas. He had brooded over imaginary debts, it was said, his widow declaring his affairs were not in bad condition.

JOSEPH NELSON, 74 years old, 6309 North Oakley avenue, resident of Chicago for fifty years, who died of a heart attack in his home Sunday, will be buried in Rosehill cemetery today after funeral services at 2:30 p. m. in the chapel at 6208 North Western avenue.

Empty Your Gall Bladder

And You'll Feel Like a Billion Dollars!

Sleepless nights, dog-tired days, headaches, pains in all parts of the body—indigestion—gas. Do you suffer from one or all?

And have you tried every medicine under the sun, only to find yourself back where you started?

No wonder, for you, like thousands of others have probably been treating yourself for everything but the right thing. Get at the unsuspected cause—your gall bladder. If sluggish, it won't pour into your small intestines the most important digestive juice necessary for neutralizing gastric acid, quickening digestion and disinfecting the intestinal tract. If this juice doesn't flow freely, then your food sours, putrifies, stomach becomes filled with gas and acidity.

From the world's greatest chemists comes a simple, pleasant means to make this digestive juice flow freely, and put you on the sunny side of life. Magnesia Oxoids, little white tablets that release pure oxygen. This amazing oxygen—purer than the air you breathe—plus magnesia, gently stimulates the gall bladder, neutralizes burning acidity and sweeps that poison-packed bowel clean. Take two Oxoids after each meal—and before retiring—drink plenty of water—put your gall bladder to work—and you'll jump out of your skin for joy. Such new health! Such robust vigor! Get Magnesia Oxoids today from your druggist.—Advertisement.

USUAL DIVIDEND IS DECLARED BY U. S. STEEL

Final Quarter Deficit Over 10 Millions.

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Directors of the United States Steel corporation today ordered payment of a 50 cent quarterly dividend on preferred stock—the rate which has been in effect since regular $7 annual disbursements were abandoned in January, 1933. The dividend is payable Feb. 27 to preferred stock of record Feb. 1. When this disbursement is made accumulations will amount to $11.25 a share.

The company reported total earnings of $3,761,716 for the December quarter of 1934 after ordinary operating expenses, compared with $3,763,863 for the September quarter, and $5,537,084 for the last quarter of 1933.

Deficit Over 10 Million.

After interest, depreciation, depletion and overhead expenses on iron ore properties, deficit for the quarter was $10,234,413, compared with deficits of $9,826,767 for the third quarter of 1934, and with $7,945,445 in the last quarter of 1933.

For the entire year 1934 net operating income was $22,884,871, exclusive of depreciation allowance, compared with $7,083,376 for the preceding year. The total reduction in surplus after the payment of preferred stock dividends and depreciation reserves amounted to $28,906,526, compared with $43,706,745 in 1933.

Net working assets for 1934 showed an increase of approximately $11,500,000. The corporation spent $7,450,000 for additions, improvements and mine development during the year. After provisions for preferred dividends the total deduction from surplus for the December quarter was $12,035,818, compared with $11,628,172 for the September quarter and with $9,746,850 for the last quarter of 1933.

Shipments Rise Slightly.

Shipments of finished steel products in the last quarter amounted to 1,128,711 tons, against 1,118,267 in the third quarter of 1934 and 1,603,894 tons for the last quarter of 1933.

"The reduction in operations which started with the opening of the third quarter, 1934, continued into the last quarter of the year, reaching the low point in October," Myron C. Taylor, chairman, said. "For this month production of finished steel products dropped to 19.1 per cent of rated capacity. In November and December there was a moderate increase, the average for the entire fourth quarter equaling 23 per cent of capacity.

"For the entire year total output was 6,007,000 tons or 31.2 per cent of capacity, compared with 5,536,000 tons or 28.7 per cent of capacity in 1933.

"The improvement in operations in the closing months of the year has continued since Jan. 1, operations for the current week being 44 per cent of capacity."

During the year $7,450,000 was expended for additions and betterments, and mine development, it was reported.

INLAND PAYS 25 CENTS

Directors of the Inland Steel company, large independent Chicago steel organization, yesterday declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on common stock, payable March 1 to stockholders of record Feb. 14. The company paid two 25 cent dividends last year. An increase had been expected in some quarters because of the upturn in the concern's earnings.

Preliminary figures released by the company disclosed that net income for 1934 totaled $3,730,332, compared with $166,693 for 1933. In 1932 the company had a deficit of $3,320,958. The 1934 record was the best since 1930.

Earnings for 1934 equaled $3.10 a share on 1,200,000 shares of capital stock outstanding, compared with 14 cents a share in 1933. Net earnings for the December quarter amounted to $550,073, compared with a net loss of $53,476 in the preceding quarter and net income of $529,373 in the last quarter of 1933.

RATE HIGHER HERE

Although there has been some easing in the rate of new business, Chicago district steel manufacturers report they are continuing to add to their productive capacity because of the pressure for deliveries from automobile makers. For this reason the ingot production rate in the Chicago area this week will be in excess of 60 per cent of theoretical capacity, compared with 30 per cent for the same period last year. This week's rate is slightly above that of last week.

The increase for the week is almost entirely due to the quickening of operations by the Illinois Steel company, subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation. Illinois Steel is reported to have fired four open hearth furnaces at Gary, bringing the total in operation to 31. In addition two are said to have been fired at the company's South Chicago works, making 23 active there.

May Fire Another Furnace.

It is expected another blast furnace will be fired at Gary shortly. Shipments from the Gary works are expected to run between 45,000 and 50,000 tons this week, compared with 45,000 tons last week. The American Sheet and Tin Plate company is reported running its sheet mill at approximately full capacity, with its tin mill operations in excess of 90 per cent of capacity.

The Inland Steel company is reported operating at 65 per cent of capacity, with 19 of its 27 open hearth furnaces active.

In the meantime it was reported number one heavy melting steel scrap in Pittsburgh has been reduced 50 cents a ton, with prices quoted at $13 to $13.50, although no sales have been made on which to base the new price level.

Studebaker's Stockholders to Fight Plan

The common stock holders' protective committee yesterday announced that it will appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals from Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick's decision in Fort Wayne, Ind., on Monday confirming the reorganization plan of the Studebaker corporation.

The committee raised objections to the plan at hearings extending from last Friday to Monday through Attorney Ernest Schein. It contends the plan discriminates against the common stock holders in favor of underwriting bankers and the creditors.

"If the underwriting bankers subscribe all of the $6,000,000 debentures," Mr. Schein pointed out, "they will receive about 1,200,000 shares of the new corporation of a book value of about $11,000,000. If the stockholders take all of the debentures issued by the new company the bankers will not be called on for any cash investment but will receive over 213,000 shares of a book value of about $2,000,000."

Hurlburt Heads Committee.

William B. Hurlburt, vice president of the Daniels Aircraft corporation, is chairman of the stockholders' committee. Members are Monroe D. Robinson, John A. Reynolds, and James E. Watson Jr., son of the former United States senator from Indiana.

The committee states that it represents more than 50,000 common shares—slightly more than 2 per cent of the 2,464,287 shares outstanding. Proponents of the plan contend that the group did not oppose the setup actively by offering any evidence at the hearings in support of their charges that the arrangement is not equitable.

Objecting stockholders now charge that the conditions of Section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act, under which the plan was confirmed, were not satisfied. The law requires consent of 51 per cent of each class of stock affected, or the corporation must be proved insolvent.

Charges Minority Consent.

Mr. Schein declared that "only a small number of preferred and common stock holders filed their consents" and that the assets of Studebaker as a going concern "have a value far in excess of its debt."

Backers of the reorganization state that 75 per cent of the debt supported the plan, in addition to 23 per cent of preferred and 20 per cent of common stock. They pointed out that a committee representing 20 per cent of the preferred stock withdrew its objections after hearing evidence.

Provisions of the reorganization give preferred stock holders 125 shares of new common for 100 shares of present holdings, with the option to buy $1,500 in debentures plus 222 2-9 shares of new common for $1,500 cash. The only way common stock holders may acquire interest in the new company is through putting up new cash—for each 100 shares they may buy $225 debentures and 33 1-3 shares new common for $225.

OTIS STEEL GETS LOAN TO REMEDY BOND DEFAULTS

Curing of the default of Otis Steel company's bonds by means of a three year $2,475,000 loan from the First National bank was revealed here yesterday by officers of the bank.

March 1, 1934, and Sept. 1, 1934, interest coupons on Otis Steel's first mortgage 6s, due 1941, have been in default. The funds will be applied towards payment of these coupons, and sufficient will be left to take care of March 1, 1935, requirements. This will take the bonds out of default.

The arrangement of the loan follows reports of steadily improving business by the company. During the first nine months of 1934 it earned $681,205 before federal taxes, against a loss of $1,139,830 for the corresponding 1933 period.

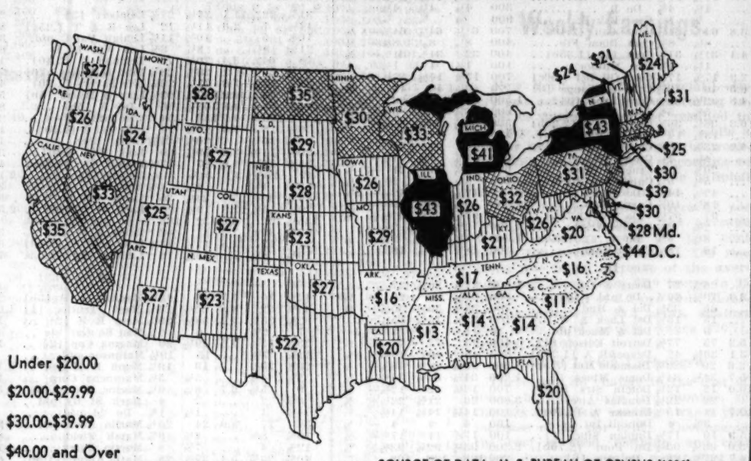

French Senate Approves Plan Raising Debt Limit

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Jar. 29.—By a majority even exceeding that in the chamber, the French senate today voted Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin's proposal "for putting France's house in order." The measure, which raises the limit of short term treasury bonds to 15,000,000,000 francs was adopted by a vote of 243 to 16. Only the Socialists opposed it. Flandin in answering criticisms, said: "Everything we are doing tends toward eliminating the deficit. The government is not undertaking anything which in any way endangers the stability of our money."

Foreign Trade Dips After Rise for 19 Months

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—For the first time in nineteen months the foreign trade of the United States in December showed a decrease as compared with corresponding month of the previous year. The volume of exports was also below November, while in December, 1933, an increase was recorded over the preceding month. The favorable balance of exports over imports in December, 1934, amounted to $38,000,000.

The detailed figures show that foreigners cut down chiefly on their purchases of leaf tobacco, raw tobacco, coal and crude petroleum. The United States in turn cut down principally on her importations of raw silk and tin. Many of import articles also were reported in smaller volume.

Favorable Balance 478 Millions.

Including the favorable balance for December the excess of American sales over purchases for 1934 was $478,365,000. Exports last year totaled $2,133,414,000, a material expansion over $1,674,994,000 reported in 1933. Total 1933 imports were $1,655,949,000, as compared with $1,449,559,000 in the preceding twelve months.

Officials of the department of commerce said that price increases accounted for increased value of general imports last year.

The department's figures showed December total of $170,673,000, against $194,909,000 in November and $192,6[illegible]0,000 in December, 1933. December imports totaled $132,252,000, compared with $150,919,000 in the preceding month and $133,518,000 in the final month of 1933.

Gain in Gold Over Billion.

The country's gold supply was augmented by importations of $1,186,671,000 worth of the metal in 1934, the department said. The following table summarizes results in December and the full 12 months of the year, with year ago comparisons:

SUE TO RECOVER COLLATERAL OF INSULL UTILITY

A new set of cross bills in the action to recover approximately $30,000,000, at predepression quotations of securities of Insull Utility Investments Inc., were filed yesterday in the federal District court in behalf of Harry A. Bigelow, trustee in bankruptcy of the Insull concern.

Similar suits have been on file for nearly two years, the plaintifs being a number of debenture holders, but yesterday's were on behalf of the trustee, for all creditors of the company. The bills name as defendants the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Central Republic Bank and Trust company, Harris Trust and Savings bank, Northern Trust company, First National bank, and the Central Hanover bank of New York.

The main allegation is that the company pledged the securities wrongfully as collateral for approximately $30,000,000 in bank loans.

SENATE GROUP APPROVES NEW 9 BILLION ISSUE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Authorization to issue $9,000,000,000 of additional bonds by the treasury, including baby bonds for the man on the street, was given approval today by the senate finance committee. The measure previously had passed the house.

Initial issues will be offered within a month after passage of necessary legislation by congress, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said today. It is known the treasury is anxious to have the new securities available by March 15, the date of its next financing, when maturities will exceed 500 million dollars.

North American Aviation, Inc., of New York reported it sold its holdings of 148,788 shares in Western Air Express on Dec. 28, valued at $483,561 and purchased 31,400 shares of common in Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., Dec. 7. The purchase boosts its total holdings in Transcontinental to 171,500, of which 76,500 are owned by the Condor company, a wholly owned North American subsidiary.

A. A. Buschow, president of the Bridgeport Machine company of Wichita, Kas., reported holding 63,415 shares of common and 970 of preferred in the company. Theodore Friedlander of Milwaukee, vice president of the Phoenix Hosiery company, reported holding 7,166 shares of common, 450 preferred, and 166 second preferred in the company.

NORTHERN PACIFIC OPERATING NET HIGHER FOR 1934

A sharp upturn in net operating income during 1934 was reported yesterday by the Northern Pacific railroad, but a decline was shown for the final month of the year, compared with December, 1933. The total for 1934 was $7,915,209, against $5,975,973. In December net operating income totaled $944,610, against $998,823 a year ago.

A similar showing was made by the Gulf Coast lines, which had net operating income of $900,075, against $345,477 for the year, but only $63,633, against $133,103 for December. Other reports for the year and comparisons with 1933 included: Union Pacific, $18,444,384, against $18,747,128; Missouri Pacific, $6,118,045, against $6,923,547; Colorado and Southern, $1,383,974, against $1,823,106.

Net operating incomes for December, with comparisons, follow: Union Pacific, $1,474,943, against $1,809,864; Missouri Pacific, $39,392, against $153,027; Colorado and Southern, $22,013, against $184,567, and Pittsburgh and West Virginia, $52,974, against $48,429.

PRICE OF RETAIL FOODS RECORDS SHARP INCREASE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—(AP)—A sharp increase in retail food prices during the two weeks ended Jan. 15, was reported today by the labor department.

Prices during that period reached their highest point since Oct. 15, 1931, the department said. Food which cost $1.15 during the last two weeks of December, cost $1.18 during the first two weeks of the new year, $1.05 a year ago, and 94 cents two years ago.

Peoria, Ill., reported an 8.7 per cent increase, the largest in any of the 51 cities covered by the survey, and Houston, Tex., the smallest, one tenth of 1 per cent.

Chicago Stock Land Bank Will Pay 10% on Its Debt

Payment of a 10 per cent liquidating dividend on indebtedness of the Chicago Joint Stock Land bank, represented by farm loan obligations and unmatured interest to Sept. 30, 1932, will be made about Feb. 23, John B. Gallagher, receiver, announced yesterday. A 30 per cent restitution was made Sept. 29, last.

Stockholders Lose Rights in Utility Plan

Obligations, including bonds and secured and unsecured claims totaling $12,703,486, are scaled down to $2,078,259 in bonds and $276,827 in one bank claim under a reorganization plan submitted yesterday for the Western Power and Light company to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act.

At the same time holders of $5,806,900 of preferred stock are asked to take one share of common in a reorganized company for each share of old preferred, while holders of 90,000 participating class A shares and 200,000 common shares would get nothing.

Company "Hopelessly Insolvent."

Questioning of Arthur L. Mullergren, trustee of the company, by Edward R. Johnston, attorney, developed that assets of Western Power now have a "sound value" of approximately $7,800,000, while fixed charge requirements are currently $600,000 annually, a condition which, it was stated, makes the company "hopelessly insolvent."

Mullergren testified that the reproduction value of the properties is $12,500,000 and the value with consideration given to customary depreciation about $10,000,000. He explained that in arriving at "sound value" consideration was given to the fact that some of the properties in certain communities are considerably overbuilt based on population served and consequently cannot produce earning commensurate with the original cost.

Termed Wild Financing.

Judge Wilkerson likened the financial condition of the company to some of the former Insull operations and asked how any one could have been induced to buy stock in it. Attorney Johnston, who represents the trustee, said it was just another example of the wild financing of the 1928 period.

Under the proposed plan bondholders would be given a new bond with a face value of $250, 10 shares of $25 preferred stock, and 100 shares of new no par common for each $1,000 bond held. Holders of $2,999,000 of 2 year 6 per cent gold notes and other unsecured creditors would get 85 shares of new common for each $1,000 note or unsecured claim.

A $315,000 claim of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, plus contingent liabilities amounting to $559,412, would be adjusted downward to $276,827 and secured by a three year note. However, the bank retains certain collateral for the obligations which it may dispose of during the three year period. If the note is not cleared up by then the bank will receive the same treatment now offered bondholders. The hearing will be continued this morning.

FEDERAL PUBLIC SERVICE PLAN IS PUT INTO EFFECT

Reorganization of the Federal Public Service corporation, under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy law, calling for an exchange of securities of the old corporation for securities of the reorganized concern, known as American Utilities Service corporation, was announced yesterday. Assets of the old concern have been transferred to the new.

Holders of each $1,000 first lien gold bond will receive $500 principal amount of collateral trust bonds, 10 shares of preferred stock and 42 shares of common. Holders of the two and three year 6 per cent convertible gold notes will receive for each $1,000 principal 80 shares of common stocks. Preferred stockholders are entitled to receive three shares of new common for each old preferred share.

The plan makes no provision for old common stock, all of which is said to be owned by the Union Power corporation.

Board of Trade Delays Cutting Costs of Publicity

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade have delayed final action on plans for curtailing expenditures for publicity purposes, it was reported yesterday following a meeting of the board. The exchange now has a contract with a publicity firm which calls for an annual expenditure of $33,000. The contract expires Feb. 1, but it is understood that the present arrangement will be continued on a temporary basis pending final action of directors. The proposal for cutting publicity expenditures is one of several economy measures which are being studied.

FIND 8 BILLION IN REAL ESTATE BOND DEFAULTS

Senate Group Hints at Huge Frauds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A special committee investigating real estate bondholders' reorganizations reported to the house today that of 10 billion dollars' worth of real estate bonds outstanding in the country 8 billions are in default. The committee hinted at huge frauds but did not "name names" or bring in specific evidence.

REP. A. J. SABATH. [U. & U. Photo.]

Headed by Representative A. J. Sabath [Dem., Ill.], the committee reported that hearings in large cities, including Chicago and New York, had disclosed four million persons directly hit by the bond defaults and that twenty million more were indirectly affected.

The group was named by the last congress to conduct the inquiry and report back remedial legislation. But the members stated more investigation was required and expressed the hope that sufficient funds would be authorized.

Finds "Chain Committees."

The report set forth that "chain committees" had controled from a few individual properties or bond issues up to as many as 400, with defaulted bonds in par amount totaling from a few million dollars to 200 million.

Two "chain committees" operating from Chicago, according to the committee report, were handling or had reorganized defaulted bond issues on 402 properties located in 18 states. In addition, it was said, six Chicago bondholders' protective committees had on deposit in the aggregate 450 million dollars, par value, in bonds.

"Examination of the minutes of bondholders' protective committee meetings discloses the control of defaulted real estate bonds by a very small group of attorneys and bankers," the report stated.

The committee said a drastic curtailment of the expense of the reorganizations would result in the early return to the investor of a portion of his investment, besides putting money into circulation, taking persons off the relief rolls and providing employment in the building trades.

Quiz Centered in Chicago.

The committee devoted most of its reports to the Chicago situation, which is characterized as being typical of the situation through the nation.

"In Chicago," it said, "absolute disregard of the rights of bondholders in many instances is of such flagrant and multiple nature as to necessitate special emphasis in the subsequent pages of this report.

"Rules were adopted lately by the various courts of Chicago which were intended to expedite these matters materially, as well as give cognizance to equitable plans for reorganization.

"The investigation thus far indicates that only six of many Chicago bondholders' protective committees have on deposit, in the aggregate par value, the staggering amount of approximately 450 million dollars of bonds.

Foresees Vast Fees.

"When it is realized that the apparent average costs of reorganization, including committees, attorneys, depositaries, trustees and receivers' fees and expenses, may approximate 9 per cent of the par amount of such deposited bonds, upward of $40,000,000 would accrue to the small group dominating these six committees. The additional management fees, insurance commissions and subsequent trustees' fees, accruing to the same group, will likewise amount to a tremendous sum.

"It must be remembered in this connection that the fees, charges and costs are also inflicted on the bondholders by upward of 2,000 of the so-called 'smaller committees,' the vast majority of which are following the same vicious practices.

"With the major portion of the estimated $8,000,000,000 of defaulted real estate bonds in the hands of a few of these 'chain committees,' the terrific loss to the innocent bondholders is obvious."

Raps Lawyers and Bankers.

"It appears in the case of one of the largest institutions in Chicago that two or three law firms, and certain of the banking fraternity, completely control and dominate the defaulted real estate bond situation. An estimate would indicate some 1,500 or more separate properties having real estate securities in the amount of several hundred millions of dollars are involved.

"In the case of another Chicago

New Reserve Edifice Costly to Midwest

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The middle west is making a contribution of nearly $100,000 toward the erection of the newest unit in Washington's "mausoleum row," it was learned yesterday. The federal reserve board, acting under authority granted in recent legislation, has levied assessments on the twelve federal reserve banks to pay for the new building which it is about to erect in Washington. Assessments are based upon the amount of capital and surplus of each bank.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago's assessment of nearly $100,000, it is understood, is only an initial instalment. This amount is expected to be charged off by the bank during 1935.

* *

Requiring the reserve banks to buy a new building for the politically appointed reserve board in Washington is only one financial blow suffered by them during the present administration. More than a year ago each bank was required to donate half its surplus to the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

The reserve banks are privately owned, the stock being held by the member banks. Indirectly, therefore, the cost of the reserve board's new home in Washington is being paid for by bank stockholders throughout the nation.

Little Armour Stock Is Needed for Control.

How the destinies of one of America's biggest industrial corporations were reshaped by an individual with a comparatively negligible stake in the ownership of that company is the tale told by figures released Monday by the securities and exchange commission on stockholdings in Armour & Co. of Illinois.

Frederick H. Prince, Boston capitalist and owner of the Chicago stockyards, burst into the Armour picture last year when the company's late president, T. George Lee, was trying to effect a recapitalization of the packing company. The Lee plan, lacking Prince's support, failed to win sufficient support from the stockholders and was later revamped along the lines suggested by Prince. Then it carried.

* *

At the same time Prince had himself elected chairman of the board of the company and directors sanctioned by him were elected. Towards the end of the year R. H. Cabell, Prince's nominee, was elected general manager of the company, more recently being elevated to the presidency and a place on the board of directors.

According to the securities and exchange commission figures Prince owned at the close of 1934 slightly more than three per cent of the outstanding prior preferred stock and about one per cent of the outstanding common.

Recovery Plans Depend on Private Capital.

The government's recovery efforts would become a "futile exhibition and feeble panacea for our economic ailments" unless private capital ultimately volunteers for the rescue, says C. F. Childs, leading dealer in government bonds, in a bulletin published yesterday.

"If the stimulus of governmental expenditures and currency depreciation should wear out before genuine recovery sets in," says Mr. Childs, "the relapse would be grave, since world trade now shows struggling signs of reviving. Unless some political lunacy is let loose, and in spite of the follies of politicians who ignore the unwritten laws of nature, trade recovery could gather impetus in 1935.

* *

"However, if the orgy of spending public money continues, and if the free play of economic forces is kept artificially restrained, and trade fails to materialize, how can America escape inflation with the bank note press?

"We confess being out of tune with the orchestra of prophets blowing upon the trumpets of optimism."

Mr. Childs cites the estimate of the national industrial conference board that total tax collections for 1934 consumed one-fifth of the national income. He points out that taxes will be still higher when the time comes to balance the budget.

"The bill of expenses," he says, "awaits the patient's recovery."

Advertising Federation to Convene Here in June

The Advertising Federation of America will hold its annual convention in Chicago during June, William J. Hennessy, convention manager of the Chicago Association of Commerce, announced yesterday. The exact date has not been decided. The convention will bring to the city between 4,000 and 5,000 advertising men from all parts of the country. It will be the first time the federation has met in Chicago in seven years.

ROOSEVELT AIDS HINT IGNORING DECREE ON GOLD

Map Action if Court Rules Adversely.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The administration tonight prepared a course of action designed to prevent chaotic results from following an adverse Supreme court gold clause decision.

Although still confident the tribunal will hold in the government's favor, Secretary Mongenthau and Attorney General Cummings drew up a series of suggestions for President Roosevelt's consideration to be used in the event abrogation of the gold payment clause is declared unconstitutional. All indications were that the administration would do everything possible to preclude a collapse of the New Deal monetary system and minimize the deflationary forces which would be set in motion by an adverse ruling.

President to Decide Course.

The two cabinet officers, it was indicated, included in their recommendations to the President a number of possible avenues of action, leaving it for him to make his choice.

Among the proposed remedies has been the suggestion that the treasury, with no intention of defying the court, might simply ignore an order that government bonds be redeemed in gold or its equivalent in the present devaluated currency. This is supported by a view that until congress again changes the gold content of the dollar, the treasury cannot do otherwise. The theory is that it knows but one dollar—the figure fixed since by congress.

Fear for Financial Stability.

Federal attorneys have told the court that the very financial stability of the government was at stake and that, if the court holds against them, 100 billion dollars in public and private bonds would automatically have a value of 169 billions.

The court is expected to announce next Monday whether congress had constitutional authority for invalidating the familiar contractural clause guaranteeing payment in gold or its equivalent. That action by congress lay at the core of the Roosevelt reformation of the monetary system and his been called its "enforcing clause."

MARKET RIGGING BRINGS DECLINE IN U. S. DOLLAR

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Continued operations of the United States stabilization fund abroad caused further declines in the dollar against leading foreign currencies today. French francs rose sharply to close at 6.55⅝ cents, 3⅝ points above yesterday's close. At this price the dollar was worth $1.0118 against francs, compared with $1.0174 yesterday. The gold value of the dollar against franes was 59.76 cents, compared with 60.09 cents yesterday and par of 59.06 cents.

Guilders topped other gold bloc currencies in gains for the day, soaring 32 points to 67.22 cents, while belgas rose 11 points to 23.18 cents and Swiss francs 17 points to 32.17. All, however, continue well below the gold import points.

The pound gained 1⅜ cents to close at $4.87⅝, again crossing the old par of $4.86⅝. The Italian lire was 5 points higher at 8.48½ cents, while the German mark was up 15 points at 39.90 cents. Scandinavian currencies were 4 to 7 points higher and Canadian dollars were 6¼ points better at 99.96⅞ cents.

Bullion brokers in London lifted the price of gold 2½ pence to 141 shillings 8½ pence a fine ounce, equivalent to $34.43, based on the opening of sterling at 4.85⅞.

The federal reserve bank reported receipt of $14,978,700 in gold today, $8,294,400 from Holland, $4,443,100 from France, $1,677,000 from Canada, and $564,200 from England. The Aquitania arrived this afternoon with 256 boxes of gold bars and gold coin. All or part of this shipment will be reported tomorrow. No further engagements of gold were reported abroad today for shipment to New York.

STOCK TRADERS BLUE AS PRICES DROP FURTHER

Gold Clause Decision Fear Causes Uneasiness.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—Speculative sentiment turned a shade bluer in Wall street today. There was nothing particularly bearish in the news, but traders could not seem to get their minds off the gold clause problem and the unpleasant possibilities of a decision adverse to the government.

Dispatches from the nation's capital continued to bring "assurances" for the anxious ones, but in view of some other inspired bits of encouragement that have gone haywire in the last year or two the latest advices did not click so clearly. Most commentators believe the administration is preparing to "do something" of a remedial nature if the Supreme court rules against it in the pending litigation. But traders are not at all sure that the remedy will be prompt or far reaching enough to prevent a break in stock prices.

Senior Issues Hardest Hit.

Sales dribbled into the list pretty well throughout the session and the closing gong found prices from a fraction to a point or so lower in all departments. Preferred stocks suffered the worst inroads, some of the more active issues being snagged for as much as 4 to 6 points.

Common shares of a few store stocks were conspicuously weak. Kress yielded 3½ points on one sale and McCrory issues dropped 1 to 4 points, the heaviest loser being the preferred. Devoe & Raynolds class A shares fell more than 6 points on a few sales on the company's report of lower earnings.

Action of the carrier group continued to create uneasiness. New lows were established by a number of these stocks. Union Pacific and Atchison sold down a point or so each.

U. S. Steel Quiet.

United States Steel was flat on the eve of its quarterly report and other standard industrials idled fractionally below their previous closing levels.

An active issue in early dealings was the low priced Studebaker selling around $2 a share. The price never got more than an eighth of a point from its base and finished unchanged from yesterday. Other motors were quiet and slightly lower, reflecting uncertainties in the labor situation affecting that industry.

Western Union was a weak sister in the communications sector, dropping about 2 points before finding support. International Telephone was offered freely but declined only fractionally. Disquieting reports of an increase in production in the Texas oil fields cost the petroleum shares a point or two.

LARD PRICES ARE STRONGER AS PACKERS BUY FUTURES

Buying of lard credited to packers largely offset scattered liquidation yesterday by longs, based on the easiness in grain and hogs, and futures finished 5 points higher to 2½ points lower with January showing the most strength. M. L. ROTHSCHILD BUYS SHOW PLACE ON NORTH SHORE

BY AL CHASE.

Maurice L. Rothschild, president of Maurice L. Rothschild, Inc., yesterday purchased one of the show places on the north shore—the eighteen acre Highland Park estate of the late A. G. Becker, La Salle street banker—for an undisclosed consideration. It was conveyed by Mrs. Kate F. Becker, the widow, who went to Arizona last Saturday to spend the winter.

Take Possession in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Rothschild, who are now living at the Drake hotel, will move to their new home next June, which they will occupy four or five months of summer and early fall each year. The property is at 2031 South Sheridan road.

A. G. Becker built the house in 1922 from plans by the late Howard Van Doren Shaw. The residence is of brick fireproof construction in old English design. In addition there is a four car garage, with a six room apartment above, and a gardener's cottage.

Grounds Show Place.

The grounds, laid out by Landscape Architect Jens Jensen, are famous along the north shore, having taken prizes for three consecutive years for their beauty. There are three ravines and a lake frontage of 1,000 feet, as well as considerable frontage on South Sheridan road.

Mr. Becker died in 1925. His widow has been occupying the residence until recently. W. C. D. Trankle was the only broker in the transaction.

CODE PROBLEMS OF GRAVEL TRADE DISCUSSED HERE

Problems facing the code authority for the crushed stone, sand, gravel, and slag industries were explained yesterday by Otho M. Graves, recently reëlected general code authority, at the second day session of the joint annual meetings of the National Crushed Stone, National Sand and Gravel, and National Slag associations at the Palmer house.

Graves said the code has worked out as well as that of any other industry. In the case of the three lines represented at the meetings here, he asserted, operation of the code has resulted in reasonable stabilization in the industry and has increased the number of employés 25 per cent and pay rolls 27 per cent. He said this was especially noteworthy since the industry is among those included in the durable goods line and one of the industries hardest hit by the depression.

Graves also explained that this is one industry in whose code price fixing is not a problem. He asserted that all dealers can set any price they want, the code only providing that when they determine on a change the new prices must be posted. Then there is a delay of five days before the new rates are put into effect.

North Shore Line Offers New Ten Ride Tickets

The Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee railroad announced yesterday that effective tomorrow ten ride tickets will be available between Chicago, Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha. On a ten ride ticket the cost of one trip between Chicago and Milwaukee will be $1.53, compared with the present regular $1.70 rate.

BUTTER HITS NEW HIGH, EGGS ADVANCE SLIGHTLY

A wave of short covering and new buying developed in butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday which swept prices up ¾ to 1⅝ cents per pound, equal to $144 to $264 per car. The January delivery soared to 33⅝ cents, a new high for any delivery since November 6, 1930. Closing prices were at the top. Stocks of butter at 35 leading markets have been reduced to around 14,000,000 pounds, or well below normal for this season of the year.

Eggs closed unchanged to ½ cents per dozen higher. Shorts covered in the January delivery but profit taking checked the advance and caused a recession from the best figures. Trading in January contracts of butter and eggs will cease today, and a good part of yesterday's trade was regarded as evening up by belated shorts. Sales were 138 cars of butter and 57 cars of eggs. Deliveries totaled 2 cars of butter and 14 cars of eggs. Prices follow:

MORE EMPLOYED IN INDUSTRY AS ACTIVITY GROWS

Longer Work Week Lifts Weekly Earnings.

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Increased activity in manufacturing industries during December resulted in placing more people at work, while a longer work week increased the weekly earnings of employés, according to a report just released by the national industrial conference board.

While hourly earnings were 0.2 per cent below November, the average weekly earnings were 3.2 per cent above the preceding month, the rise being due to an increase of the average work week from 33.9 hours to 35 hours, or a gain of 3.2 per cent. Hourly earnings were 59.3 cents, against 59.4 cents, and weekly wages $20.71, against $20.07.

Cost of Living Unchanged.

There was no change in the cost of living between these two months, so the rise in weekly earnings was a real increase of 3.2 per cent. Declines in the cost of food, clothing, and coal prices during December were offset by increased rents and higher costs for sundries. The cost of living in the final month of the year was 4.5 per cent above 1933 but 19.3 per cent lower than in December, 1929.

The number of workers employed in December was 2.7 per cent greater than in November, while the total number of hours worked was 5.9 per cent larger and pay rolls 5.9 per cent better. The largest nominal gain in total man hours worked was in the silk industry, due principally to the settlement of the dyers' strike, being up 44.3 per cent.

Auto Plants Employ More.

Speeded operations in the automobile industry as work on the new 1935 models got under way caused a sharp gain of 24.6 per cent in hours worked, as compared with November. The wool industry showed an expansion of 22.7 per cent in man hours worked as attention was turned toward styles for spring and summer, and with many trade shows in the offing.

Comparisons of December with a year ago showed increases of 3.1 per cent in employment, 3.6 per cent in average hours worked per week, 6.7 per cent in total man hours, 7.8 per cent in hourly earnings, 11.5 per cent in average weekly earnings, 15 per cent in pay roll disbursements, and 6.6 per cent in real weekly earnings, that is, after making allowances for changes in the cost of living.

THREE NATIONAL BANKS ANNOUNCE DEPOSIT REFUNDS

The Inland Irving National bank here is paying another $362,500 now to raise its total to $1,812,911, or 50 per cent. R. C. Sullivan, receiver, said that 22,000 depositors are sharing the distribution. The payment was forecast last week in THE TRIBUNE analysis of Dec. 31 reports on the closed national banks, the balance of a previous loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation being liquidated to pave the way for a new loan.

David H. Jennings, receiver for the First National bank of Gary, Ind., announced that another 10 per cent will be paid within 10 days to raise the total to 51½ per cent. Checks are in Washington for signatures now. The National Bank of America, for which he also is receiver, is to return 15 per cent more in about three weeks, Mr. Jennings added. The institution already has repaid 45 2-3 per cent. Both Gary banks closed in January, 1932.

Closed Banks' Progress Slow; Two of 19 Make Payments

Two of the 19 banks for which reports were issued yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett made payments to depositors in the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1934. Progress was slow, however, in most of the others.

Four banks have returned nothing to depositors yet, but five have repaid 30 per cent or more. Still another, the Division State bank, is about to be lifted from receivership and reopened with all deposits freed through the assistance of a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Approval of the loan is expected within 10 days, and hope is held out that the bank may resume business in a month or six weeks at most.

The Garfield State bank repaid $410,000, or 10 per cent of deposits, during the final quarter of 1934 to raise its return to 40 per cent. The RFC supplied $387,000. The other repayment, by the First State of Chicago Heights, amounted to $39,000 and lifted repayments from 10 to 15 per cent.

Condition of Banks Analyzed.

CRAWFORD STATE SAVINGS—Receipts, $701,700—$339,000 to wipe out preferred claim and $191,600 to pay 20 per cent of deposits. Protection of assets cost $74,000 with return of $38,000. Heaviest expense, $32,000 to attorneys and $39,000 clerical. Losses of $156,000. Further payments indicated on $795,500 due depositors, but prospects are not bright because remaining book value assests of only $878,500 are mostly in real estate and slow.

DEPOSITORS STATE—Receipts, $1,709,000—$61,000 last quarter, but only $4,400 paid to cut RFC loan to $228,200. Paid $877,000 prior claims and $271,500, or 12⅛ per cent, to depositors. Outlay of $341,000 to protect assets, with $232,000 returned. Expenses, $78,000 clerical, $57,000 to attorneys. Losses of $443,000. Most discouraging is fact that RFC would lend no more. Assets have book value of $2,458,000, but are slow and heavy in real estate. Until RFC loan is paid or additional one made, payment of $1,918,000 to depositors must wait, but may eventually be double amount already returned.

Des Plaines State Bank.

DES PLAINES STATE—Receipts $619,600—$142,800 to prior claims and $299,100 for 30 per cent on deposits. Advanced $68,600 to protect assets, with $31,800 return. Clerical expense, $32,500. Attorneys $35,000—$5,000 last quarter. Increased cash $27,000 last quarter. Future prospects considered good, with $1,065,000 book value assets remaining, against $716,000 liabilities. At least another 15 per cent expected from pending RFC loan application with ultimate payout that much more.

DEVON TRUST AND SAVINGS—Receipts, $401,750, with losses of $278,600. Paid $335,000 prior claims and still owes $102,000, which must be squeezed out of $579,000 (book value) slow remaining assets before any of $496,000 due depositors can be paid. Depositors can expect little. Costs of $66,000 include $11,000 to attorneys, $23,000 clerical, and $23,000 to protect assets, with full return on latter.

DIVERSEY TRUST AND SAVINGS—Receipts, $588,000—$205,000 to pay prior claims and $270,000 for 45 per cent on deposits. Light losses of $31,000. Further payments hinge on repayment of $133,000 to RFC, but prospects considered good for substantial payment on $356,000 still due depositors out of $727,000 book value remaining assets. Highest costs: $17,000 to attorneys, $30,000 clerical, and $30,000 to protect assets.

Division State Bank.

DIVISION STATE—Receipts, $562,500—$360,000 going to prior claim and loan repayment. Depositors have $59,000 for 15 per cent; to have remainder freed with reopening of bank through new RFC loan. Lost $152,500 in liquidation. Remaining assets, $965,000, against liabilities of $418,700 and $60,000 remaining on old loan. Cost $26,000 for attorneys, $45,700 clerical, and $56,000 to protect assets, with $41,000 return.

ELMWOOD PARK STATE—Receipts, $393,000—$215,000 to prior claims and $55,150 for 10 per cent to depositors. Heavy losses of $202,600. Carries $518,000 assets on books, most in slow real estate, against $512,500 due depositors and $8,200 unpaid on loan which must be erased first. Further payments indicated, but ultimate payout only fair.

ELSTON STATE—Receipts, $188,000, of which $47,000 to prior claims. A Bain bank, final liquidation depending on struggle with dubious real estate. Something expected for depositors, however. Has $52,000 cash reserved against settlement of $75,000 disputed claims for preference among $541,000 remaining liabilities. Assets have book value (bloated) of $719,500. Losses of $24,000 only 12 per cent to date.

EMPIRE TRUST AND SAVINGS—Receipts $90,000, with $58,000 to clear up all but $10,000 prior claims. Largest expense $17,750 clerical with $6,500 to attorneys. Losses $6,100. No payments to depositors yet, but a good final payout is indicated if large amounts of real estate can be liquidated without too heavy loss. Book value assets at $317,500, against only $125,000 liabilities.

EQUITABLE TRUST CO. OF CHICAGO—Receipts $205,000—$166,000 to wipe out preferred claims and $47,000 for 10 per cent to depositors. Loss of $55,000, or 15 per cent. Remaining book value assets $728,000, against $386,500 due depositors. Cash on hand $15,000. Fair to good final return indicated, depending greatly on large amount of loans and discounts in portfolio. Cost $11,000 for attorneys, $33,500 clerical, and $13,000 to protect assets, half returned.

EXCHANGE STATE—Receipts $370,500—$72,000 to prior claims and $159,100, or 35 per cent, for depositors. Losses $82,700. Assets with book value of $477,000 are slow, but substantial payments indicated on $366,000 remaining liabilities. Heavy legal costs of $39,000 plus $30,000 clerical and $32,000 to protect assets [$25,000 returned].

First Englewood State.

FIRST ENGLEWOOD STATE — Receipts $769,000—$369,000 to pay all preferred claims and $230,000 for 40 per cent to depositors. Cut $13,000 off RFC loan last quarter for $165,700 balance. Also raised cash in reserve $20,000 to $48,000 out of quarter's $40,000 receipts. Clerical costs $31,500 and $21,000 to attorneys. Return of $29,000 on $45,000 to protect assets. Remaining assets $840,500 expected to yield substantial payment on $371,500 still due depositors, despite RFC loan to be repaid first. High final return indicated.

FIRST ITALIAN STATE—Receipts $637,000—$378,000 to wipe out claims and $127,300 for 15 per cent to depositors. Losses $92,000. Remaining assets $918,000, against $736,000 due depositors. Fairly good payout anticipated despite this low margin. Applied for RFC loan to pay at least another 5 per cent soon, if granted. Free cash $10,000 with $14,000 reserved. Clerical costs $38,000 and $29,500 to attorneys. Returned half of $31,000 advanced to protect assets.

FIRST STATE OF BARRINGTON — Receipts $202,000 [$17,000 last quarter]. Used $128,000 to pay preferred claims. Spent $33,000 to protect assets, with half returned. Clerical cost $15,000 and attorneys $5,700. Raised cash from $3,000 to $14,000 last quarter, $8,700 being free. Excellent loss record—only $2,345. No payments to depositors yet, but ultimate prospects appear fairly good. RFC loan of $115,000 asked on $452,000 book value of remaining assets. If not trimmed too much, would yield 30 per cent. Further returns would depend on repayment of loan and on recovery from real estate holdings.

First State, Chicago Heights.

FIRST STATE OF CHICAGO HEIGHTS—Receipts, $525,000—$270,000 to eliminate prior claims and $117,200 for 15 per cent on deposits ($39,000, or 5 per cent, last quarter). Used $76,000 ($5,700 last quarter) to protect assets, with $47,000 return. Clerical costs, $32,000, and attorneys, $16,500. Losses of $173,000 rather heavy. Cash cut $24,000 to almost nothing by payments despite $23,000 receipts last quarter. Further payments expected on $657,700 still due creditors, but only fair final return from assets carried at $776,000 on books.

FIRST STATE OF STEGER—Receipts, $43,000—$17,000 to wipe out prior claims and $5,150 to pay depositors 5 per cent. Except for $4,000 cash (near another 5 per cent) the rest was taken by expenses, clerical alone being $8,600. Because of high expenses in the little bank and large amount of $133,700 assets in "dead" real estate, ultimate outlook is not promising. Also losses of $21,500—a third in liquidation—have been heavy. Recent receipts negligible.

FOREST PARK TRUST AND SAVINGS—Receipts, $595,000—$262,000 to preferred claims and $110,800, or 10 per cent, on deposits. Losses of $245,000 heavy on early sales. Cash of $96,700 held for $25,000 dividends not taken and $170,000 in disputed claims for preference. Has only $1,548,000 remaining assets, largely in real estate and real estate loans, against $1,233,000 liabilities. Difficult to see more than fair final payout in view of involved situation. Highest costs $63,000 to protect assets, $38,000 clerical, and $15,750 to attorneys.

Fullerton State Bank.

FULLERTON STATE—Receipts, $690,000 ($23,000 last quarter raising cash from $13,000 to $29,000). Paid preferred claims with $212,500 and 20 per cent on deposits with $276,200. Losses, $173,000. Expenses heavy—$67,200 to Attorneys Foreman, Bluford, Krinsley & Schultz, $37,000 clerical, and $59,000 to protect assets ($27,000 returned). Will be further payments to depositors, but final return only fair without good break on real estate, which is a large part of $1,438,500 remaining assets. Liabilities, $1,145,000.

GARFIELD STATE—Receipts, $3,306,000—$484,000 last quarter. Wiped out prior claims with $1,014,000. Paid $1,639,200, or 40 per cent, to depositors—10 per cent of $410,000 last quarter with aid of $387,000 RFC loan. Loan must be repaid first from assets on the books at $4,181,000 before any more can be paid on $2,578,000 liabilities. Prospects good for high final return despite this obstacle. Losses, $249,000, or under 8 per cent. Costs just under 20 per cent—$115,000 to Attorneys Crowe, Gorman & Savage, $145,000 clerical, and $354,000 to protect assets ($196,000 returned).

William L. O'Connell now is receiver for all but the Garfield State bank, where J. E. Sullivan is in charge.

STEADY SELLING SENDS GRAIN PRICES LOWER

Recessions Modest; Oats Hardest Hit.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Grains were the target of further persistent selling yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Quoted prices of all future contracts were clipped moderately as the steady flow of liquidation pressed against the market. Trading was quiet and selling orderly at all times. The conspicuous characteristic of the market was again, as it has been for several days, the absence of speculative initiative on the buying side.

Several developments of the day contributed to the day's trend, but overshadowing all else is the confused monetary outlook, which will not be cleared until a decision is handed down in the gold clause case.

False Report Brings Confusion.

In the atmosphere of tenseness that exists the trade fell victim to an erroneous report from Houston, Tex., that a cargo of Argentine wheat had arrived there. It later developed that the grain received from Argentina was oats and not wheat, but the correction did not come soon enough to prevent unnecessary confusion on the floor of the exchange. Actually this country has not imported milling quality wheat this season with minor exceptions, although it has become a substantial importer of all other principal grains.

Liverpool wheat was jolted early in the day by news that Italy has placed an embargo on wheat imports. The decline in Liverpool in turn was reflected here.

Oats were the principal victim of the liquidation, measured by the size of the losses. Oats futures closed ¾ to 1½ cents a bushel lower as one big liquidating order was thrown on the market. Wheat lost ⅝ cent a bushel and corn finished ⅝ to ¾ cent lower.

Closing Prices Lower.

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$ .95	$ .95⅝	$ .97⅛
Corn	.82½	.83	.86⅛
Oats	.49⅝	.50	.52½
Rye	.66	.67	.67

The embargo placed on wheat imports in Italy will be modified in a few days, it was indicated by advices received here. Importations will probably be permitted by government authorization only.

It is pointed out by grain men that a sudden shift in monetary policy would find the grain market more vulnerable than cotton or securities. A restoration of the old dollar and a consequent slump in Canadian funds might open up American markets to Canadian wheat. Fred Uhlmann, leading exporter, figures that if the Canadian dollar went to its old discount of 20 per cent to the American dollar it would cut the price of Canadian wheat by about 16 cents a bushel. Dollar revaluation upward would similarly stimulate importation of Argentine corn.

HOGS GO LOWER AS FRESH PORK PRICES WEAKEN

Adversely influenced by weakness in fresh pork and the unsettled markets in grain and provisions, the hog market closed lower yesterday after a steady opening. Top sales at $10.15, including the processing tax, equaled the lowest point since Jan. 3 and showed 30 cents decline compared with Monday last week, while the general average for the day moved down to $9.95, the first time it has been under $10 in thirteen days.

Lightweight hogs comprised a larger share of yesterday's arrivals, and these experienced the sharpest setback. Approximately 5,000 of these kinds were carried over.

The bulk of best grades of 250 to 350 pound butchers cashed at $10.05 to $10.15, while the majority of the better grades of 160 to 225 pound hogs brought $9.50 to $10.00, tax included. Many of the 50 to 125 pound pigs brought only $6.25 to $8.25.

Better action featured the trade for good to choice grades of steers yesterday, while plain kinds and cows and hefers ruled weak to unevenly lower again. Prime 1,130 to 1,196 pound steers topped the price list at $13.00. Some of the better grades of steers were strong to a little higher, but more cows and hefers were in the run yesterday and these ruled weak to 25 cents lower. A fair supply was carried over unsold.

The calft trade was hit by a demoralizing break in prices. Closing sales showed losses of $1.50 to $2.00 compared with last Friday. Very few vealers reached $9.00.

Lambs lost mostly 10 to 15 cents, with city butchers and shippers buying at $9.10 and packers downwards from $9.00.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—Domestic bond prices weakened today on the stock exchange. United States government long term loans as well as corporation issues moving lower. Foreign loans moved irregularly higher as foreign exchanges gained sharply against the dollar.

Trading was only moderately active in the listed bond market as a whole. United States government issues declined 1-32d to 8-32ds point, save for three which were unchanged to 1-32d higher. Volume totaled $11,208,000 par value, against $10,919,000 Monday.

Speculative Rails Weak.

Speculative railroad bonds ran into fairly active selling with resultant losses of a point or more for many issues. Industrial and utility bonds showed smaller average declines than did the rails.

A feature of the day was the heavy buying of Studebaker corporation 6s, due 1942, on news that reorganization plans now have court approval. The 6s jumped 3 points and the certificates 4⅛ points. Petroleum issues were generally firm.

Uruguay List Decline.

In the foreign group, reports of political disorders in Uruguay sent the republic's bonds down 1 to 3 points today. Other Latin-American issues as a rule, showed minor fluctuations in prices.

European loans were irregularly higher as the dollar weakened in the foreign exchange market. Virtually all bonds of the Japanese group closed slightly lower. Australian loans were easier.

Southwestern Bell Telephone.

Investors' Guide: I have heard so much about your valuable information on investments I am asking you kindly to tell me about Southwestern Bell Telephone preferred. Thank you. —Mrs. R. C.

Answer: Southwestern Bell Telephone company, a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph company, serves a population of 16,034,000 in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas with telephone service.

For the first 11 months of 1934 operating revenues totaled $64,405,000, against $61,936,000 for the corresponding 1933 period. Increased business activity, bringing in its wake greater use of telephone service, helped boost net income for the first nine months of 1934 to $9,682,000, or $44.44 per preferred share, from the $8,829,000, or $40.53 per preferred share, reported for the corresponding 1933 period.

Per share earnings on the 218,855 shares of 7 per cent $100 par cumulative preferred were $54.68 in 1933, $59.97 in 1932, $72.06 in 1931 and $80.83 in 1930.

General Steel Castings.

Answer: General Steel Castings corporation, one of the principal factors in the manufacture of large railway castings, has during the last four years been the victim of extremely reduced maintenance and capital improvement expenditures by railroads. The company has failed to earn anything before fixed charges for the last four years, although some improvement was evidenced in 1934 as the result of PWA loans.

In the first nine months of 1934 net loss was $1,366,000 after fixed charges of $703,000. In the corresponding 1933 period net loss was $1,978,000 after fixed charges of $707,000. The company reported net losses of $2,806,000 for 1933, $2,520,000 for 1932 and $3,006,000 for 1931. Fixed charges in 1930 were covered 1.53 times.

COTTON OFF 1 TO 6 POINTS DUE TO GENERAL SELLING

Liquidation by domestic and foreign holders of cotton futures yesterday was offset to a considerable extent by trade and commission house buying and by the far east, but prices held below the finish of Monday with net losses of 5 to 6 points in Chicago and 1 to 5 points in other markets. Aggregate trade was not large. Uncertainty regarding the gold clause cases continues to restrict speculative interest. Spot cotton was 5 points lower with New Orleans, 12.50 cents and New York, Galveston, and Houston 12.55 cents per pound. Prices follow:

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Unfinished cottons continued quiet today. Finished goods sold steadily with wide sheetings and printed percales showing distinct improvement. Rayon fabrics were ordered in moderate quantities from mills. Unfinished silks were in lighter demand. Wool goods were firm but quiet save in the matter of spot and nearby sales. Burlaps were unchanged to slightly lower prices with sales light.

Senate Committee Hints at Huge Frauds.

bondholders' committee handling 169 issues aggregating $111,000,000, the maximum fee charged has been 5 per cent of the par amount of the outstanding bonds. This was divided as follows: 20 per cent for committee expenses, 20 per cent to depositories, 32 per cent to counsel, 28 per cent to the committee.

"It appears that the average fee was around 4 per cent. If such average fee was charged on the entire par amount of bonds being handled by this committee, upward of $4,400,000 would accrue to the committee and their associates. To this should be added the fees of their management corporation, usually 5 per cent of the gross rentals collected, and insurance commissions.

Other Cases Are Cited.

"Another prominent Chicago bondholders' protective committee is handling 211 separate bond issues, aggregating approximately $150,000,000. Their program of operation is similar to that of other committees, and again practically the same group of attorneys and bankers control or influence this committee.

"In the case of yet another Chicago bondholders' protective committee it was disclosed that some ninety-four issues were being handled, in an aggregate value of around $15,000,000. The committee's fees and expenses are unlimited, and it likewise owns a management corporation, which in turn receives a fee for the collection of rents.

"A singular example of the exorbitant fees charged, which may be considered the rule rather than the exception, is amplified in the case of another Chicago property having $3,500,000 of first mortgage bonds outstanding. Fees totaling $311,000, or 8.9 per cent of the total bond issue, were charged for reorganization purposes. Of this amount the attorneys received 4 per cent."
